 While out riding in a single-horse livery rig in this city Friday evening, Mrs. Warrington, a guest at the Hotel McCallister, met with an accident, which, fortunately, had no serious results. At the intersection of Cass and Jackson streets, one of the wheels of the buggy was caught by a passing gravel wagon, going in the opposite direction. The horse attached to the buggy became frightened and plunged so forcibly that he broke loose from the vehicle, at the same time throwing Mrs. Warrington into the street. As luck would have it, however, Mrs. Warrington sustained no injuries beyond a shaking up and a few inconsequential bruises.

MONUMENT AT TIPPECANOE.

LAYFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 7.—On the famous old battlefield of Tippecanoe, where on November 7, 1811, General William Henry Harrison and his little band of pioneers vanquished the Indians under the Prophet and thus gained an empire for the whites, a handsome monument was dedicated today. Today is the ninety-seventh anniversary of the historic conflict in which General Harrison broke the power of Tecumseh's confederacy and gained that military renown which later led him to the White House. Thousands of people gathered on the battleground and the dedicatory ceremonies were of an imposing nature.
 Addresses were delivered in the morning by Congressman E. D. Crumpacker and other well known men. The formal dedication took place this afternoon. Job C. Sims, chairman of the dedication committee, presented the monument to the state and nation. Governor Hanley accepted in behalf of the state, and General Luke Wright, secretary of war, represented the National Government. Music was furnished by bands and a trained chorus. The battlefield was elaborately decorated with flags. The monument was too large to veil and unveil, and only the statue of General Harrison in front was unveiled at the ceremonies.

TO KEEP INFANT WARM.

3-Year-Old Boy Builds Fatal Fire Under Baby's Carriage.
 GALENA, Ill., Nov. 6.—While his mother was absent from the room, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rapp built a fire under the baby carriage, in which his 8-month-old brother was lying. The flames communicated to the coverings and the infant was so badly burned it died. The child explained his act by saying he wanted to keep the baby warm.

The ROSE
 What a Musician Says.
 Following is an interesting communication from Portland, Ore.:
 Portland, Ore., Nov. 5, 1908.
 Mr. W. A. Burr,
 Roseburg, Oregon.

I wish to express my appreciation of the splendid Bush & Lane piano which you kindly sent for the concert in aid of the Mercy Hospital. It was indeed a beautiful instrument, a triumph of piano builders' art. I really enjoyed the sensation of playing upon it for its response to all kinds of touch was perfect. The singing tone was lovely and the wonderful power was a revelation. The action and the general workmanship, which I had an opportunity of carefully examining when in your city, make it worthy of a place among the great piano names of this country.

With many thanks for all your courtesies,
 Yours truly,
 FREDERICK GOODRICH,
 Organist, and Director of the Choir, St. Mary's Cathedral, Portland, Or.
