BRYAN TALKS TO FARMERS.

RAVENSWOOD, W. Va., Oct. 22.—Wm. J. Bryan was up bright and early this morning to address a large gathering of farmers. He proceeded to puncture the Republican pretensions that the farmers owed their prosperity to the Republican party.

"The Republican party has nothing to do with the fertility of the soil, sunshine or rain; if it did there would be a trust on sunshine and a meter upon the sun."

He said that not a single thing the Republican party had done was good for the farmers.

"The farmers have been the real victim of every abuse that has grown up under Republican misrule. They have spent their time legislating in the interests of Wall street instead of listening to the plea of the farmers for the security of their bank deposits."

Scores Coercion of Voters.

NEWARK, O., Oct. 21.—"I say to you that the little ward healer who goes around and bribes a man for $5 is moral in character beside the man who attempts to use his power to threaten those who work for him and to buy them by promise of increase in wages or threaten them by promise to decrease."

Thoroughly aroused by what he termed the "new menace" through the publication today of a press dispatch stating that officials of the New York Central lines had summoned their workmen and informed them that if the democrats won at the election there would be a reduction of 10 per cent in wages, but if they lost there would be an increase, William J. Bryan, in a before breakfast speech to a vast throng, poured a volley of criticism into the republican party for its campaign tactics. He threw into his utterances all the vigor he could master, and his words were loudly cheered.

The statements by the New York Central officials were made in addresses to employes at Bellefontaine last night, General Manager Van Wickle, Vice President Schaff and Assistant Superintendent Ingalls being the speakers.

In his address today, Bryan said: "Confronted with the wrath of the people whose earnings they have taken for their own, predatory corporations threaten a panic if the people elect me. Taft was in the president's cabinet when the panic of last year started. If he and the strenuous president could not prevent a panic, how little is the chance for him alone? I am fighting to restore business competition, not to destroy business."

Bryan called attention to the fact that Ingalls is a son-in-law of Charles Taft. Bryan will go to New York after one day, instead of the rest of the week, to West Virginia. He will not visit Maryland nor New Jersey. He declares that Ohio is won for the democrats.

LETTER OF A HOPELESS MAN.

Dr. William Lee Howard contributes a spirited article on "Helpless Youths and Useless Men" to the November American Magazine. It is a severe arraignment of the custom of having women teachers for high school boys. In the course of the article he introduces the following letter which, he says, was written by a man twenty-six years old:

"Is there no possible way of shedding this weakness, this miserable weakness, so that one will be able to act with naturalness and self-possession in the presence of others, no matter where or when? Is there no possible way by which I can meet people and converse with them in an easy and natural way without stuttering and puttering about in aimless confusion, causing me at times to break out in a cold sweat and make for the tall grass where no one is about to watch me? I can't even walk down street in an easy, natural mind-off-of-myself manner. Nor even in my home town. I know all the people here, and am quite positive, too, that they will not bite or shy a brick at me from any tree. I have such a horrid habit of depreciation. I have tried to reason some of these things out of my system, but it is a tough proposition. To cap the climax, I guess I have about as much confidence in myself as a lion tamer has in a bad lion. Anything like real responsibility is liable to cause a panic and stampede of what ability I might possess in the action it called for.

"I always had women for teachers when I was a boy. Later on the same conditions existed when I went to the high school. I was naturally timid, and saw nothing of the life I needed; of the rough schooling I should have had. You know what the male teachers in the high schools are. Those who have not been feminized get away as soon as possible; a boy only gets a parrotlike lot of stuff out of them; HE NEVER COMES UNDER VIRILE INFLUENCES.

"I never had a licking, and the old maid who was my principal teacher held me [illegible] a good, vigorous type of man. The fearless type of real man. And just think of it! I might have been one if my father had looked after my education and environments—I should have been sent to a school where only men and boys were seen. Now I am a failure. I was taught nothing at school of use to me, but did fall into habits and a mental condition that keeps me from obtaining any decent position.

GREATEST IN JAPAN'S HISTORY

Celebration in Honor of Visit of the American Fleet.

TOKIO, Oct. 22.—The capital of Japan witnessed tonight the most extraordinary evidence of the spirit of the new Japan. After his audience with the officers of the American battleship fleet on Tuesday, the Emperor issued orders directing the people to increase in every way possible the enjoyment, comfort and pleasure of the American visitors, who came, he said, as historic friends of the Japanese nation. The response to this imperial mandate was seen and heard tonight.

