Why Colds are Dangerous.

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Everyone knows that pneumonia and chronic catarrh have their origin in a common cold. Consumption is not caused by a cold but the cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs that would not otherwise have found lodgment. It is the same with all infectious diseases. Diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and whooping cough are much more likely to be contracted when the child has a cold. You will see from this that more real danger lurks in a cold than in any other of the common ailments. The easiest and quickest way to cure a cold is to take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The many remarkable cures effected by this preparation have made it a staple article of trade over a large part of the world. For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

For Chronic Diarrhoea.

"While in the army in 1863 I was taken with chronic diarrhoea," says George M. Felton, of South Gibson, Pa. "I have since tried many remedies but without any permanent relief, until Mr. A. W. Miles, of this place, persuaded me to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, one bottle of which stopped it at once." For sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

CLEARING STUBBLE FIELDS.

A forestry bulletin says: A problem of considerable importance in western Washington and Oregon has to do with what is called "the lumbermen's stubble field"—tracts from which the timber has been cut and which, though desirable for agriculture, can be cleared of stumps only at a cost greater than the value of the land for agricultural purposes. Since the lumbermen harvested their wood crop those lands have remained unproductive, for fires have prevented forest reproduction.

It has been suggested that a saving can be made in the cost of pulling the stumps if the stumps of Douglas fir are used by distillation for the production of turpentine, tar, charcoal and other products. There is no question that the fir stumps can be used in this way, but the saving effected, according to the rough estimates which are alone possible under the circumstances, would hardly exceed from one-tenth to one-fifth of the cost of clearing at present, which ranges from $150 to $225 per acre. In a few cases, where the land was not so heavily timbered, the expense of clearing is a little less.

It looks as if the lumbermen's stubble field can be brought economically under the plow only by the contrivance of some improved method for handling the stumps, which are too large for the regulation stump-puller and are now removed by dynamite and the donkey engines.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at A. C. Marsters & Co's drug store.
