Today Also Sees Beginning of State Fair in Tennessee and Grand Columbus Circuit

Special to the Evening Review. NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—An extraordinary term of the supreme court in Queens county was convened today, with Justice Garret J. Garretson presiding, to facilitate the trial of the Hains brothers for the murder of William E. Annis. Attorneys for Captain Peter and Thornton Jenkins Hains will likely attempt to delay the trial as long as possible and it is unlikely that the brothers will face judge and jury before next month or November. The special term of court was ordered by Governor Hughes in order that the Hains brothers might be tried without unnecessary delay. Justice Garretson, who will preside at the Hains trial, bears the reputation of having been the first judge to decide that both men and women are to be judged by a single standard of morality and that a man's good name is just as precious as a woman's. With the possible exception of the Thaw trial, the prosecution of the (Continued on page 4.)

Special to the Evening Review. PORTLAND, Or., Sept. 21.—The Portland Country Club & Livestock Association begins its initial meeting today. The exhibit of livestock surpasses that shown at the Lewis & Clark exposition, and the races will be the best ever witnessed here. The great mile track just completed at a cost of $27,000, the immense barns and steel frame amphitheatre, give the grounds and surroundings an appearance of solidity and permanence. The track is considered the best drained that has been built in this part of the United States. There is a steam railroad line into the grounds, in addition to a splendidly equipped electric line—in fact, the latter has been tested and found to be capable of handling 45 cars at one time. Together these lines will relieve the grounds of 7000 people within the first 15 minutes after a meeting. For harness races, prizes aggregating a total of $20,000 have been hung up and a like sum is to be given away in livestock premiums.

Tennessee State Fair. NASHVILLE, Sept. 21.—A premium list of $35,000 has served to secure for the Tennessee State fair, opened today, the largest number of exhibits in the various departments in the history of the institution. A national poultry show is being held in connection with the fair. Thursday will be the big day of the fair, having been declared a legal holiday in Tennessee by Governor Patterson. Governors of several surrounding states are expected on that date.

Columbus Grand Circuit. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 21.—A $100,000 program has been arranged for the Columbus Grand Circuit harness racing meet, opening today and lasting two weeks. Seven stake events, worth over $40,000, are provided.

Negroes Hold Fair. KINGFISHER, Okla., Sept. 21.—Not to be outdone by the whites and Indians, the negroes of Oklahoma today opened a state fair of their own, which illustrates in an adequate manner the progress made by the colored race in the new state. Agricultural horticultural and livestock exhibits are numerous and speak well for the colored farmers of the state. Emancipation Day will be celebrated at the fair tomorrow, and on Wednesday Governor Haskell will be present and deliver an address. Thursday will be Indian day, when the redskins will come to the fair in force.

R. ROBERTSON DEAD

Expired Suddenly While on His Way to Lodge

WIDELY KNOWN ODD FELLOW

Master Mechanic in Charge of S. P. R. R. Shops in Roseburg—City Councilman—Funeral Tuesday

ROBERT ROBERTSON. Born, Ayrshire, Scotland, Oct. 8, 1864. Died, Roseburg, Oregon, Sept. 19, 1908. Master Mechanic, S. P. R. R. Co. Grand High Priest, Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F., of Oregon. Leading I. O. O. F. drill master in this state. President of Roseburg Rochdale Company. Member Roseburg city council. Member and past chief officer of Philetarian Lodge, I. O. O. F., and Union Encampment I. O. O. F.; also member of Roseburg Rebekah Lodge, Member Caledonian Club, of Portland. Member W. O. W. and K. O. T. M. lodges.

Oregon has lost a splendid citizen, the Roseburg city council one of its most useful members, Odd Fellow ship in Oregon one of its best and truly untiring workers and the S. P. R. R. Co one of its most efficient and trusted employees. This loss was occasioned by the sudden death of Robert Robertson in this city last Saturday evening. Mr. Robertson had been in poor health for the past two years, but had been attending to his regular duties as usual about the S. P. R. R. round house and yards all day Saturday. While he was known to be suffering from his ailment he appeared more jovial than usual at the close of his day's work between five and six o'clock in the evening. Shortly after eight o'clock that evening he started from his home at the foot of Mosher street to go to the regular meeting of Philetarian lodge, No. 8, I. O. O. F., as was his unfeigned custom. Proceeding alone he reached a point opposite the home of Joe Roberts, at the corner of Laurel and Flint streets, something over two blocks from his home. There he was evidently overcome by a sudden attack of heart failure and sank down, never to again arise. The two Robinson Bros., locomotive firemen, thus found him a few moments later, breathing with great difficulty. Mr. Roberts was called out of the house and together they carried the unfortunate man inside, when the last fleeting gasp showed that life was departing. A phone call quickly brought Dr. Seely to the scene, but of no avail. He announced that death ensued from diabetic coma. This sudden and unexpected climax resulted from an ailment of long duration, as heretofore stated. A telephone message advised the lodge of what had occurred, and although they were about ready to begin some degree work an adjournment was immediately taken and most of the members hurried to the side of the lifeless form of their stricken leader. Mrs. Robertson, unaware of any untoward happening, had meanwhile gone up town, where she was sought out by lady friends and neighbors, who accompanied her home at about the same time the lodge members arrived. Loving hands carried the lifeless body of Mr. Robertson to his own home and every possible aid and comfort were given to Mrs. Robertson and the stricken family. Robert Robertson was born at Kil-