Originally a torchlight procession of 15,000 people was planned as part of the programme, but this feature went far beyond expectations and developed one of the greatest popular demonstrations and outpourings of an enthusiastic people ever witnessed in any country. Japan's war celebrations after peace with Russia, London's Mafeking night and even New York's election night revel would seem almost insignificant compared with Tokio's celebration tonight. It would be impossible to estimate the number of people who took part in the parade and the myriads of spectators.

Parade Miles Long.

Mile after mile, through madly cheering people, the great procession wound its way. Representatives of various guilds, universities, schools of every class for boys and other organizations took part in the parade, and each individual carried a lighted lantern held high on a long pole with American and Japanese flags intertwined.

Admiral Sperry and the other chief officers of the American fleet viewed the procession from a special stand standing with bared heads above the sea of waving lanterns, the deafening roar of cheers and the clash of the music from scores of bands which played the American national anthem continuously. So dense became the crowds around the stand where the American officers stood, that the entire procession was blocked until Admiral Sperry was forced to leave in order to keep an engagement at the dinner given by Minister of Foreign Affairs Komura.

Again at the American Embassy the great procession halted and the climax of the enthusiasm was reached, although Ambassador O'Brien was not at the Embassy at the time. He, too, had left to attend the function at the residence of the Foreign Minister. When the head of the procession arrived at the Embassy and halted, Mrs. O'Brien and the other ladies of the Embassy appeared upon the veranda and received a prolonged ovation from the crowds, every man and boy among the paraders lifting his hat to the ladies, while there were continuous shouts for the American Ambassador.

The entire grounds surrounding the Embassy were lighted with a sea of lanterns and the demonstration at this point lasted for two hours, the ladies of the embassy viewing it until they were forced to leave to keep a dinner engagement. Even then, the parade was not resumed for more than an hour. Every band in Tokio turned out for the parade and their favorite airs were "Yankee Doodle," "Dixie" and "John Brown." Thousands of the paraders wore fantastic costumes characteristic of Japanese celebrations.

Every foreigner in Tokio was deeply impressed by tonight's remarkable demonstration, coming, as it did, from an ordinarily undemonstrative people.

The entire day was taken up by a series of elaborate entertainments to Admiral Sperry and the other admirals of the American fleet and their aides. The American fleet commander together with the other admirals and their aides will leave Tokio at 3 p. m., October 23, when the scene of celebrations will be changed from this city to Yokohama.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF.

From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats, and Hoarseness.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week swallowing nauseating drugs. You know when you do this that you are not only making your own life miserable, but are a nuisance to everyone about you.

Why not avoid all this? Why not relieve your cold in five minutes? Why not cure it over night? You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis and asthma.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler, and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00, and Red Cross Pharmacy will refund your money if it fails to cure.

W. C. T. U. IN DENVER.

National Convention Jubilant Over Prohibition Victories.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 23.—White ribboners from all over the United States are the guests of Denver today and commenced what promises to be one of the most interesting national conventions in the history of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Although Denver has a reputation as a wide-open, joyous, frivolous town, and has long been one of the strongholds of the "demon rum" the visitors were given a hearty welcome and will be elaborately entertained during their stay in the "mile high" city. Even some facetious dealers in wet goods have paid their respects to the host of temperance women by displaying white ribbons in their windows.

Enthusiasm such as has never before marked a national convention of the W. C. T. U.—which one of the liquor dealers aforesaid interprets as Women Constantly Tormenting Us—is manifested by the delegates in Denver today. From every nook and cranny of the country comes triumphant reports of battles fought and won and of solar plexus blows delivered to the liquor traffic.

The great fight of the coming year, declare the women, will be fought in the City of Washington. The leaders of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union perceive the great strategic importance of making the national capital a "dry" city, and plans will be decided upon at the present convention for furthering that end. It is admitted that the task will not be an easy one, as the brewers, distillers and liquor dealers also realize the importance of the fight and will not submit without exhausting every means of influence at their disposal. Speaker Cannon is harshly criticised by some of the delegates as being the greatest obstacle to the success of their plans, and resolutions condemning his stand on the prohibition question may be passed by the convention.

