

KEEP WELL POSTED
On the current events of the world's progress by reading the DAILY REVIEW.
Delivered by carrier, 50 cent month.

ROSEBURG REVIEW

PROFITABLE INVESTMENT
Advertisers get good returns from announcements placed in live papers—the DAILY AND TWICE-A-WEEK REVIEW. Try them—there's none other so good.

HENEY STILL SURVIVES SHOT

HAAS' BULLET DID NOT TOUCH BRAIN

Henev Will Recover Unless Complications Set in

'FRISCO POPULACE AROUSED

Mass Meeting Will Be Held Tonight to Consider Plans For Going Ahead With Graft Prosecutions

Special to the Evening Review.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—(9 a. m.)—Francis J. Henev, who was shot yesterday by Morris Haas, passed a good night at the hospital and is resting quietly today. He is in full possession of his faculties, and the report that the wound would deprive him of his speech is denied. The attending surgeons are holding a consultation this morning on the advisability of removing the bullet, which found lodgment under the right jaw. The brain was not touched. The latest bulletin, issued at 2 o'clock this morning by Dr. Edwin S. Burdell, says that Henev will recover unless complications set in.

Mass Meeting Tonight.
After immense crowds watched the bulletin boards all night, getting announcements of Henev's condition, public sentiment settled down into sullenness, which the police interpret as forboding evil. Strong men are urging moderation, and every effort is being made to prevent a state of anarchy which will follow any overt act.

After an all-night session, the Citizens' League of Justice, which is fathering the graft prosecution, today issued an appeal for a mass meeting tonight to decide upon a plan of action regarding the continuance of the Henev work. The appeal says, in part:

"We appeal to the calm reason of the citizens to preserve order. Let us proceed only by processes of law, looking not for vengeance, but for swift justice through the courts. The prosecution will proceed; we are assured that the Raef trial will resume next Monday."

Despite the conservative wording of the appeal, the police are taking every precaution to prevent violence at tonight's meeting.

Examiner Blamed.
Rudolph Spreckles, owner of the San Francisco Call and one of Mr. Henev's strongest supporters, said to a United Press representative today:

"When I was approached by an Examiner reporter last night and asked for a statement concerning the murderous attack on Mr. Henev, I said: 'Tell Mr. Hearst that I believe he is responsible for this attempted murder.' This constant vilification, ridiculing and caricaturing of Mr. Henev in the Examiner, which is owned by Hearst, is much responsible for the shooting, which is not unlike the assassination of President McKinley, which is laid at the door of such yellow journals as Mr. Hearst owns."

Wm. J. Burns, the detective, who is associated with Mr. Henev in the graft cases, declared today that the shooting was the result of a deliberate plot planned by the "Higher Ups." Burns declares that Haas practiced target shooting with a pistol for weeks.

Haas Trained His Aim.
Rude scraps of targets, drawn with pencil, shattered boards in the cellar and alley way found at his home today by the police, furnish unmistakable evidence that Morris Haas, who attempted to murder Henev, had been practicing to improve his aim. Neighbors frequently heard shots, but upon investigation found nothing.

Haas awoke in jail today apparently unconcerned over Henev's condition or his own fate. At his little home on McAllister street his wife and children are being consoled by neighbors.

Story of the Crime.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The San Francisco bribery-graft cases had a dramatic climax today, when Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Henev, who has been in charge of the prosecution during its course of two years, was shot and seriously wounded in the crowded courtroom by Morris Haas, an ex-convict. The shooting occurred during a brief recess in the third trial of Abraham Raef on the charge of bribery, which is now in its 11th week.

The would-be assassin is a Jew and a saloonkeeper, who was drawn upon the jury panel in the second trial of Raef and, after having been temporarily passed by both sides, was exposed in a dramatic manner by Mr. Henev as an ex-convict and discharged from the jury. Haas declared after the shooting that Henev had ruined his life by this exposure and that he had determined to kill Mr. Henev for that reason. Upon being taken to prison, he said:

"Henev ruined me. I don't care what becomes of me now."

