The American Beet Sugar Association is not a bit backward in demanding that the sugar schedule of the tariff be revised upward, though it will probably be satisfied if it isn't lowered. And there are others—and a big bunch of them.

That Oregon is moving right along and was not in the least affected by the financial flurry is evidenced by the report of State Labor Commissioner Hoff, recently filed with the secretary of state. It shows that 272 new manufacturing plants were installed, with only 87 standing idle. The 272 new plants employ over three times as many men as those idle, and the great majority of the idle plants will start in operation shortly—Guard.

MAKES FIRM STATEMENT.

Geo. Jones, Jr., Writes a Strong Letter to Portland Journal.

ROSEBURG, Or., Nov. 12.—To the Editor of The Journal:—As a duly elected member of what is to be the Twenty-fifth assembly of the Oregon legislature, I beg leave to express through your columns my sentiments in regard to what the Oregonian dubs "A burning question," as to whether or not George E. Chamberlain shall be our next United States senator, and further to resent a number of things made at the majority of that body who signed Statement No. 1 among whom I am proud to be classed as a member.

I ask space in your columns not because I agree with you in all of your political views, but because I consider The Journal the only metropolitan daily newspaper in Oregon of extensive circulation that will give the plain people a square deal in this matter.

According to The Oregonian and its accessory, The Dalles Optimist, the man who was elected to the legislative office on Statement No. 1 is indeed in a bad hole. To hear them tell he is down on his knees with his hands tied and no room to rise, with a poisoned pickle between his teeth and his eyes lifted to heaven in one plaintive wail for help. Our dilemma to voice them is an appeal to all Christian nations to look with benevolent mercy on such hopeless objects of pity.

But let us see. Has Harvey Scott, your esteemed contemporary and the editor of that great and good morning paper, the Oregonian, the only (?) paper or the Pacific coast that was planted in the soil of civic virtue and received its evening showers from the fountain of justice, hugged morning glory? I say, has Harvey Scott any interest in this matter other than to give the people of Oregon a little light or matters as they stand, from the standpoint of a disinterested party?

Let us hold him up to the sky for a moment and dissect his motives. Did Harvey Scott ever try to be elected a senator from Oregon? We believe he did. And how? By buying it.

If he did not, why does he not sue Lincoln Steffens for libel? Steffens who is one of the most noted and reliable writers of the present day or topics high in the public eye, says he did, and that he offered $25,000 and the federal patronage of the Oregonian to attain his object.

Of course Mr. Scott denies it merely, but this is only the first impulse of the guilty. Any small boy caught stealing melons or apples would say the same thing. Why does he not sue? Is it because he loves his enemies and is willing that they should put him through much tribulation? In other words, does he mean to kill them with kindness, or is it because the necessary proceedings that would follow a suit for libel against Mr. Steffens would only expose and bring to light the very acts on the part of Mr. Scott that Mr. Steffens accuses him of?

At any rate they are raising a great howl against the people's choice for senator in an evident endeavor to pull off a few weak-kneed statement men and defeat the will of the people.

The Oregonian's recent editorial on the six stages of how we attained the will of the people sounds childish, and if his quoted definition of patriotism as the last resort of a second-rate man were true, it might show Mr. Scott to be a very patriotic man.

And then our friend from The Dalles in his optimistic mood pours oil on the troubled waters. The different methods he suggests for a Statement No. 1 man to evade his pledge and betray his state and country would make poor old Benedict Arnold blush with shame, and the man who would get sick or be bribed to leave the country on a proposition of this kind had better make himself scarce forever after.

Senator Abraham and myself are the two members who signed the statement from Douglas county, and did we meditate anything of the kind we would expect from the people here nothing less than a coat of tar and feathers and a limited time to get out of the country, and judging from reports from other parts of the state nobody else would fare any better.

Then why are these fantastic periodicals urging the members, Republican and Democrat, to down Chamberlain, and quoting the supreme court of North Dakota? What do we care about the supreme court of North Dakota? Haven't we got a supreme court in Oregon just as good as theirs?

Besides, what man in Oregon, be he ever so popular, can honorably take the field? Can Fulton do it? According to the Oregonian he has stated that he will put up all the fight he can. He did that in the primary and was defeated, and had he been successful in the primary and then lost out in the June election would he have had the gall to have made a fight in the legislature? His being a candidate now would amount to the same thing, and for that reason we defy Senator Fulton to stick his hand in.

Then, who has this famous Sellwood republican club got to spring? Of course there are lots of good and honorable men in Oregon who are worthy of this high office, out like Judge Lowell, they have too high a sense of honor to attempt to reach it across a field of broken pledges that would bring our state into disgrace and dishonor in the eyes of the world.

We have the banner system in the country today in the way of reform politics, and nearly the whole United States are clamoring for what we have, regardless of what the Oregonians may say, and what is more, we are going to keep it with a little improvement on it. Meanwhile let the coyotes howl! the sheep are in the fold. GEORGE JONES.

