

Portland Journal: San Francisco should stand against at her shame. The attempted assassination of Mr. Heney, committed within the sacred precincts of public court room, is the crime of the decade. That city was controlled by one of the worst bosses known to history. In collusion with a thieving mayor, he trafficked in every public interest that could be turned into money. He had a price on the prerogatives of the mayor and the votes of the alderman, and hawked them about to all comers who had the figure. The corruption of the gang is known and confessed. The world understands it, and on one occasion the arch boss himself pleaded guilty to it. It is a shamelessness about which there is no doubt, and yet the half of San Francisco has been in open revolt against a just punishment of the guilty.

Devoted with a steadfastness of purpose in the exposure and punishment of this infamy was Francis J. Heney. He has been the figure around whom surged one of the bitterest controversies of any time or any place, with the forces of the law on one side and the forces of disorder and graft on the other. The opposition to the prosecution was given standing by the money of its guilty and by the social position of the sympathizers that wealth attracts to wealth. That opposition of such character could be aroused against prosecution of the guilty seems incredible, but that is what has happened in San Francisco. With law and the lawful battling against out-lawry, the city has been torn until its social and civic life is in tatters. The shameful spectacle has been presented of courts defied, prosecution persecuted and the process of justice brought to a position of impotence.

Leader in the battle for decency and good government, Mr. Heney was the target of invective, anathema and abuse. It was a condition so atrocious as to shock and shame society and of infinite odium to the civic life of the California metropolises. Added now to the kidglove lawlessness is the pistol shot in a court room, with Mr. Heney the victim of the assailant. The affair is the more monstrous in that the assailant's act is due more to the fermented atmosphere about him than to any personal purpose of his own, where the attitude of those who contrive against justice is responsible for the crime. A situation more shocking and an act more atrocious has scarcely been recorded in the annals of American life. If she has not known before, San Francisco should now know that it is time for her to have a house cleaning and not to stop until every part of the place has been put in complete order.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY.

Governor Chamberlain Issues Annual Proclamation.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 17.—Governor Chamberlain today issued the following:

In pursuance of a time-honored custom, the president of the United States has set apart Thursday, the 24th day of November, A. D. 1908, as a day of national thanksgiving.

Therefore, I, George E. Chamberlain, as governor of the state of Oregon, do proclaim said day as a legal holiday and recommend its general observance as one of thanksgiving.

The people of this commonwealth have much to be thankful for. We are prosperous and happy, and the hills which have in the past afflicted some of our sister states have passed us by. A beneficent Providence has given us a fertile soil and a delightful and healthful climate. Our very mountains, besides furnishing a landscape unrivaled for scenic beauty and grandeur, are clad perennially with an abundance of splendid forest and bear within their bosoms a wealth of mine and mineral. The semi-arid regions are being made to bloom and blossom as the rose and are furnishing homes to thousands of sturdy men and women.

All these are the things that make for a better and higher civilization and promise ever brighter hopes for a greater Oregon.

Let us therefore suitably observe the day set apart and repair to our usual places of worship, there to render thanks to the All-Wise Ruler of the universe for the manifold blessings we enjoy.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Oregon to be hereunto affixed, this sixteenth day of November, 1908.

GEO. E. CHAMBERLAIN, Governor.

Attest: F. W. BENSON, Secretary of State.

OREGON WOMEN WHO TOIL.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 17.—According to statistics compiled by Labor Commissioner Hoff, there are about 25,000 women in the state who earn a living from toil in different capacities. Among the characters of labor are: Bakers, 35; bank employees, 15; blacksmiths, 1; carpenters, 5; electricians, 4; engineers and surveyors, 4; farm laborers, 15; hunters, trappers and guides, 25; lawyers, 10; lumbermen, 5; painters, 3; plumbers, 2; sailors, 2; teamsters, 6; woodcutters, 3.

EVERYBODY WILL BENEFIT.

Stores Will All Close For Good Roads Convention, Friday.

Evidently Roseburg is to make it unanimous when it comes to boosting for good roads on Friday afternoon, Nov. 20. Everybody now realizes that our greatest need is good roads, and that the way to get them is to go to work and build. Good roads are a public necessity and a united effort is needed when it comes to building them. This general good roads movement has been sweeping over the country for the past two or three years and is being taken up by nearly every state. How important this matter is may well be shown by the fact that two years ago the state of New York alone appropriated $50,000,000 for the purpose of building good roads. Pennsylvania is also spending millions on road building. Southern California counties, not being willing to wait for state action, are spending two or three million dollars on an extended system of good roads. Oregon is preparing to go in line and the coming session of the legislature will doubtless take some definite action on this matter. This, however, will only be supplemental to the work to be done by the counties as the state fund will probably only be applied where the county puts up a sum equal to that supplied by the state. Action by counties is therefore the important thing here. Consequently every citizen is urged to attend the big good roads convention in Roseburg next Friday afternoon and help to formulate the plans for a general system of good roads building in Douglas county. Don't wait for someone else. Your ideas may be just what should be put into practice. In order to give this movement all the active impetus possible the business people of Roseburg have unanimously agreed to close their places of business for two hours next Friday afternoon so everyone may attend this good roads convention. Following is a copy of their agreement, with the signatures attached.

Everybody Will Attend.

We, the undersigned business men of Roseburg, Oregon, hereby agree to close our respective places of business on Friday afternoon, Nov. 20, between the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, for the purpose of attending the Good Roads meeting to be held in the Court House at that time.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-founded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits, and made them remedies of known composition.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the closest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, biliousness and all catarrhal diseases, wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, containing very important extracts from the writings of leading authorities of medicine, emphasizing the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be sent to any one sending address on postal card or letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and reciting the name. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral poisons, or other poisonous or injurious agents, and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value, also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Root." Our knowledge of the use of a few of our most valuable native medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, efficient remedy for all the womanly functions, correcting all irregularities, promoting and restoring the normal periods, holding in the body and bringing about a perfect state of health.

ROBIN BUSY AGAIN.

Prohibit Sleuths Round up DiveKeepers of Klamath Falls.

KLAMATH FALLS, Or., Nov. 17.—The grand jury for Klamath County, which will meet in this city in the early part of December, will have a busy session. Through the efforts of Fred Robin, a Portland detective, 12 men have been arrested during the past few days for violating the local option law. Mr. Robin has been at work about two weeks and came here at the instance of the Prohibition forces. It is said that still further arrests will be made, and that most of the defendants will be charged with a number of infringements of the prohibition law, so that the grand jury can find several indictments against each individual, and by so doing prevent any getting off with a light fine. Conditions have been lawless in Klamath Falls since prohibition went into effect, but indications now are that prohibition is to be given a fair trial. The movement to rid the city of the dives that have existed for more than five months is backed by the best citizens. CONDON AGAIN WET.

CONDON, Or., Nov. 17.—As a result of the five licenses granted to saloons in this city last evening, Condon is wet today and local option is a thing of the past. The five saloons have opened with strict restrictions. There are to close at 1 a. m. and all day Sunday. The saloon men made no protest on the raise of licenses to $1000 per year. Before local option the license was only $600, but these five are to be protected, as no other saloons will be allowed to be established. It is rumored that a prominent attorney will endeavor to keep the saloons from running to fulfill a promise made to local option people during the June elections. Condon was virtually awarded the right to regulate its own saloons by the recent Medford decision.