A Cowardly Act.
When recess was declared, Mr. Henev, instead of going outside to enjoy a brief airing, stepped for a moment into an ante-room, and then came back to his counsel table. While many of the persons who crowded the courtroom had gone out on the sidewalk, there was still a large crowd in the ante-room. Mr. Henev was leaning over on his table, conversing in low tones with Al McCabe, chief clerk of the District Attorney's office. Directly in front of him was James L. Gallagher, the witness, and a newspaper representative had just walked to Mr. Henev's table and was standing at his left elbow, waiting for an opportunity to speak to him, when a small man, neatly attired and having a decidedly Jewish cast of countenance, approached the assistant district attorney from behind in quick steps, but with deliberation. Suddenly his right hand shot out and, before the newspaperman, Mr. McCabe or John Foley, Mr. Henev's special bodyguard, sitting about eight feet away, could make a move, there was a flash and a loud report rang through the courtroom.

For a moment everybody seemed stunned and paralyzed. The would-be assassin, whose revolver was with him in a foot and a half of Mr. Henev's head when he pulled the trigger, stepped back, his arms by his side, one hand still clutching the smoking pistol, as if hesitating what to do. Before the assassin could raise his pistol again Mr. Foley and E. J. Wislitchill, a special policeman, were upon him, had thrown him to the floor and wrested the weapon from his grasp.

Raef's automobile stood in front of the building and he immediately ordered his chauffeur to get the nearest physician.

The report of the attempted assassination spread throughout the city like wildfire and caused intense excitement and indignation.

Raef Outfit Bewails.
In a corner of the courthouse Mr. Aeb and Mr. Dozier, Raef's counsel, were in the chambers of Judge Lawlor.

"My God," exclaimed Mr. Aeb, "I wish I had never taken a criminal case in my life. I will never take another when I get out of this one. This is a dastardly outrage. I cannot express myself in strong enough terms. Mr. Henev did not denounce this man Haas, if he is the one who did the shooting. In pursuance of his duty he disclosed the fact, during the other trial of Mr. Raef, that Haas was an ex-convict and as such had him dismissed from the jury box. I sincerely hope that Mr. Henev will recover."

Mr. Dozier also regretted that he was engaged in a criminal case after having several times made a resolution that he would not again take one.

"It's getting to be a pretty state of affairs when a man engaged in the performance of his duty is shot down in an open courtroom," he said. "It was a dastardly act, an outrageous deed."

Raef denounced the attempted assassination most vehemently.

"I cannot find language strong enough to denounce the attempt to kill Mr. Henev."

Raef Sheltered in Jail.
As soon as a semblance of order was restored, the court ordered Raef, who has been at liberty on bonds aggregating $1,500,000, into the custody of the sheriff and he was soon afterward taken to the county jail.

The action of Judge Lawlor in ordering Raef into custody was taken, it is said, not so much for fear that he would endeavor to flee as for his own safety from possible mob violence. Evidently fearing that some demonstration might be made against the would-be assassin, the police removed him tonight from the city prison.

Henev's Declaration.
"I'll live to prosecute that man," declared Mr. Henev on the operating table at the Central Emergency hospital, while the surgeons were probing his wound. The wounded man was entirely conscious and grittily endured the ordeal.

Motive for Haas' Crime.
Haas was convicted of embezzlements in San Bernardino county, and on May 25, 1888, was sentenced to three years and eight months, having earned four months by good behavior, and was released January 25, 1890. Some years later he was married, and has a wife and four children. He lived with his family at 1848 McAllister street, and was engaged in the saloon business at the time he was drawn on the jury panel for the second trial of Raef last May. After he had been passed by both sides, Mr. Henev learned that he was an ex-convict. He dramatically confronted Haas with his picture in convict stripes, closely-cropped hair and number across his breast. Haas was forced to admit his penitentiary record and was immediately discharged from the jury. From his statement it appears that he has been brooding over his ex-

ROOSEVELT SHOCKED.

Special to the Review.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—His D. Spreckels today received the following telegram from President Roosevelt: "I am inexpressibly shocked at the attempted assassination of Mr. Henev. I earnestly hope he will recover. The infamous character of the would-be assassin is no less than the infamous character of the deed. It calls attention to a very tragic way to the true character of the forces against which Mr. Henev, yourself and your associates are battling."

on the sidewalk, there was still a large crowd in the ante-room.

Mr. Henev was leaning over on his table, conversing in low tones with Al McCabe, chief clerk of the District Attorney's office. Directly in front of him was James L. Gallagher, the witness, and a newspaper representative had just walked to Mr. Henev's table and was standing at his left elbow, waiting for an opportunity to speak to him, when a small man, neatly attired and having a decidedly Jewish cast of countenance, approached the assistant district attorney from behind in quick steps, but with deliberation.

