There are said to be 287 undoubted trusts in the United States, with a total capitalization of $5,972,418,851. Most of them are fostered and fed to some extent by the protective tariff, and many of them have been notorious violators of laws for years.

STRAWS TOWARD BRYAN.

Minstrel Song Which Shows the Nebraskaan is Favorite. Evidence of which way the political wind is blowing sometimes comes from strange sources. Lew Hawkins, the minstrel actor, tells an interesting story which shows the trend of public opinion toward Bryan.

"I have been singing this song for about five weeks, mostly through the west. Every fall I get out a little campaign song of some kind, especially in Presidential years. I have been singing this one in the cities of the west, and now you can believe me when I say it has always been a clean sweep for Bryan when it comes to applause. Why, I sang it in Des Moines, Ia., a hide-bound Republican city in a Republican state, and the audience simply cheered the Bryan verse so that I had to stop while they almost hissed me off the stage when I sang the Taft stanza. It was a clean sweep for Bryan, and it was the same thing in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, Salt Lake and Denver."

"The metropolitan papers have begun to speculate as to the men whom Mr. Bryan will select as members of his official family in the event of his election as President. The Hearst papers predict that Herman Hilder, treasurer of the Democratic National committee, will be appointed ambassador to Germany. This is the first time Mr. Bryan's election has been considered seriously by a hostile press. There is no more sure indication afforded anywhere that the Democrats will assume control of the Federal government March 4th next."

A PROPHECY.

Without unwarranted enthusiasm let me point out to you my confident belief that the next ten years will be a Latin American decade—that all the world will be then studying and watching Latin America, as I now do Japan and the Orient, and that a material, economic, intellectual, and political advancement will be witnessed in Latin America which will rival what has been accomplished in the United States. Were it not for the lamentable ignorance which prevails throughout the United States in regard to the peoples, institutions, resources, and government of this section of America, this statement would not seem in the least surprising. Those of us who have traveled from Cuba to Chile and from Brazil to Bolivia are keenly aware that this great upward movement has already begun and that Latin America has entered upon a new era of splendid activity and world wide influence.

Twenty republics, varying in size from the area of Brazil, which is larger than that of the United States proper, to Salvador, the smallest which would take in Rhode Island six times over, having a combined population exceeding seventy millions, and a foreign commerce valued at two billions of dollars per annum are going ahead so rapidly that no man can safely prophesy the limit of what they will accomplish during the next ten years. Gifted with a variety of climates and of resources, blessed with a marvelous intermingling of cool plateaus and tropical lowlands, provided with vast navigable river systems, and a long extent of accessible coast line, supplying numerous important products which the rest of the world must purchase, and possessing a people of deep sympathies and high intellectuality based on an old and worthy civilization, they all challenge our best study and keenest appreciation.—Extract from address of Director John Barrett, before the Commercial Trans-Mississippi Congress, San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 6, 1908.

APPLES TO NEW YORK.

The Hood River Apple Growers' Union has sold thirty carloads of the Hood River apples grown in that section of Oregon, the purchase being Stahart & Kelly Company, of New York city, who secured eighty carloads of Newtowns from the same organization a few weeks ago. The union has sixty carloads of apples yet unsold, but it is expected that the fruit will be disposed of before many days. The winter apple picking has begun and a crop of extra quality apples is reported so far.

The first sale of Mosby (Oregon) apples this year took place Wednesday, October 7, when the Mosby Fruitgrowers' Association sold 17,000 boxes to the Davidson Fruit

Company, of Hood River. The varieties disposed of were the Spitzenbergs, Baldwins and Red Cheeks and are said to be of the finest quality. The association still has about 10,000 boxes of apples to dispose of, including its Yellow Newtowns which last year were claimed to have averaged the highest in price of any apples of this variety sold in the Northwest.

Reports received from buyers who have examined the crop at Mosby this year are to the effect that it is the finest on the coast. The prices received for the apples are stated to be very satisfactory to the association and work of picking and packing the fruit for shipment was commenced at once.—Pacific Homestead.

R. R. BUTLER SPEAKS.

What the "Grand Old Party" has done and why it is necessary to continue it in power was the theme of R. R. Butler, candidate for presidential elector on the republican ticket, who spoke at the court house in this city, Thursday evening. It was not generally known until late on Thursday afternoon that Mr. Butler was to speak, and this fact, coupled with his having been unheard of before, accounts for the audience numbering not over 50 people. A. C. Marsters presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Mr. Butler spoke very briefly as Ashland, and the following report of the meeting there will be read with interest by those who heard him in Roseburg and at the same time convey to those who did not hear him a very good idea of what they missed.

