OREGON'S TRAIN SERVICE.

Crusade for Betterment Brings Forth Commendation.

The crusade begun by the Portland Telegram for better train service in Oregon brought them the following communication over the signature of "Tired Traveler:"

The principal means of transportation to and from California are trains 15 and 16. Statistics are not available, but it is generally conceded among railroad men that these are the most heavily patronized through trains in America, probably in the world. Their regular equipment, in addition to mail, dining and observation cars, generally consists of five or six standard sleepers, two or three tourist cars, three of four day coaches and chair cars, and in fruit season four or five baggage and express cars. Rarely does this train come into Portland with less than 15 cars, and frequently with 18 when, of course, it has to be operated in two sections. It makes the 772-mile trip to California in the remarkable time of 27 hours and 43 minutes, or at an average speed of 20.4 miles per hour. Coming up it does a little better, about 22 miles. The leaving and arriving times of these trains are fairly convenient, but their magnificent slowness is what gets on our nerves. Of course, the Siskiyous are hard to railroad through, but up to the present time no Southern Pacific company official has ever given a reason why five cars of Pullman passengers should be compelled to travel 772 miles in 37 hours and 43 minutes, in company with all the local passenger traffic and four or five loads of express and baggage besides.

Trains 13 and 14 are next up for consideration. Coming north, 14 furnishes good service, but is still a trifle slow, averaging 23.3 miles an hour for the trip. In the usual attempts to inconvenience Oregon travelers, the California management puts the local work on the west side of the Sacramento Valley on this train, and where it should be averaging 35 miles an hour over what is one of the straightest pieces of track on the coast, the line from Benicia to Red Bluff, it makes about 20. Through some streak of generosity the lines in Oregon are allowed to operate this train a little faster, so that the evening time down the Valley is quite good. At least an hour ought to be cut off the time of this train, and it should be put into Portland at 10:15 instead of 11:15 p. m.

The Roseburg local is a good train, but dawdles along for 198 miles in 9 hours and 15 minutes, or 21.5 miles an hour. California trains of equal importance average from 27 to 28 miles, and on no better track, for the road to Roseburg, excepting a few places, is all that could be desired.

It takes train No. 2 just 4 hours and 50 minutes to wander down from Corvallis in the afternoon, 97 miles, or about 20 miles an hour. There are only one or two grades, and the service is more than poor.

What we need to San Francisco is a 34-hour train, leaving Portland and San Francisco every night at 10 o'clock and getting in to the opposite end at 8 a. m., instead of at 9:28, as at present, in San Francisco, which means that the morning is gone by the time the traveler gets to his hotel and gets his baggage unpacked. Then we need a limited train on a 27-hour schedule, leaving each end about 5 or 6 o'clock in the evenings, and making the other terminus early the next night, say a seven or eight-car train for Pullman traffic only. Then is there is need for local accommodation, give the people local trains to do the work, instead of loading it onto the overlands. The game is getting played out. It is time the railroads learned that most of the hostile agitation is caused by mistreated passengers, and that if anything like a decent service was rendered in Oregon the voters wouldn't be so anxious to throw the gaff into Uncle Edw. with fancy tax laws and commission bills.

POLITICAL STATISTICS.

Two-Thirds of Oregon "Dry"—Division of Political Parties.

SALEM, Or., Sept. 14.—Twenty-two of the 34 counties in the state have gone dry, and but 12 remain wet, according to the returns collected by Secretary of State Benson from the general election of last June, and just issued in the new official directory, made public last evening. Of the counties included in the wet list, in Baker, Clatsop and Multnomah prohibition was not voted on in the county as a whole, and Crook, Curry, Gilliam, Wallowa voted dry either at the 1906 or 1908 election.