Suddenly his right hand shot out and, before the newspaperman, Mr. McCabe or John Foley, Mr. Henev's special bodyguard, sitting about eight feet away, could make a move, there was a flash and a loud report rang through the courtroom.

For a moment everybody seemed stunned and paralyzed. The would-be assassin, whose revolver was with him in a foot and a half of Mr. Henev's head when he pulled the trigger, stepped back, his arms by his side, one hand still clutching the smoking pistol, as if hesitating what to do. Before the assassin could raise his pistol again Mr. Foley and E. J. Wislitchill, a special policeman, were upon him, had thrown him to the floor and wrested the weapon from his grasp.

Raef's automobile stood in front of the building and he immediately ordered his chauffeur to get the nearest physician.

The report of the attempted assassination spread throughout the city like wildfire and caused intense excitement and indignation.

Raef Outfit Bewails.
In a corner of the courthouse Mr. Aeb and Mr. Dozier, Raef's counsel, were in the chambers of Judge Lawlor.

"My God," exclaimed Mr. Aeb, "I wish I had never taken a criminal case in my life. I will never take another when I get out of this one. This is a dastardly outrage. I cannot express myself in strong enough terms. Mr. Henev did not denounce this man Haas, if he is the one who did the shooting. In pursuance of his duty he disclosed the fact, during the other trial of Mr. Raef, that Haas was an ex-convict and as such had him dismissed from the jury box. I sincerely hope that Mr. Henev will recover."

Mr. Dozier also regretted that he was engaged in a criminal case after having several times made a resolution that he would not again take one.

"It's getting to be a pretty state of affairs when a man engaged in the performance of his duty is shot down in an open courtroom," he said. "It was a dastardly act, an outrageous deed."

Raef denounced the attempted assassination most vehemently.

"I cannot find language strong enough to denounce the attempt to kill Mr. Henev."

Raef Sheltered in Jail.
As soon as a semblance of order was restored, the court ordered Raef, who has been at liberty on bonds aggregating $1,500,000, into the custody of the sheriff and he was soon afterward taken to the county jail.

The action of Judge Lawlor in ordering Raef into custody was taken, it is said, not so much for fear that he would endeavor to flee as for his own safety from possible mob violence. Evidently fearing that some demonstration might be made against the would-be assassin, the police removed him tonight from the city prison.

Henev's Declaration.
"I'll live to prosecute that man," declared Mr. Henev on the operating table at the Central Emergency hospital, while the surgeons were probing his wound. The wounded man was entirely conscious and grittily endured the ordeal.

Motive for Haas' Crime.
Haas was convicted of embezzlements in San Bernardino county, and on May 25, 1888, was sentenced to three years and eight months, having earned four months by good behavior, and was released January 25, 1890. Some years later he was married, and has a wife and four children. He lived with his family at 1848 McAllister street, and was engaged in the saloon business at the time he was drawn on the jury panel for the second trial of Raef last May. After he had been passed by both sides, Mr. Henev learned that he was an ex-convict. He dramatically confronted Haas with his picture in convict stripes, closely-cropped hair and number across his breast. Haas was forced to admit his penitentiary record and was immediately discharged from the jury. From his statement it appears that he has been brooding over his ex-posure ever since that day, and has nursed a deep hatred for Mr. Henev, which culminated in today's tragedy.

Henev and His Work.
The Portland Oregonian says, editorially:

"That Henev has done, on the whole, a good and great work. The Oregonian fully believes. That in some of his methods he was not judicious and wise, is conceded. Yet it remains that Henev has done a great work."

"One principle of human nature he has antagonized, which has rendered his work unpopular. He has used certain malfeasors for conviction of others. Now it is a common thought that this is wrong. It is said that Henev has pushed certain men to extremity, who were no worse than those whose acts and crimes he has condemned."

Therefore it is argued that, since all can't be punished, none should be. The Oregonian does not agree with this reasoning or with its conclusion.

Henev, we have thought, has not always done his work judiciously, but society has a right to use all possible means for conviction and punishment of those who rob and oppress it. It has a right to grant immunity to some, for their testimony against others, and to get at the proof against those who are robbing it, how it can.