"R. R. Butler, the republican speaker, arrived in Ashland on schedule time to tell the young men of Ashland how to vote. After waiting for a half hour after the time scheduled to commence, by actual count only 58 people had arrived to hear the great orator from the bunch-grass of eastern Oregon, and those were mostly women and boys. "Finally E. D. Briggs mounted a barrel and in a voice filled with emotion, told how hard he had labored for the past six weeks to try to organize a republican club, and so far had met with failure. He then introduced the speaker, who in turn got badly mixed trying to explain away some of the many jokers in the republican platform. The young man was not well posted in politics. He got off some of the old 12-year-old gags about "the boy orator of the Platte," but as he was a mere boy himself, he is to be excused, and we hope he will improve with age. By the time Mr. Butler closed, a considerable number of his hearers had retired from the room."

AN EGG STORY.

The following is taken from a recent issue of a New York daily paper: When 3,500,000 Iowa eggs arrived in New York one day last week a commission merchant of Washington market became worried. He knew a great deal about eggs, but the fact that 3,500,000 should arrive in one day started him off on a wild spree of figures. He took the figures home with him, dreamed over them for nights and after he had awakened from a dream in which he found himself smothered under a blanket-omelet large enough to cover Manhattan Island he took the subject of eggs seriously. He talked eggs to his family, his friends and business associates until they advised him to see a doctor. The physician told him to solve the egg problem, which he did. "I was a bit surprised when I found that New York city had received a shipment of 3,500,000 eggs in one day," explained the unfortunate commission merchant. "I wanted to know how many eggs we used in a year, and after a lot of thinking, I calculated that we handle in this city 1,247,000,000 every year. I know that New York is the greatest egg consuming city in the United States, not because of its size, but New Yorkers have the egg habit. This yearly supply would make a single egg about a high as the Metropolitan tower.

"The Blood is 'The Life.'" Science has never gone beyond the above simple statement of scripture. But it has illuminated that statement and given it a meaning over broadening with the increasing breadth of knowledge. When the blood is "bad" or impure it is not alone the body which suffers through disease. The brain is also affected, and may an evil deed or impure thought be directly traced to the impurity of the blood? Pimples, eruptions, it can be made sure by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures and purifies the blood, thereby curing, pimples, blotches, eruptions and other cutaneous affections, as eczema, tetter, or salt-rheum, hives and other manifestations of impure blood.

In the cure of scrofulous swellings, enlarged glands, open eating ulcers, or old sores, the "Golden Medical Discovery" has performed the most marvelous cures. In cases of old sores, or open eating ulcers, it is well to apply to the open sores Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve, which possesses wonderful healing potency when used as an application to the sores in conjunction with the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" as a blood cleansing constitutional treatment. If your struggle isn't long, you may have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock. You can easily procure it by enclosing fifty-four cents in postage stamps to Dr. V. Pierce, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by mail. The druggists keep it as "Golden Medical Discovery."

Don't afford to accept any medicine of unknown composition as a substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery," which is a medicine of known composition, giving a complete list of ingredients in plain English on its bottle-wrapper, the same being attested as correct under oath. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

"There was nothing dangerous about my thinking along these lines, until I drifted into the question of hens and the number of eggs laid in the entire United States. Then my troubles commenced. "I secured official reports, from which I learned that the hens in this country lay 15,523,949,196 eggs every year. "Nothing dangerous about this until I picked up a case of eggs and found that they averaged about two inches long. If I should take those fifteen billion and five hundred odd million eggs and lay them end to end how long a line would they make? That got me to thinking, and it was only a matter of counting to find that all the eggs laid in the United States if placed end to end would reach 4,923 miles. Why, that would make a line four times from New York city to Jacksonville, Florida—a regular board walk of eggs, or would go away out to San Francisco and start back again. "I took the miles of eggs home with me and went to sleep on the liquid amount all these eggs would make. I had a hard time of it and was not satisfied until I found it took eight eggs to make a pint, or sixty-four eggs to a gallon. How many gallons would those eggs make. The answer came—24,265,176 gallons of eggs. "It was easy enough to learn that a good hen will average 200 eggs a year, so it would require 77,619,745 hens to lay the 15,523,949,196 eggs. "An average hen weighs about five pounds, so she must lay five times her weight in one year in eggs. If all the hens in the United States were one great hen and that hen were to lay one egg as large as all the eggs laid in one year put together, she would weigh 388,098,725 pounds. I was mad all the way through—when she got on my chest one night and I had a hard time getting her off, and did not until I woke up and found the pillow clutched in my arms. "But the hen wasn't in it with my dream of the next night, when I discovered that that egg would weigh 1,940,493,623 pounds. Did you ever know of a hen laying an egg five times her own weight? I never did, and when I found that egg rolling down the side of a mountain and I could not get out of the way—well I woke up in time to escape being crushed like an egg shell. "I went on calculating until I found that an average freight train of 40 cars would hold 2,792,000 eggs—remembering that a car will hold from 350 to 450 cases of eggs. "It would take to haul that train 567 big engines and if you put the box cars end to end and did not count the engines you would have a train 45 miles long. "Oh, yes, the doctor tells me I will be all right just as soon as I find out how large an omelet 1/2 inch thick 15,523,949,196 eggs will make. "My time was not all wasted, for I did learn that Iowa furnished more eggs than any other state in the union, with Ohio and Illinois coming second and third, while New York is ninth on the list."