WILLING TO QUIT

Hitchcock's Resignation as Taft's Manager Rejected

ADVISORY BOARD PRODS HIM

Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows Meets in Denver—Nevada Fuel Famine Impending

Special to the Evening Review. WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—It leaked out today that Chairman Hitchcock, of the national republican committee, offered to resign as director of the Taft campaign at a meeting of the advisory committee in New York. The resignation was not accepted because it was realized that such action would be a tactical blunder just now. It is explained that the advisory committee is tired of the apathy of the public and called the meeting on its own responsibility. Hitchcock Confers. CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—Senator Crane, of Massachusetts, held a conference with Chairman Hitchcock at the national republican headquarters today, and it was rumored that the Senator was to succeed Hitchcock as Taft's campaign manager. The rumor was denied by Mr. Crane, however. Odd Fellows in Denver. DENVER, Colo., Sept. 21.—With the exception of the democratic convention, Denver has seldom been called upon to entertain so vast an assemblage as is gathered today at the opening of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. Every state and territory has its delegations, the convention representing a total membership of nearly 1,400,000 in the United States, Canada and Europe. Prepares for Fuel Famine. RENO, Nev., Sept. 21.—Fuel merchants throughout the state are laying in supplies of coal and wood in anticipation of a repetition of last winter's fuel famine. The Southern Pacific has sent out a warning that a shortage of cars will be felt as soon as the fall shipping begins. A Modern Cain. LOS ANGELES, Calif., Sept. 21.—Fred Markham was arrested here today accused of murdering his brother, Jack, in their blacksmith shop at San Fernando last Saturday night. Markham says he was drunk at the time and does not remember anything about the crime, to which there were no witnesses. After eluding a posse with bloodhounds, Markham was found asleep in a tent in the rear of the shop. TO REBEKAHS AND ODD FELLOWS. All members of Roseburg Rebekah Lodge No. 41, Philetarian Lodge No. 8, I. O. O. F., and Union Encampment No. 9, are requested to meet at their hall Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock sharp for the purpose of attending the funeral services of Brother Robert Robertson. MARKED FOR FIRE

Chelsea Again Suffers—Loss This Time $1,000,000

13 ACRES BURNED OVER

Four Wisconsin Towns Endangered by Forest Fires—Cholera Rages in St. Petersburg

Special to the Evening Review. CHELSEA, Mass., Sept. 21.—The whole section of Chelsea which escaped the conflagration of last winter was threatened with total destruction again by fire today, but a shift in the wind this afternoon saved the manufacturing district, after 13 acres of buildings, mostly residences, had been consumed. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000, and many people are homeless. The police think the fire was of incendiary origin. A whole block was aflame by nine o'clock this morning and it seemed that the entire remaining portion of the city was doomed. Five engines arrived from Boston, Everett and Malden and aided in getting the flames under control. This would not have been accomplished, however, had not the wind changed its course. Rhineland in Peril. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 21.—Two engines, 3000 feet of hose and a company of firemen were sent to Rhineland today in response to an urgent appeal for help in fighting the forest fires menacing the city. One engine has been fighting the fire for hours. The towns of Curtis, Moon and Ladysmith are also threatened. St. Petersburg's Horror. ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 21.—Premier Stolypin today personally assumed charge of the cholera situation. His first act was to remove incompetent authorities and create a few sanitary districts. Ordinary patients were turned from the hospitals to make room for cholera victims. The city today voted $250,000 for new hospitals. It is believed that there are 4000 cases of cholera in St. Petersburg alone. Deaths occur even in the streets. Thousands of people are leaving the city. The deaths since Friday noon total over 200. The deathhouses are overcrowded and many corpses lie unburied. The Fish Squabble. SALEM, Or., Sept. 21.—Citation directing the Oregon Supreme Court to present to the United States Supreme Court the records in the case of Chris. Nelson, who was arrested on the Washington side of the Columbia river by the Oregon authorities and fined for violating Oregon's prohibitory fishing law, was filed today by the State of Washington. A decision will settle the controversy between the two states. The Washington attorneys contend that Oregon has no jurisdiction over the Columbia River. Methodist Pastor Dies. WENATCHEE, Wash., Sept. 21.—Rev. L. R. Kafus, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of The Dalles, Oregon, died yesterday at the hospital, following an operation for sickness resulting from something he ate while attending the Columbia River conference at this place. A marriage license has been issued to Frank M. Neal and Ida M. Parsons, of Comstock.
