BOOSTING PAYS BIG.

What a Few Men Did in Starting Medford's Prosperity.

Col. E. Hofer, of Salem, is a well-known booster for Oregon, but here is a portion of an article which recently appeared in his paper, the Capital Journal, following a trip to Medford:

The writer has been at many booster conventions. He has held hotel festivals in nearly all the principal cities of western Oregon, but never did he run into such specific caloric that makes a community get up and hump and double up its real estate values like the ones that struck Medford. Of course, all understand that the booster city of the Rogue River valley has been on all the United States maps printed in the past few years in box car letters, but few people know who did it.

It was the Medford bunch that discovered Harriman in his lodge at Pellean Bay, and broke the ice that surrounded him for miles and then swam through it with an invitation in their teeth, asking the "Old Man of the Financial Mountain" to come and see them. He did stop a few hours, and Dr. Reddy took him in, too, with his 40-horsepower Thomas Flyer, and when he got through Harriman turned and said to the crowd and said: "Reddy is the greatest booster I ever met. He mentioned everything under the sun as produced in the Rogue River valley except tin." Then Reddy produced some tin ore out of his pocket and gave Harriman a piece with an assay attached, signed, sealed and sworn to. The next time Harriman came this summer he stayed three hours and would have stayed all day except for the modesty of the Medford bunch. They were afraid of overdoing it with the old man of the mountain. After he was gone they regretted they did not keep him over night. They got hold of Honore Palmer and young Vilas and gave them the time of their lives and each one has been the means of large investments being made in orchards. Young Palmer got his millionaire mamma to come through and make the Rogue River valley her summer home—stole the dame (so fair to look upon from a real estate standpoint) bodily from Eugene on promise to return her after she had seen the bottom of her purse. She blew herself for $165,000 worth of Medford orchards, and would have done as much more but for the financial squeeze.

Who Are the Bunch.

Of course, there is the premier, entitled to stand at the head of the bunch—Dr. J. P. Reddy, mayor of the city, fighter for new ideas, landlord of the Nash House, about which I must say a little more further on. John D. Olwell, first orchardist and organizer of the industry as a factor of Southern Oregon development. Dr. C. K. Ray, of the electric power company, and his brother, Col. Frank Ray; J. E. Enyart, banker; W. I. Vawter, banker; Edgar Hafer, the box factory man; J. M. Keene, dentist and all-around booster of Southern Oregon, who takes abuse for breakfast, eats fit for lunch and dines on it, grows rich, fat and happy; Jeff Heard, new manager of the Sterling gold mine; Geo. Putnam, who runs the red-hot little daily in seven states and has libel suits and imprisonment for contempt as often as the courts meet; Judge White, who is legal adviser of the hotel artists and Pres. W. M. Colvig.

I do not know where you would find 11 men who are such concentrated geysers of information as these are, but Medford has many more like them, and is educating them every day. These men are pioneers and have grown worse as they go along.

A Pioneer Orchardist.

Hon. J. H. Stewart is no more but he is entitled to the grateful memory of all who love to recount the battles for the upbuilding and transformation of Oregon. He was a pioneer, a progressive man, a builder of orchards. He built one of 75 acres 35 miles up the Rogue River that few persons have seen. He was an Illinois man and was succeeded by his son, who is a chip off the old block. These men have lived in one orchard they planted sell for $2500, then for $20,000, and then sell for $60,000. They have bought and sold some of these themselves and have made some of this money and kept it. It is not often that the man who sows so wisely also reaps the crop, but J. H. Stewart planted wiser than he dreamed of and his son is following with still larger enterprise.

The Three Big Varieties. The big cash bumper crops have fixed things so that about all that is planted are the Newton Pippins and Spitzenberg apples, and Comice pears. There are others nearly as good that make big money, but these are the best. John Wesley Perkins, now of Roseburg, got the first record crop of golden Comice pears, and they sold in New York for fabulous prices, and even got into the White House and Senate through Senator Bourne, who distributed hundreds of boxes of them to advertise Oregon. What did they do? Well, the Perkins Hillcrest pear farm sold for $3500 originally. Perkins had the nerve to pay $21,500 for it and he has sold it to Seattle people for $50,000, and they took $40,000 worth of fruit off it this year. DeHart, the Portland hardware man, bought a pear and apple orchard for $16,000 a few years ago and has just sold it for $35,000. The owners are building fine bungalows nestling snugly in brown-leaved kilmistat of the most groves, and taking almost the price of their gold mine out of it every year in crops that increase each year. And mingled with it, with the wagons hauling the best fruit crops to town are wagon loads of fine coal taken out of the mines in the foothills just back of the orchards. Fred Perkins off 19 acres of pears this year took $19,000 and the acre he published in fact simile. A real estate man on the street corner was telling a man on the street corner in a hearing of 40 acres this year yielding $46,000, or $45,000 net, and prepared to show him the expense and shipping books. Fifteen hundred dollars an acre was refused for the Dillon Hill pear orchard this fall. It is 160 acres, or nearly a quarter of a million.

