Heney's Physicians Make Very Encouraging Report

VON BUELOW DOWNS KAISER

Ruef Trial Bears Military Aspect—Citizens' League Gains Strong Support For City

Special to the Evening Review. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—A statement issued by his physicians this morning says F. J. Heney passed a restful night and is much better than he was yesterday. He is expected to recover in about three weeks, but will probably not be able to resume his duties until about January 1st.

When the Ruef trial was resumed this morning, the same warlike or military aspect marked the surroundings. Ruef was driven to the court in a patrol wagon, guarded by five detectives and five mounted policemen. The crowds in the streets were kept moving and everyone who entered the courtroom was searched to see that no weapons were carried. Attorney Dozier, for Ruef, opened the proceedings by filing a supplementary affidavit supporting yesterday's for a change of venue. After a "verbal" Dozier allowed the affidavit to be read. It mainly covered the ground gone over since the close of court yesterday.

The Citizens' League of Justice has received today scores of replies to its call issued yesterday to rally to the support of law and order in the city, and financial, moral and physical support are pledged. The call asks citizens to aid in the establishment of a clean, honest press, and says an "honest dollar for honest city government will offset a thousand for its corruption. All must stand together."

Kaiser Accepts Handicap. KIEL, Nov. 17.—Kaiser William capitulated today in an interview with Chancellor Von Buelow and it is now understood that the Chancellor will retain his office, having promised not to resign. The Kaiser agreed to be more reserved hereafter and interfere less in both domestic and foreign affairs and be more guarded in his public and private utterances.

Suffragettes May Win. LONDON, Nov. 17.—A poll of the House of Commons, completed today, shows that 420 of the entire 670 members admitted that they are pledged to support the pending woman's suffrage bill if it should be brought to a final vote. Powerful influence will be brought to bear to keep the bill in the hands of the committee without being reported.

NEUHAUSEN A SURETY. Accommodates Man Against Whom He Had Gathered Evidence.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 16.—Thos. B. Neuhausen, who as a special agent for the Department of the Interior, was instrumental in gathering the evidence upon which a conviction has been secured in the case of the "Los Angeles conspiracy" to obtain 30,000 acres of government land in a fraudulent and felonious manner, has consented to become a bondsman for W. H. Smith, one of the defendants, who was last week found guilty by a jury and whose sentence was fixed by the court at a fine of $5000 and a term of two years in jail.

Mr. Neuhausen states that he has since resigned from the government service, and inasmuch as the bond now required is intended to cover an appeal to the Appellate Court of the United States, he sees no reason why he should not afford the defendant the opportunity of enjoying liberty in company with his wife and child until such time as the case may be definitely determined. He alleges that he has had no animosity toward the defendants in the performance of any official duties which have fallen to his lot as an investigator.

The bond is $10,000, of which Mr. Neuhausen assumes $2000.

REHEARING DENIED

State Wins Willamette Locks Case in Supreme Court

CREDIT TO CHAMBERLAIN

Jack La Rose, Gas-Pipe Thug, Sent to Prison for Life—Portland at 225,000 Mark

Special to the Evening Review. SALEM, Or., Nov. 16.—The interest of the State of Oregon in the Willamette River locks at Oregon City was sustained today, when the Supreme court denied the petition for a rehearing in the case of the State against the Portland General Electric Co., owner and operator of the locks. The interest of the state amounts to $200,000, which was appropriated by an Oregon legislature to defray one-half of the expense of building the locks.

The appropriation carried the agreement that the state school fund was to receive 10 per cent of the earnings of the locks as long as they were operated. This percentage was paid to the state the first year (1874) after operation, but never afterwards, the corporation owning the locks having transferred the utility to other parties, who contended that the y were not amenable to the contract entered into with the state by the former owners. In the lawsuit which resulted the state was victorious, the courts holding, in effect, that the agreement regarding a percentage of the earnings was more than a mere contract—it was a law and therefore could not be evaded by anyone.