BOOSTING PAYS BIG.

Medford Dealers Have Sold $1,500,000 Worth of Property.

Since the first of January the sales of orchard lands and farm property made through the agency of Medford people has reached the tidy sum of $1,500,000, says the Medford Mail. This does not include sales of city property, which would increase the aggregate sum between $100,000 and $200,000.

In this estimate, which was made yesterday by a number of prominent real estate men, who had met casually and naturally got to "talking shop," and includes only property in a radius of twelve miles of this city. It does not include sales by other than parties living in Medford. There have been sales, of course, made by real estate men in other towns, but these are not included.

During the year 1908, up to the present writing nearly every large orchard in this radius has changed hands, the two exceptions being the Burrell and the Hopkins orchards. In every case the price has been a substantial advance over that originally paid. One case of how values increase is shown in the sales of the Glasgow & English orchard near Central Point. H. C. Garnett and W. M. Holmes purchased it the first of the year for $10,000. They sold it in a short time to Glasgow & English for $15,000 and recently it has been sold again for $20,000. An increase in value of 100 per cent in less than a year.

This is not the only instance of greatly increased values in orchard lands. There are lots more of them. One place near Talent—the Brockman place—was sold originally for $4500, resold for $7500, and the present owner has been offered $8,000, but refused to sell.

In 1907 the aggregate sales were a little over $500,000, just about one-third what they have been to date this year. It is that for growth in volume of business? If all of us could increase our business by returns 300 per cent in a year, we would be doing pretty well, thank you.

The banner sale for bearing orchards was that of the Lewis, which brought $160,000. Dr. Pickel's 401 orchard, not yet in bearing, comes next at $110,000. The famous Hillcrest, Perkins' orchard, sold for $78,000.

The Bybee river ranch brought $37,000 cash. This farm is what might be termed undeveloped. The Patterson ranch, near Talent, was purchased by Dr. Page a few months ago for $52,600, and Dr. Page has since been offered $80,000, but declined to sell.

Mr. Randall and his associates, who purchased the Pellett orchard, paying $60,000 therefor, have added

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until today we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce believes that our American forests abound in most valuable medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases. If we would properly investigate them, and in justification of this conviction, he points with pride to the almost marvelous cures effected by his Golden Medical Discovery, which has proven itself to be the most efficacious stomach, liver, intestinal, heart, tonic, and regulator and blood purifier known in medical science. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, is a simple, effective, and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action. The reason why it cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. L. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all reading request for the same.

Not less marvelous in the unparalleled cure it is constantly making of woman's most peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of the most reliable testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of all kinds of female troubles, irregularities, prostrations and other ailments caused by weakness, over-exhaustion, and general debility. It offers relief from all these troubles, and offers a cure for all ailments of women, and is a most valuable medicine, and is a most valuable medicine, and is a most valuable medicine.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried out by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances of their own design and built for the purpose. They are not made up of any of the cheap, adulterated, and harmful, habit-forming drugs, and all the other ingredients are of the highest quality.

to their holdings until now their investments total in the neighborhood of $100,000.

Kiser Bros. have invested over $35,000 in Rogue river valley lands this year, part of it in orchard, and will plant trees on other portions of it.

The high water mark per acre was reached in the sale of J. E. Wall's 20-acre tract near this city for $325—$16,500 in all.

OREGON SHEEP SCAB-FREE.

Treatment of Douglas and Lake Flocks Closes Campaign.

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 16.—For two weeks 11 inspectors under the direction of Dr. S. W. McClure, of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, have been searching the flocks of Oregon for trace of scabies or other sheep diseases, but so far they have not been successful. This shows that the campaign of eradication which was inaugurated less than two years ago was entirely satisfactory.

Though not a single diseased sheep has been found so far, the work of inspection will be continued until every band in the state has been subjected to an examination. It is now believed, however, that no scabby sheep will be found, though early in the summer there were a few isolated cases in Lake and Douglas counties. These were treated as soon as discovered.

Though Oregon sheep were probably the worst infested with scabies of any state in the union two years ago, Dr. McClure stated at that time that he would clean up the sheep of the state within two years and this inspection seems to indicate that he has kept his promise.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

Now is the time to spray orchards, especially apple trees that are affected with Dead Spot (Anthraxnose). The fall rains have freed the spores that form on the outside of the dead spot and they germinate during this month. The sulphur and lime solution, if properly applied, will prevent the spread of this pest. Also the fall is the best time to spray for San Jose scale, many of which are but thinly coated at this time of the year.

Trees should be dry when spray is applied and if thirty minutes is allowed for spray to dry on the trees before a rain it will remain all winter.

Spray now; do not wait for the rainy, blustery weather of March and April.