Something to Talk About. Here is something to think about for the sluggards of the Willamette valley, where the soil is just as good for apples and pears as Medford. Nearly a quarter of a million for a quarter section. Pear trees on that farm just beginning to bear, seven years old from the planting, and growing better every year. This land will never be sold for less than $2,000 an acre, and the syndicates are already forming to take it in. Why shouldn't Medford boom when it has been the work of the boosters there to reveal the possibilities of that sort of fruit growing.

ANSWERS EVERY CALL.

Roseburg People Have Found That This is True.

A cold, a strain, a sudden wrench, A little cause may hurt the kidneys.

Spells of backache often follow, Or some irregularity of the urine, A certain remedy for such attacks, A medicine that answers every ail.

Is Doan's Kidney Pills, a true specific.

Many Roseburg people rely on it. Here is Roseburg proof.

W. J. Brand, 1008 Mill St., Roseburg, Ore., says: "Ever since I fell and strained my back years ago until I used Doan's Kidney Pills I had more or less trouble from kidney trouble, the chief feature being dull pain in the small of my back and through the loins. This became aggravated whenever I caught cold and at such times was almost unbearable. During the last attack I went to Marsters & Co's drug store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. They went right to the source of the trouble and removed every ache and pain. I believe Doan's Kidney Pills are unequalled for kidney complaint."

Remember the name—Doan's—COYOTE FENCE A SUCCESS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The coyote-proof sheep pasture situated in the Wallawa National Forest last Autumn has proved a decided success. The fence, which was built of one barbed wire below and two barbed wires above a 16-inch woven wire fence, with posts 16 feet apart, has been found an effective barrier to wolves and coyotes, but not to hares. A loss, amounting in the aggregate to thousands of dollars, might be saved if wolf-proof pastures similar to that used in the experiment were constructed, and all predatory animals within killed.

is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it? The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have better, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor or listless appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms are Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, or Compound for Coughs, Croup, and Whooping Cough, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his book, or extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicine and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

Holabird's Report May Bring Decision From Harriman This Year.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Nov. 6.—Colonel E. H. Holabird, the personal representative of E. H. Harriman, who visited Coos Bay recently to ascertain whether or not the building of the Drain line here would pay, telegraphed today to a friend that he would leave Los Angeles November 15 for the East to take up the Coos Bay railroad matter with Mr. Harriman and his directors.

Colonel Holabird while here gathered data as to the freight business which a railroad might expect to get, and all of this information will be presented to the railroad officials. When a committee from Coos Bay visited Harriman recently, arguing that the Drain line be built, the railroad magnate promised that if an investigation showed that the

THE OREGON APPLE MAN.

Reading horticultural commission literature pertaining to the state of Oregon, or having even a passing knowledge of the fact of which this literature treats, there is no escape from the conviction that the Oregon apple man have every reason to be satisfied with what he has done and what he expects to do. Take the statement of Horticultural Commissioner Carson of the third horticultural district, and we have a comprehensible summary of the Oregon apple man's felicitation. Mr. Carson asks: "If there is any competition between Oregon fruit and the fruit of the east, why is it that the eastern fruitgrowers sell a barrel of their best quality apples, containing two and one-half bushels for less than Oregon growers sell a single box containing one bushel?"

The Oregon apple men has been aware for some time that there is no possible competition between the fruit of the two sections. The fancy prices he has received for his apples in London and European markets, to say nothing of New York, has been the assurance of the superiority of Oregon fruits. This one fact, more pronouncedly perhaps than any other, has established Oregon's reputation as the land of the apple. The Oregon apple man has profited by it beyond any other apple man in the country, as his bank account will show. And their is opportunity in the state for a multiplication of his tribe.

We may safely say that the cultivation of this one staple fruit will always be one of its chief industries of the state. In its future there is an almost inconceivable warranty of wealth to the state, and of profit and content to the individual. The Oregon apple, if properly presented is one of the strongest inducements for emigration among the western homeseeking people of the East.—Evening Telegram.

FOES OF STATEMENT NO. 1.

Plan to Prevent Chamberlain Being Elected to U. S. Senate.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 6.—Supported by an organization now forming, Senator C. W. Fulton will attempt to prevent Governor George E. Chamberlain from being elected to the United States Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Fulton, March 4. There are enough Statement No. 1 members of the Legislature to elect Chamberlain if they keep their pledges, but efforts are being made to induce a sufficient number to prevent the election of Chamberlain.

The argument of Fulton and his followers is that the Legislature should elect a Republican to the Senate instead of a Democrat. Although Chamberlain defeated Cate, who defeated Fulton in the primaries, for the popular vote, the Fulton people assert that when Taft carried Oregon it proved that the people repudiated their votes of last June for the Democrat.

Various methods of bringing about the defeat of Chamberlain are under discussion. One plan favorably considered is to have the Republicans in the counties which did not go for Chamberlain to prepare a petition urging their Senators and Representatives to vote for a Republican. The supposition is that Fulton may be selected in the event of Chamberlain being turned down, although the name of Theodore B. Wilcox and others have been mentioned as the possible beneficiaries.