The suit against the Portland General Electric Co. was brought in be-

GROWTH OF INSTITUTIONS

Calls For Increased Expenditures—Branch Insane Asylum—More Needed For Schools

By A. W. Prescott. SALEM, Or., Nov. 16.—It seems altogether probable that the appropriations for state purposes for the biennial period 1909-10 will pass the $3,000,000 mark. Though only a few of the state institutions and departments have made their reports recommending appropriations for the ensuing two years it is apparent that the increase in population of the state and the consequent increase in business at state departments makes a general increase necessary in almost every item of expense.

The crowded condition of the State Insane Asylum and the proportions that institution has attained, makes it necessary that a separate institution be provided and it is generally believed that an appropriation will be made for a branch asylum somewhere in eastern Oregon. The rapid increase in attendance at the Agricultural College and the certainty of a further increase in the future, requires larger appropriations for that institution, and as much will probably be needed as is now appropriated for the State University. The new laws requiring circulation of pamphlets in pursuance of the corrupt practices act, entails a heavy expense.

Need More Room in Capitol.

At the State Capitol the departments are now crowded for room and when this Legislature meets, it will be difficult to provide committee rooms. The only solution for this difficulty seems to be the purchase of a small tract adjoining the Capitol grounds where a separate heating station can be erected, with room there for the state printing office. This would give room for some eight additional offices in the Capitol.

There is a strong demand for the creation of an insurance department, a State Board of Control and for the enactment of a comprehensive water code with a provision for state administration. The state will be asked to help build a home for the Oregon Historical Society.

These items alone, in addition to the fixed current expenses of the state, will carry the total past the $2,000,000 mark. There is, also, a demand from eastern Oregon that scalp bounties be restored. As yet there has been strong for some time in favor of state aid for public road-building. The bill for erection of armories by the state will probably be renewed in another form, though defeated by the people last June. In some quarters there is an argument in favor of an appropriation for purchase of the Oregon City locks by the state without waiting for government aid. There will be renewal of the demand for a bureau of mines. Out of all these projects some appropriations are quite likely to be granted, the amount of which cannot even be estimated.

Some Necessary Expenses.

The charges to which the state seems very likely to be subject during the years 1909-10 are as follows:
Salaries of state officers and expenses at the capitol	$600,000
State prison, including transportation of convicts	120,000
Maintenance and improvements as asylum	55,000

Little Business Transacted at Council Meeting

SEWERS ABSORB MOST TIME

One Sweeping Remonstrance Turned Into Farce—Treasurer Fails to Get Increase

Two and one-half hours of talk was indulged in and a few minutes of actual business was transacted at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night. The most important item of business that came up was the second reading of the paving-bridge bond ordinance, which was given without comment. The third and final reading of the ordinance and its probable passage will occur at the next regular meeting of the council, Monday, Dec. 7. Thirty days later the proposed bond issue will be put up to the voters of the city for their rejection or ratification.

The first gab-fest was ushered in by the report of the license committee, consisting of Strong, Miceil and Josephson, calling attention to the fact that out of $1500 due the city this year in licenses, or "occupation tax," not more than one-third had been paid in. The committee recommended that the city treasurer, made the tax and license collecting officer of the city and that in consideration thereof his salary be increased from $200 to $300 per year. The report, further, dwelt on the loss in license money which the city sustained annually, and for this the present system, or rather lack of system, of collecting licenses was blamed.

Under the charter, it is the duty of the city treasurer to send out notices whenever license or tax is due. The treasurer has always performed his duty in sending out the notices, but only a small percentage of the license obligees have called on him to pay up. In the past it has been the custom for the marshal to make the rounds of the delinquents and collect the money. Of late, however, this has not been done, in consequence of which, unless arrests are made, the city faces the prospect of losing about $1000 in revenue this year.