The dry counties are Crook, Curry, Gilliag, Wallowa, Benton, Douglas, Grant, Jackson, Josephine, Klamath, Lane, Linn, Malheur, Morrow, Polk, Sherman, Tillamook, Umatilla, Union, Wheeler and Yamhill. The wet counties are Baker, Clatsop, Multnomah, Clackamas, Columbia, Coos, Harney, Lake Lincoln(by three votes), Marion, Wasco and Washington. No vote was taken on prohibition in the newly created county of Hood River.

Other interesting political data contained in the directory is a tabulated statement of the abstract of votes cast. The total ballot at the 1908 election was 116,614, as against 99,445 in 1906 and 99,315 in 1904. The population of the state, according to the state census of 1905, was 464,538 as compared to the federal census of 1900, which gave a total of 413,536.

The total registration for the June election, 1908, from January 1 to May 15, was 122,095, and this was distributed among the several political parties as follows: Republicans 80,921; democrats 28,788; Prohibition 1889; Socialist 3226; Populists 59; Independents 3656, and there were 3556 who registered and refused to designate political party.

MAINE GOES REPUBLICAN.

Prohibition Issue, However, Greatly Reduces Majority.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 14.—The election of governor, state and county officers and congressmen, today resulted in republican victory, but by a greatly reduced purality as compared with the vote of 1904 for congressmen. Bert M. Fernald, of Portland, is elected governor over Obadiah Gardner, of Rockland, democrat, by a plurality estimated at this hour at about 8000, as compared with 24,843 plurality for republican congressmen in 1904. All four republican candidates for congress appear to be elected.

The strength of Mr. Gardner is due to the prohibition issue, the democratic platform having advocated resubmission of that question to the people, and to his long service as head of the Patrons of Husbandry.

Mack is Elated.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The early returns from the Maine elections were received by the democratic leaders tonight with much gratification. National Chairman Mack said:

"Maine has always been regarded as a hidebound republican state and the returns from there tonight indicate clearly that the sentiment of the people is thoroughly aroused for the cause of democracy. What has happened in Maine clearly forecasts what will be the outcome in other states at the coming election and tonight I am more confident than ever that Mr. Bryan will be elected."

SO IS IT EVERYWHERE.

Medford Tribune: Clarence E. Eddy, the "Prospector Poet," a well known newspaper man of Oregon, but later of Idaho, Utah and Nevada, who has been touring the Rogue River valley in the interests of The Tribune and Southern Oregonian news service, says that he has talked with about 100 farmers and though making no special effort to determine their political sentiment he is surprised to note that the great majority of them voluntarily declare for Mr. Bryan, and only nine out of the whole number were announcedly for Taft, and one was an enthusiastic supporter of the Hearst league. Commenting on this he said, "I have heard that these districts were strongly republican, but if they do not cast a heavy majority for Bryan this year, it could only be because there is not a fair count of the ballots."

TAFT IS 51 YEARS OLD.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 15.—William Howard Taft, more popularly known in his home city at "Big Bill" Taft, is 51 years of age today, and observance of the anniversary in this city, while informal, is none the less sincere. There is no room for doubt that Mr. Taft is the most popular man in Cincinnati, and this entirely aside from his fame as the presidential candidate of the republican party. A veritable shower of congratulations from friends and admirers in this city and throughout the country is descending today upon Mr. Taft and will doubtless serve to broaden the illuminating smile which he habitually wears.

"Bill" Taft first saw the light of day in Cincinnati on September 15, 1857, the son of Judge Alphonso and Louise Torrey Taft. His father, later United States attorney general and secretary of war in the cabinet of President Grant, was himself one of Ohio's most famous sons, and his memory is still revered by many of Ohio's aged citizens.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, ill-fed, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glycerin extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it

LEMONS FOR UNCLE JOE.

LINCOLN, Neb., Sept. 14.—Congressmen Hinshaw and Pollard, recently renominated by the republicans, today publicly declared their intention not to support Cannon for reelection as speaker and not support him in any way if they are returned to the house of representatives.

How to Get Strong.

