WRANGLE IN COURT

Judge Lawlor Obligated to Call Down Attorneys

HAAS CASE INQUEST BEGUN

Defaulting Cashier Resigned to Fate—Soft Headed Youth Suicides in Wife's Finery

Special to the Evening Review.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Bitter personalities between Attorney Ach and the attorneys for the prosecution marked the resumption of the Ruef trial today. The wrangle was cut short, however, by Judge Lawlor, who declared that he would take measures to prevent recurrence of the incident. The quarrel arose over questions propounded to James Gallagher, chief of the boodling board of supervisors, now star witness for the state, relative to the details of the signing of an immunity contract between Rudolf Spreckles and members of the boodling board.

The coroner's inquest to fix responsibility for the suicide of Morris Haas, who shot Honey, was begun today. It is the theory of Detective Burns that the derring-doe with which Haas shot and killed himself was secreted in his shoe when he was locked up in jail.

Honey's condition continues to improve.

Cashier Penitent.
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—Geo. W. Hopkins, defaulting cashier of the State Savings and Commercial Bank, of this city, was today formally charged with embezzlement. He says he will take his medicine. Hopkins' shortage amounts to $20,000.

Suicides in Wife's Robes.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 19.—

Dependent because of his inability to buy jewelry for the girl he married two months ago. Gordon Kyle, aged 24 years, committed suicide here today in a spectacular manner. Dressing himself in his bride's party clothes, except her shoes and hat, he made a noose of two of her hair ribbons and strangled himself from a bed post.

Electric Co. to Appeal.
SALEM, Or., Nov. 19.—Attorney General Crawford was notified today that the Portland General Electric Company will appeal to the United States Supreme Court from the decision of the Oregon Supreme Court in the case wherein the electric company was held obligated to pay into the state school fund 10 per cent of the gross earnings on the Oregon City locks. The state will resist the appeal on the ground that the higher court has no jurisdiction.

STALEY NOT SUSTAINED.
Southern Pacific Valuation Stays at $30,000 Per Mile.

County Assessor G. W. Staley's valuation of $44,250 per mile upon the road bed and rolling stock of the Southern Pacific Railway in Douglas County for 1908 was not sustained by his two fellow members of the Board of Equalization at a session held this morning. County Judge G. W. Wagoner and County Clerk E. H. Lenox, who are the other two members of the board, voted for the railroad company's valuation to remain at $30,000, for which it was assessed in 1907. Mr. Staley standing by his original figure, voted for an increase of $14,250 per mile. As the majority of the board rules, however, the assessment of the Southern Pacific will therefore stand at $30,000.

The board will probably complete its labors for the term by this evening. All of the petitions of lesser importance have been acted upon, but they are still to decide upon the applications for decreased assessment from three large concerns, the Elk Creek Lumber Company, the Gardiner Mill Company and the Pacific States Telephone and Telegraph Company.

S. P. Vote Explained.
In voting to increase the Southern Pacific assessment to $44,250 per mile, Mr. Staley explained that he did not consider such a figure too high in view of the fact that the schedule filed by the railroad company with the state railroad commission placed the cost of the road at $59,000 per mile. Judge Wagoner contended, however, that this figure did not represent the original cost of the road per mile, but that part of the amount represented what had been expended in maintenance and repairs. Furthermore, he said, most of the assessors of the western part of the state had come to the agreement that $30,000 is about as near the actual cost and value of the road per mile as could be determined. The assessors of Clackamas, Marion, Linn, Lane and Josephine counties have assessed the Southern Pacific at $30,000 per mile. In Jackson county it is even less, while in Multnomah it is only $20,000 more. Mr. Lenox' views on the matter are practically the same as those of Judge Wagoner. They believe that placing the assessment at $44,250 per mile in this county would result in long and expensive litigation, since no other county's assessment is anywhere near that figure.

PARROTT POSITIVE

Identifies "Clark" as Summers, of Throckmorton

STORY TOLD WITHOUT HITCH

Swears Also "Wife" at Gardiner Not One He Knew in Texas—Father and Officer Enroute

The iron grip of the law fastened itself more securely around Rev. George "Clark" of Gardiner, in Justice Long's court this morning, when Jack Parrott, a recent arrival at Gardiner, positively and emphatically identified the minister as Rev. George C. Summers, who is wanted at Throckmorton, Texas, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. With equal positiveness, Parrott declared the woman with whom the minister was living at Gardiner and the mother of two children is an acquaintance of his boyhood days and not the woman and mother of three children whom he knew as Summers' wife in Throckmorton, where he, himself, lived for many years before coming to Oregon.

"It is impossible for the Almighty God to make two different men exactly like Rev. Summers," declared Parrott, on the witness stand; "and it is more impossible in the case of the woman at Gardiner whom he calls his wife." Besides Parrott's statement, there was introduced in evidence a periodical published by a Des Moines detective bureau, containing a picture of the accused man, together with a personal description that tallied to the most minute detail. The article said, however, that Summers was wanted on two charges, instead of one charge, of obtaining money under false pretenses, and that he would probably be accompanied by a blonde woman. The "Mrs. Clark" at Gardiner is a blonde.

District Attorney Brown also introduced in evidence a telegram stating that the sheriff of Throckmorton county, Texas, J. C. Sherlock, was now enroute to Salem, Oregon, armed with requisition papers. He is accompanied by Judge Massey, also of Throckmorton, whom Parrott says is the father of the woman living with the minister at Gardiner. The two men are expected to reach Roseburg next Sunday. In order to get their testimony, Justice Long continued the examination over until Monday.