A curious situation has been brought about by the stand taken by the Mormon church as the advocate of prohibition. The W. C. T. U. has long waged warfare on Mormonism, and the members took the lead in attempting to oust Reed Smoot, the Utah senator, from the national congress. Now that the Mormons have declared war against the liquor traffic, the women of the temperance union are considering a truce with that church. It is realized that the influence of the Mormon leaders will go far toward accomplishing the adoption of prohibition in Utah, Idaho, Nevada and other western states, where the W. C. T. U. has fought in vain.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done is worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at A. C. Marsters & Co's drug store.

MARGARET BANNARD WEDS.

GRANTS PASS, Or., Oct. 22.—George O. Goodell and Miss Margaret Bannard were married at the home of the bride this afternoon at 3:30. The best man was Paul Wallace, of Salem, and the bridesmaid Miss Susie Bannard. The groom is secretary of the Oregon State Railway Commission and is an alumnus of the U. of O. The bride is also a graduate of the U. of O.

For the last three years she has been teaching in Baker City. She is the youngest daughter of A. U. Bannard, a prominent merchant of this city.

The couple left on the evening train for Salem, where they will make their home.

The Knock-out Blow.

The blow which knocked out Corbett was a revelation to the prize fighters. From the earliest days of the ring the knock-out blow was aimed for the jaw, the temple or the jugular vein. Stomach punches were thrown in to worry and weary the fighter, but if a scientific man had told one of the old fighters that the most vulnerable spot was the region of the stomach, he'd have laughed at him for an ignoramus. Dr. Pierce is bringing home to the public a parallel fact; that the stomach is the most vulnerable organ out of the prize ring as well as in it. We protect our heads, throats, feet and lungs, but the stomach we are utterly indifferent to, until disease finds the solar plexus and knocks us out. Make your stomach sound and strong by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and you protect yourself in your most vulnerable spot. "Golden Medical Discovery" cures "weak stomach," indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, bad, thin and impure blood and other diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" has a specific curative effect upon all mucous surfaces and hence cures catarrh, no matter where located or what stage it may have reached. In Nasal Catarrh it is well to cleanse the passages with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy fluid while using the "Discovery" as a constitutional remedy. Why the "Golden Medical Discovery" cures catarrhal diseases, as of the stomach, bowels, bladder and other pelvic organs will be plain to you if you will read a booklet of extracts from the writings of eminent medical authorities, endorsing its ingredients and explaining their curative properties. It is mailed free on request. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. This booklet gives all the ingredients entering into Dr. Pierce's medicines from which it will be seen that they contain not a drop of alcohol, pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead.

Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser will be sent free, paper-bound, for 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

COUNTRY HIGH SCHOOLS.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Oct. 21.—The "Lane County Plan" for country high school organization, which was explained in the September number of the University of Oregon Bulletin, has aroused a great deal of interest toward the organization of country high schools in all parts of Oregon. Requests for Bulletins and information are being received by the University registrar in large numbers. The "plan" is so simple and works so admirably in actual practice that there now is little doubt that the number of high schools in Oregon will be more than doubled within a comparatively short time. It makes possible better high schools in the larger towns and the establishment of others in country districts where none have existed, obviating the necessity of sending children away from home to school if their education is to continue above the eighth grade. One of its many great advantages is that large bodies of valuable land, timber and other, owned by non-residents and corporations, which have always escaped taxation for school purposes, are made to pay their full share. Linn and Marion counties are taking up the plan, where it is being strongly agitated and will be voted on at the November election, and the matter is being strongly talked of in a half dozen other counties.

FATE RESTS WITH STORK.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Whether the Duchess de Chaulnes, who was Miss Theodora Shonts, will maintain her position among the titled aristocrats of France, or be cast into the outer darkness reserved for bourgeois commoners, depends entirely upon the sex of the child expected to be born to her within a few weeks. If the stork brings a boy, he will inherit the title and estates of his dead father. If the bird brings a girl, then the mother will be deprived of her title, which will pass to the family of the Duc de Luynes.

The duchess is still living in the beautiful apartment where she and her noble husband spent the first months of their married life, and where the young duke expired in the arms of his wife. Here the posthumous child will be born.