Henev, then, has simply been a public servant, pursuing public thieves. The resistance he has met, even from those who should want public thieves punished, is amazing. The general ground of the opposition is expressed in the inquiry, "Why should this man be let off and that man punished?" Because legal testimony must be had or nobody will be punished, and the inquiry will go on forever; and besides, society must always use, as it has a right to use, the lesser criminals for conviction of the greater, so as to break up the system.

Whether anybody has liked Henev or not is nothing to the purpose. He has been breaking up rings of thieves in California and Oregon, and has done some mighty good work. The personality of Henev is no more than an incidental factor. He has put a stop to a mighty deal of wrongdoing. Only by indefatigable pursuit of the principals in it could this be done. Their satellites have been likely to murder him at any time. No man could stand in his place without taking that risk. In the case of Henev, during years past, many have thought of it.

TO CITY OF MEXICO.
Announcement of Special Limited Pullman Train Excursion.

On December 12 and 13 the Southern Pacific Company will sell round-trip excursion tickets to the City of Mexico, December 15, 1908, a magnificent Pullman train, consisting of Pullman vestibule sleepers, observation sleeper, buffet smoking cars and dining car will leave San Francisco, California, Third and Townsend street depot for Mexico City, via Coast Line of Southern Pacific. Fare from Roseburg for round trip $97.35. Return trip from El Paso can be made via the Santa Fe route or Southern Pacific, as the passenger may desire. Holders of excursion tickets may obtain a round trip ticket reading from Williams to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado and return for $6.50. For further information inquire of L. B. Moore, agent S. P. Co., Roseburg, Or.; Mr. E. Peil, of Ashland, Ore.; or, if desired, Mr. W. H. Jenkins, Traveling Passenger Agent, S. P. Co., will be glad to call.

DSW

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES.
Baptist, Rev. E. H. Hicks, pastor.—Morning sermon at 11 o'clock, subject: "God or Mammon?" Evening sermon at 7:30 p. m., subject: "Light Bearers." Bible school at 10 a. m.; B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 p. m.; Johnnie Parks, leader. Special music. Everyone cordially invited. At 3 o'clock p. m., Rev. S. G. Betts, the "Cowboy Preacher," will speak on "The Work of the Holy Spirit."

Methodist Episcopal, Rev. J. K. Hawkins, pastor.—Preaching at 11 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. Morning sermon: "A Call to a Clean Life." Evening sermon: "A Gentleman in Overalls." Live services, happy congregational singing; a home-like church, to which all are welcome.

Episcopal—Archdeacon Chambers, of Portland, will conduct regular services both morning and evening.

SPECIAL—Rev. J. K. Hawkins will preach at the Soldiers' Home at 3 p. m., subject: "The Guard House." Special music. All are welcome.

Colds and Croup in Children.
"My little girl is subject to colds," says Mrs. Wm. H. Serg. No. 41 Fifth St., Wheeling, W. Va. "Last winter she had a severe spell and a terrible cough, but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented many times from having the croup by the timely use of this syrup." This remedy is for sale by Hamilton Drug Co.

MA-JHEE,
CASS-MATTOON—In Roseburg, Nov. 14, 1908, C. R. Cass and Lottie Mattoon, both of Drain; Judge G. W. Wagoner, officiating.

KAISER THE BOSS

Not For Reichstag to Dictate— Von Buelow Resigns

CONNELLY STILL AT LARGE

La Grande Elopeur Eludes Police—War Corres. o'dent Has Dream That Eclipses Hobson's

Special to the Evening Review.

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 14.—"Despite everything, I shall go on my way as I see fit. It is not for the Reichstag to dictate; it is for me to decide what is best for the Fatherland," are the words alleged to have been spoken by the Kaiser to a group of courtiers at Eschingen, where the Emperor is a guest today. All Germany is awaiting today the Kaiser's acceptance of Chancellor Von Buelow's resignation, which, it is understood, will be presented at Kiel next Monday.

Conley Still at Large.
PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 14.—A. B. Connelly, the La Grande wheat king and banker, who eloped with Gertrude Williams, aged 16, from La Grande, a week ago, has not yet been apprehended, although authorities in every town in the Willamette Valley have been looking for him. The train on which he left Portland on Thursday night was searched at various places in vain.

Another Firebrand.
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—War, devastating and terrible and probably lasting a century, between America and Japan, is declared to be inevitable by General Viscount Torio, one of Japan's eldest statesmen, in an interview with Richard Berry, a war correspondent, which is published today in Hampton's Broadway Magazine.