P. J. Daly, of 1247 West Congress St., Chicago, tells of a way to become strong. He says: "My mother, who is old and was very feeble, is deriving so much benefit from Electric Bitters that I fell it my duty to tell those who need a tonic and strengthening medicine about it. In my mother's case a marked gain in flesh has resulted, insomnia has been overcome, and she is steadily growing stronger." Electric Bitters quickly remedy stomach, liver and kidney complaints Sold under guarantee at A. C. Marsters & Co's. drug store. 50c.

HART-O'BRIEN BATTLE.

BOSTON, Sept. 15.—The ring of the Armory Athletic Association will be the scene tonight of a twelve round battle between two heavyweight near-champions, Marvin Hart and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien. Hart declares his confidence that he will win a decisive victory over the Philadelphian, and will then go after Burns and challenge the lemon champion to do battle.

That is Marvin's object in taking on the faking Philadelphian. He has already trimmed O'Brien twice. He met him in Philadelphia May 19, 1902, and again on May 5, 1903, in six-round bouts. On both occasions he had O'Brien on the verge of a knockout throughout. It took all O'Brien's foxiness and ring skill to stay on his feet until the last bell.

DRUNKEN STUDENTS MUST GO.

President Jordan of Stanford Says They will not be Tolerated.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Sept. 14.—President Jordan says that drinking at Stanford University must stop. At the first assembly of the student body, in delivering his annual address to the entering class, he called attention to the trouble of last year, saying that the ideas followed by the committee on student affairs last year would be strictly enforced this semester and that the use of intoxicants would have to be entirely eliminated from the university life hereafter. He said:

"The drunken collegian is the greatest injury to any institution, and Stanford is no place for those who can get drunk and not be ashamed of themselves. We have no time to train such men, as our faculty has something else to do than to watch the doors of saloons. When a man is doing the university more harm than the university is doing him good, then it is time for him to leave the institution. We have no prohibition rules, as I do not believe in prohibition, but you of the student body of Stanford university have two alternates before you: You must cut out Stanford or you must cut out the saloons. If we cannot celebrate our athletic victories without beer-busts, then we must either do without the athletics or else fire our coaches and meet defeat at the hands of the University of California."

The statements were received by the students with the greatest of interest, for up to this time the exact attitude of the faculty had not been known. It is now clear to everyone that the lid will be down, and down tight, at Stanford this year. Last year the faculty set out to accomplish this purpose, and allowed nothing to stand in its way. Students showing opposition were quickly disposed of, and though it looked at one time as though the entire student body would strike, those in charge showed not the least sign of weakening, and now they have their end accomplished the drunken student will probably hereafter be as unusual a sight on the campus at Palo Alto as he would be on the grounds of the most strict denominational college on the coast.

A Paying Investment.

Mr. John White, of 38 Highland Ave., Houlton, Me., says: "Have been troubled with a cough every winter and spring. Last winter I tried many advertised remedies, but the cough continued until I bought a 50c bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery; before that was half gone the cough was all gone. This winter the same happy result has followed; a few doses once more banished the annual cough. I am now convinced that Dr. King's New Discovery is the best of all cough and lung remedies." Sold under guarantee at A. C. Marsters & Co's. drug store. 50c and $1.00. A trial bottle free.

OPEN MINNESOTA LAND.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 15.—Forty-six thousand acres of land within the reservations of northern Minnesota, now idle and unproductive, became subject to homestead entry today by order of the government. Substantially all of the tract is desirable for agriculture and would-be settlers are so numerous that the majority of applicants will be disappointed.

The tract opened for settlement today is composed of ceded Chippewa lands, being parts of the former Cass Lake, Chippewa of the Mississippi, Fond du Lac, Leech Lake and Winnigiboshish reservations. It includes lands classified as agricultural land eliminated from the national forest reserve by the act of May 3, 1908, and land from which the pine timber has been cut.

To all the former patrons of our branch store, formerly Cloake & Brown's store: We have moved all the stock to our store on Jackson Street, and are prepared to welcome you there and are in better shape to please you than ever before.
