HOGS DEVOUR BODY.

Medford Butcher Believed to Have Met With Foul Play.

MEDFORD, Or., Sept. 17.—Killed and his body eaten by hogs is believed to have been the fate of O. M. Cagle, of this city. On Thursday of last week Cagle left home to look for a location to open a butcher shop in Dorris, Cal.
Yesterday his wife, who resides here, received a letter from Mr. Cagle stating he would go for a hunt before returning to Medford. This morning a letter reached here, addressed to the chief of police, written in an illiterate hand, the signature being illegible.
The letter told of the finding of an unknown man with head battered in and the body having been partially devoured by hogs. From business cards found on the person it is evident that the remains are those of Mr. Cagle.
Mr. Cagle, who was a steady, hard-working man, had saved his earnings and had money on his person when in California. It is presumed he was foully dealt with.

OREGON BIRDS PROTECTED.

Roosevelt Establishes Preserve in Klamath Swamplands.

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 17.—According to an order received here today from President Roosevelt, 70,000 acres of land on the California-Oregon line is set aside as a bird preserve. All of the islands in lower Klamath lake and the swamplands in the lake district that are unsuitable for agricultural purposes are included in the preserve. While the order issued by the president prohibits the taking or destruction of any birds, eggs or nests, for any purpose whatever, it will not conflict with the reclamation of any part of the district.

A Trick With a Shirt Waist--

It solves the problem of how to put on a shirt waist with buttons in the back and to do it without the assistance of a maid. Put the waist on with the opening in front, without putting the arms into the armholes. Then close the neck and pin it evenly. Next button down about three buttons, then turn the waist around to its proper place. Lifting the waist up about the neck, slip the arms through into the sleeves. After the waist has been worn and soiled, send it to the

TREES FOR ROADSIDES.

Preservative Effect of Shade on French Highways.

In answer to inquiries from the United States, Consul General Robert P. Skinner of Marseilles furnishes the following information relative to the effect of wayside trees on French roads:

It is proposed to plant trees along the roadsides of New York state in order to keep the moisture in the road and prevent raveling, and the question has been raised whether or not the roots of such trees may spread out underneath the road surface and eventually create great damage in a severe climate where there are extremes of heat and cold. While French roads are not always bordered with shade trees, they are so very frequently, and my information is that the trees are planted not only for furnishing shade, but in order to protect the roads themselves against the effects of excessive heat and drought. It is believed that the long, dry summer season is much more inimical to roads than severe cold. The chief officer in charge of the public roads in Marseilles is of the opinion that, on the whole, New York roads would be benefited if bordered with trees, suggesting, however, that only such should be planted as have vertically descending roots.

F. Birot, civil engineer and former conductor of the bureau of bridges and highways, expresses himself as follows on the subject:

"In countries where the climate is damp roadside trees are prejudicial to the maintenance of the highways, as they prevent the circulation of the air and the drying of the soil. In most of the southern French regions such plantations are, on the other hand, very useful in dry weather, as they maintain the roadbed in a state of freshness favorable to its conservation. In general, trees should be selected with high spreading branches, such as the poplar, the elm, the ash, and they should be planted generally upon the outer edge of the roadbed and at distances of 10 meters (32.80 feet). Each tree should be placed in a hole a meter (3.28 feet) deep and 1 1/2 meters (4.92 feet) square and should be trimmed to a height of 2 1/2 meters (8.20 feet) above the surface."
"The earth about newly planted trees should be loosened in March and November—in March only after the third year—and thereafter until their permanent growth appears assured. Small trenches should be directed toward the foot of the trees in order to secure the benefit of rains. Finally the tree itself should be trimmed annually during the first ten years."

WHEN HER BACK ACHES.

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Roseburg women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Roseburg woman's words:
"Mrs. James Arrance, Pitzer St., Roseburg, Ore., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved of such great benefit to me that I do not have any hesitancy in recommending them to anyone in need of such a remedy. Kidney complaint clung to me for a long time and on some occasions I was given such misery from pains in the small of my back that it was utterly impossible for me to perform my household duties. There was also a constant soreness through the region of my kidneys and at times considerable swelling in those parts. No remedy I tried ben fited me and when a friend insisted on my trying Doan's Kidney Pills I procured a box at Marsters & Co's, drug store and commenced their use. The good effects were noticeable from the first and as I continued taking them, the lameness in my loins disappeared, and also the pains in my back."

VICTOR MOSES IS CLERK.

Judge Harris Decides Benton County Election Contest.

CORVALLIS, Or., Sept. 17.—Judge Harris today handed down his decision in the Benton county clerkship contest case and Victor P. Moses is declared the duly elected clerk by a majority of 10. The original election returns gave Moses a majority of three, but T. T. Vincent, the then incumbent, alleged fraud and appealed to the circuit court.

On the recount many ballots were objected to on both sides as containing distinguishing marks, and of these 40 cast for Moses were thrown out as defective and also 47 cast for Vincent.

The judge further finds that there is no evidence of fraud on the part of the election of judges or of Vincent, in tampering with the ballot boxes. By the decision Moses gets judgment for his costs.
