EVENING ROSEBURG REVIEW

OCTOBER 22, 1908.

For a reliable cough remedy use Marsters' Cough Balsam. If of a car of 700 catch being assigned to Oregon by the Bureau of Fisheries, 300 go to H. E. Baker, of Dralva, and 200 to J. W. Kingery, of Yoncalla.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by names, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c at A. C. Marsters & Co.'s drug store.

Albany Democrat: Through C. W. Tebault, the town of Selo has ordered the machinery for a condenser with a capacity of 10,000 pounds, and will start business on a small scale and build up. The Stayton condenser is assured and Mr. Tebault says the Albany plant is sure to go. He will leave next week for Roseburg, where a condenser will undoubtedly be established.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Equalization of Douglas County will meet in the office of the County Clerk of said county in the Court House in the city of Roseburg, Oregon, on Monday, October 19, 1908, at 9 o'clock a. m. Said Board of Equalization will continue its sessions from day to day, exclusive of Sundays and legal holidays, until the examination and correction and equalization of the roll is complete, and publicly examine the assessment rolls and correct all errors in valuation, descriptions or qualities of land, lots or other property. Now, therefore, all parties who may be aggrieved by reason of valuation, description or otherwise as to their assessment will please take notice as above stated, and make their complaints to said Board of Equalization, otherwise their assessment will stand as made by the Assessor.

Dated Monday, Sept. 21, 1908.
GEORGE W. STALEY,
 Assessor Douglas County.

CALL FOR COUNTY WARRANTS.

NOTICE is hereby given all parties holding county warrants issued by Douglas County, Oregon, and endorsed prior to and including the 9th day of September, 1907, to present the same to the county treasurer of Douglas County, Oregon, at his office for payment, as interest will cease thereon after the date of this notice.

Dated at Roseburg, Oregon, this 12th day of October, 1908.

J. E. SAWYERS,

Treas. of Douglas Co., Oregon.

E. J. LEWIS IS FINED.

Costs Socialist Orator $10 to Uphold Medford Citizens.

E. J. Lewis, the socialist spell-binder, who spoke in the streets of Roseburg last week, has enriched the city treasury of Medford to the extent of $10. The Medford Mail, issue of Oct. 20, explains:

E. J. Lewis, who was arrested Saturday evening while addressing an audience in front of the Hotel Nash, was given a hearing yesterday before Recorder Collins.

The complaint filed in the case charged him with a violation of ordinance No. 3, by "willfully and unlawfully using violent and abusive and threatening language publicly" and that he did abuse certain citizens with the intent to create a disturbance, contrary to said ordinance and against the peace and dignity of the state of Oregon, to which complaint Lewis entered a plea of not guilty.

A number of witnesses were examined and brief arguments followed by defendant and E. E. Kelly, acting city attorney. Recorder Collins imposed a fine of $10.

The case against E. E. Kelly, growing out of the same difficulty, was continued for hearing at some future time.

SOON "EDITOR" ROOSEVELT.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—President Roosevelt has signed a contract with the "Outlook" to act as associate editor after his retirement from the presidency next year. This is made subject to an existing contract to write the story of his African travels for Scribner's Sons. His work in connection with the "Outlook" is to cover political and economic subjects.

A FARM BUILT OF CONCRETE.

Reinforced concrete is generally associated with large industrial buildings such as warehouses, mills or factories, and because of its use for structures of this character it has come to have a rather bad reputation as far as its artistic side is concerned. That it is possible, however, to produce structures of this material of a character acceptable to the owner of large country farm estates as well as to the landscape architect, says Cement Age, is demonstrated in the group of farm buildings recently completed near Sterling, N. Y., on the estate of Mr. F. L. Stetson.

Designed as they are for the many diverse uses which occur in connection with a large estate of the character of Mr. Stetson's, these buildings constitute an unusual concrete group. The care with which the design was worked out is shown in the list of rooms provided for. There are, in addition to the cow barn and hay barn, bull pens, calf pens, feed bins, root cellar, boiler room, coal bins, milk room, wash room, laundry, kitchen, grain bins, and complete living quarters for the dairyman's family.

The exterior of all of the buildings consist of a pebble-dash finish. This was composed of a mixture of sand, pebbles and cement, which was applied after the walls had been roughened and scratched at a considerable time after the completion of the buildings. A final brush coat of sand and cement was applied over the pebble-dash; this was made very thin. To contrast with the Portland grey of the walls, the roofs of all buildings were made of red semi-glazed Ludowici tile laid on one by two single lath which was put directly on the roof and well imbedded in cinder concrete laid on the reinforced concrete slabs.

The partitions in the cow barn are formed of solid concrete three feet eight inches high and four inches thick, reinforced with 3/4-inch twisted steel bars. The partitions in the cottage, all of which are plastered both sides, are, in some instances, FOR SALE.

ley runs from this shed to the interior of the cow barn.

The cow barn is approximately 22 by 72 feet; the hay barn 42 by 42 feet, two stories in height; and the dairyman's cottage is also two stories in height and is approximately 40 by 50 feet.

of reinforced concrete and elsewhere of terra cotta tile, generally three inches thick. The floors in the hay barn and cow barn have a granolithic finish one-inch thick. In the living room of the dairyman's cottage, however, wooden floors, one inch thick are laid on two-inch by three-inch sleepers imbedded in cinder concrete fill laid on top of the reinforced concrete floor slabs.

The waterproofing of the floor of the cow barn was done to prevent the moisture striking through the concrete floor and giving the cows rheumatism. In all these buildings where water was likely to be used such as in the cow barn, wash room and dairy room, the floors were given a slight pitch and bell traps were set at the low points. Connecting with these traps are tile drains leading to a cess pool near the buildings.

Connected with the cow barn by means of a pergola supported on large round concrete columns is a nature shed also supported on concrete columns and enclosed with wooden screens. A light steel trol-

S.S.S. THE CURE FOR SCROFULA

Swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, pale, waxy complexion, running sores and ulcers, skin diseases, and general poor health, are the usual ways in which Scrofula is manifested. The disease being deeply entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, and the scrofulous and tubercular matter so thoroughly destroys the healthful properties of the blood that Scrofula sometimes terminates in consumption, an incurable disease. The entire circulation being contaminated, the only way to cure the trouble is to thoroughly purify the blood and restore the circulation to a strong, healthy state. S. S. S. is the very best treatment for Scrofula; it renovates the entire blood supply and drives out the scrofulous and tubercular deposits. S. S. S. is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and it not only goes right down to the very bottom of the trouble and removes the cause, but it supplies the weak, diseased blood with the healthful properties it is in need of, and in this way builds up weak, frail, scrofulous persons and makes them strong and healthy. S. S. S. is a gentle, safe, vegetable preparation and is suited for persons of any age. Book on the blood containing information about Scrofula and any medical advice free.