Czar's Uncle Dead.
PARIS, Nov. 14.—Grand Duke Alexis, uncle of the Czar of Russia, died here today.

Metcalf Resigns.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Informed by his physicians that it would be necessary for him to take a complete rest for two months, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf handed his resignation to the President today, and Assistant Secretary Newberry was appointed Secretary.

There has been some talk about friction between Mr. Metcalf and Mr. Newberry, whose ambition to become head of the department has been well understood. It was said that Mr. Newberry had taken advantage of every opportunity during the temporary absence of the secretary, and that the latter was annoyed when he was in that manner committed to policies which he did not approve. This is gossip which no one seems ready to substantiate, and in official circles it is glibly denied. As an instance of Mr. Newberry's readiness to exercise authority, it is remarked that yesterday he accepted a bid for the battleship Utah, and promulgated an order relieving marines from duty on shipboard.

COFFEE
Why doesn't your grocer moneyback everything? Can't get the goods or the money.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like his goods. We guarantee.

OFFICERS.
J. W. Hamilton, President.
A. C. Marsters, Cashier.
J. F. Barker, Vice President.
W. T. Wright, Asst. Cashier.

DIRECTORS.
J. W. Hamilton
W. T. Wright,
N. Rice,
J. O. Newland,
J. F. Barker,
I. Abraham,
S. C. Bartrum,
Chas. W. Parks,
A. C. Marsters.

THE
ROSEBURG NATIONAL BANK

Established 1908.
CAPITAL, - $50,000.00

Safety Deposit boxes for rent. By the year $2.00, or will rent by the month.
Our conservative management offers substantial advantages to present and prospective patrons. We are prepared to handle all business entrusted to us accurately and expeditiously.

BIG TIMBER DEAL.

Cobb Real Estate Co. Sells Its North Umpqua Holdings.
The Cobb Real Estate Co., of this city, today sold its timber holdings on the North Umpqua river to John Ferry of New York City, for $30,000 cash—the biggest cash deal to be made in Douglas county for some time. The land lies in township 26-2, and consists of 881 acres, all Douglas fir. The buyer is a speculator, hence there is little prospect of a saw-mill project while the land is in his hands.

YOUNG COUPLE ELOPE.

Howard Weichlein, aged about 20 years, and Miss Cora Peasley, aged about 19, suddenly departed from Roseburg on Thursday night's train and went to Vancouver, Wash., where they are supposed to have been married, a license having been issued there this morning. Weichlein is a son of the late W. E. Weichlein, a locomotive engineer, who was killed in a wreck near Comstock two or three years ago. The attachment existing between the young couple has been known for some time, but the young man's mother objected to his marriage, largely perhaps on account of his age. A few months since he quit work in the S. P. Co.'s yards in this city and went to Spokane. Thence he went to California and later came back to Roseburg. Elopement, as noted above, followed. This afternoon, his mother said she had not ceased to protest against the marriage, but now that it had occurred she could only give them her blessing.

COME TO OAKLAND FOR BUSINESS TRAINING

Polytechnic Business College and School of Engineering.

306 12th Street, Oakland, Calif., offers by far the best facilities ever provided in the West for high-grade business training. This large institution is like a series of large business offices where students are trained in actual business practice. Every graduate of the complete business course of this College is employed. Pleasant, home-like places in private families, for young men and women, are reserved, practically at cost.

Courses in Business Training, Short-hand and Typewriting, Telegraphy, also Civil, Electrical, Mechanical and Mining Engineering. FREE College Journal and one doz. Cards with your name written thereon will be sent any one upon request.

BUREAUS.
See our well bureaus in both full size and Princess, also splendid line of rockers in all the up-to-date styles. Complete line of all styles of furniture, carpets and rugs.

I. W. STRONG,
The Furniture Man.

Dance!
At the ARMORY
Tonight!

Overcoat Weather

Say, Mr. Man—

If you've never experienced the pleasant warmth; the solid comfort; the pleasant consciousness of being well-dressed; the deep, thorough satisfaction—that comes of wearing one of our

Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats

it isn't too late to learn.

A pleasure to us to show them—
a pleasure to you to see them.

$18 to $25

Josephson's
ESTABLISHED 1877
SINCE 1877
WE'VE BEEN TREATING PEOPLE SQUARE
THE FOREMOST DRY GOODS ESTABLISHMENT OF SOUTHERN OREGON