PREMONITION CORRECT.

Girl Digs and Discovers Buried Body of Murdered Brother.

MARENGO, Ill., Nov. 11.—Haunted night and day by a presentiment that her brother had been brutally murdered and then buried—a fear that robbed her of sleep for two weeks, and during her waking hours drove her to the verge of insanity, Arvilla Hoganson, the 19-year-old sister of O. Hoganson, took a shovel and frantically threw up the earth in a spot where her premonition had taken her and finally, exhausted, drove the blade into the body of her brother.

The girl made her gruesome discovery in the poultry yard on the John Bedford farm, which adjoins the Hoganson place. Hoganson disappeared two weeks ago.

Bedford has been arrested in Nebraska and charged with murder. Today the sheriff and a force of workmen began digging in the chicken lot in search of further evidence against the man under arrest. It is the belief of the authorities that many bodies will be found buried on the Bedford farm and in the vicinity, and that a series of murders similar to the Guinness case will be brought to light.