The report of the committee on this matter was adopted without dissent, but when the proposition came up to authorize an ordinance raising the salary of the city treasurer the wordy jangle began. Long registered the first kick. He couldn't understand why the city should pay extra money to have licenses collected by the treasurer, when the charter provided for the arrest of licensees who do not call upon the treasurer, instead, and pay up. Mollen objected, too, on the ground that inasmuch as the treasurer had been elected under the present salary that he was entitled to no additional compensation. Fisher added a protest, saying he didn't have any faith in agreements and doubted whether the treasurer would collect the licenses if the council raised his salary. Mayor Hoover was inclined to favor the proposed raise, but he called attention to the fact that it was the duty of the license committee to keep a lookout for delinquents and order their arrest. Strong replied that as a member of such committee he would see that no delinquents escaped and that there "would be something doing," because he intended to see that the law was enforced. Strong stated, however, that he considered it good business policy to pay the treasurer $100 more a year if he could save the city ten times as much revenue. Miceil and Josephson lined up with Strong in support of the increased salary. The division of the council as a whole, however, was so marked that no effort was made to put the matter to a vote.

Sewer Remonstrances.

Six different sewer matters came up before the council in some form or other. In three cases, remonstrances were received to assessments. One of these, affecting the levy for the Fullerton Avenue sewer, costing $2461, was sweeping in form. The remonstrators, 22 in number, were represented by Attorney Albert Abraham. In their petition they stated that a considerable amount of property benefited by the sewer had been omitted; that certain property had been assessed too little and other property too much. Appended to the petition was a new schedule of assessment, recommended for adoption and pointed out as being more equitable than that established by the natural drain of the council. An individual remonstrance was received from E. I. Hewes, who explained that the natural drain of his land was in the opposite direction from the sewer and that he wished to make a connection with the sewer.

Referred to Committees.

COFFEE

The best name for coffee is one that tells where the money's to come from, if you don't like it.

Your grocer returns your money if you don't like Schilling's Best; we pay him.

One property owner, C. H. Moush, of Peel, objected to being assessed for the Brockway street sewer or he ground that his premises were so situated that he could not lay a downward connection. The council believed differently, however, and rejected the remonstrance. The assessment was then adopted.

The city attorney was ordered to draw up an ordinance authorizing the repair of the Mill-Pine street sewer at a cost not to exceed the city engineer's estimate of $295.

First and second readings were given an ordinance providing for the laying of a sewer on Douglas Street, from Pitzer to Chaire.

Mayor Decides Question.

The street committee asked for permission to have printed in circular form 200 copies of the new sidewalk ordinance to distribute as applied for by property owners. Some of the councilmen kicked on what they termed unnecessary expense, so a vote was taken, resulting as follows:

Ayes—Miceil, Round, Josephson Long and Strong.

Noes—Fisher, Patrick, Bellows, Chadwell and Mullen. The vote being a tie—5 to 5—it was up to Mayor Hoover to decide the matter, so he voted "aye."

Referred to Committees.

Kentucky Bank Closed, Assistant Cashier Missing—Gov. elect Cosgrove is Better

Special to the Evening Review. BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 17.—A terrible explosion occurred in the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co.'s mines near this city today, and, according to reports, scores of lives were lost. Six bodies have been recovered. A large number of miners were entombed and it is feared all will die before rescuers can reach them.

Death His Reward.

BIRMINGHAM, Nov. 17.—Emil Stricker was killed today while trying to break the world's record for 24 hours' continuous automobile driving. The big Renault car which he was driving was smashed and the driver was crushed into an unrecognizable mass.

"U. S." Still Sails.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 17.—The balloon United States is still hovering 45 miles east of here awaiting a favorable wind to carry it through Cajon Pass between the San Bernardino and Sierra Madre mountain ranges, into the Mojave desert and thence eastward. At San Bernardino a note was found saying the balloon had been as high as 10,000 feet without finding a favorable wind. All well on board.

Cashier Short; Bank Closed.

MONTICELLO, Ky., Nov. 17.—The Citizens' National Bank closed today and Cashier Chas. W. McConnally was arrested in connection with its suspension. Officers are seeking Assistant Cashier E. R. Winfrey, who is missing. The bank's shortage is $22,000, and the deposits were $80,000.

Cosgrove is Better.

PASO ROBLES, Nov. 17.—Gov. elect Cosgrove, of Washington, is rapidly improving and was able to walk today. Dr. Keyser, who was attending him, has gone home.

Duke Wants to Quit.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A Central News Agency's dispatch from Rome today says their correspondent has confirmed the report that the Duke of Abruzzi has cabled to Katherine Eklund breaking their engagement and releasing her from her promise to wed.