Parrott's Story.
Parrott stated that he was employed by the Gardiner Mill Company, although he claimed Throckmorton as his home. He said he first met Rev. Summers in Throckmorton in the fall of 1902, and that on numerous occasions afterwards he had either heard him preach or engaged with him in personal conversation. His first meeting with the minister occurred at the house of his (Parrott's) uncle, whose wife, he said, is a sister of the woman living with "Clark" at Gardiner. This woman at Gardiner, Parrott said, he has known since he was 8 years of age. Her maiden name is Bessie Massey. A church at Gardiner one evening Parrott said he saw Summers and instantly recognized him. The minister evidently recognized Parrott, too, because, at the witness testified, he stared at him constantly throughout the service.

"When I heard his voice in prayer," declared Parrott, "I heard the same voice that I knew at Throckmorton. When I saw his walk and met that peculiar look in his eyes, then I was sure he was the man. It is impossible for me to be mistaken. His so-called wife I recognized as quickly as I did him, and she is not the woman that I knew as his wife in Texas. In that state he had three children, the ages ranging from 21 to 3 years; at Gardiner he has three children, one 3 years of age and the other about one-half as old."

Parrott then went into details about his correspondence with his uncle in Texas, which led up to the telegram to Sheriff Fenton for the minister's arrest. On cross-examination by Attorney Cardwell his story did not vary in the slightest particular.

He denied that he was actuated in this case by the reward of $200 offered for the minister, and in response to one question said that he knew of no Rev. Summers while in Texas other than the man now on trial. Parrott's demeanor while on the stand was one of absolute confidence, and he told his story without a hitch. The effect of his damning statements was not apparent on the defendant at first, but as his testimony progressed gradually the accused man became very nervous and seemed relieved when the ordeal was over.

Before continuing the hearing, Justice Long ruled on the copy of the Throckmorton indictment, to which objection was made by Attorney Moseley, of the defense. Wednesday, on the ground that it should bear the certificate of the Governor of Texas in order to make it admissible as evidence. The court denied the objection, holding that whatever is admissible as evidence in a state court is also admissible at a preliminary examination.

FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS.

Institution Being Established Every Other Day in United States.

Every other day sees a sanatorium, association or dispensary for the treatment or prevention of tuberculosis established in this country, is a statement issued today by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. During the months of September and October, 16 associations, 10 sanatoria, and 5 dispensaries were started or provided for in the United States, making a record of achievement in anti-tuberculosis activity never before equalled in any country of the world. The stimulus for this wave of philanthropic endeavor has been derived largely from the recent International Congress of Tuberculosis.

From one end of the country to the other, men and women of all ranks and classes, are rising up to fight in the battle against tuberculosis. Including the recently formed societies, there are at the present time 211 associations for the study and prevention of tuberculosis in the United States, with a total membership of over 20,000, all engaged in an active war on consumption. Never before in the history of the country, has such an army been massed to fight against disease. And, with the present rate of increase sustained, it is estimated that the army will be doubled in size within a year. On January 1, 1905, there were in the United States only 24 associations for the study and prevention of tuberculosis. By January 1, 1909, there will undoubtedly be 250 such associations, an increase of over 800 per cent. The states which lead in the number of associations are, Massachusetts with 22, New Jersey with 22, New York with 19, Michigan with 16, and Pennsylvania with 14. Thirty-five of the forty-six states have one or more associations.

These associations are all philanthropic in organization, and are composed of physicians and laymen, both men and women who are anxious to see the number of deaths from tuberculosis reduced. That such organizations are instrumental in saving life may be seen from the reduced death rates in several states and cities. In Boston, the death-rate was reduced from 21.70 to 18.46 per ten thousand, largely through efforts of the local association. In New York, it is estimated that the campaign against tuberculosis has saved to the city annually at least 3000 lives. In Chicago, a similar reduction in the number of deaths from tuberculosis has been effected.

The increase in the number of sanatoria at the present time, is also particularly noteworthy, since the need for beds for tuberculous patients is evident in every state. There are, at the present time, 250 sanatoria and hospitals making special provision for tuberculous patients, and the entire bed capacity of all of these institutions is but 15,000. When it is considered that there are in the United States at least 400,000 people suffering from tuberculosis, 1-3 of which number ought to be in sanatoria or hospitals, the lack of proper bed capacity is very evident.

The dispensary movement, one of the later phases in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, is also receiving a great impetus. Four years ago, there were only 19 dispensaries in the United States; at the present time there are 165, and new ones are being established at the rate of one a week. These dispensaries are places to which anyone who thinks that he has the disease, may go and be examined and given proper advice and treatment free of charge, or for a very small sum. The dispensary institutions have been laid a regular and sanitary life on the part of the patient, and on his sleeping in the open air.

CAUSE OF CANCER.

Parasite Comes From Worm Crawling Over Vegetable Eaten.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 18.—The Buffalo Academy of Medicine last night held a new theory as to the origin of cancer. Dr. Hiram B. Walker, formerly of Newburgh, N. Y., and now living here, said in a paper on the subject, that seven years' experiments had proved to his satisfaction that cancer is a parasitic disease, and that the common garden worm is the source of the parasite which produces cancer. The transmission of the parasite from the worm to the human being comes from the worm crawling over fresh vegetables which are afterwards eaten. He said:

"If I am correct in my conclusions, all the suffering and death caused by cancer can be prevented by refraining from eating such vegetables as cabbage, celery, onions and lettuce, which have been infected by these parasites."

Dr. Walker elaborated on a series of 60 experiments on various animals, feeding or injecting the parasitic germs thus obtained from earth worms into guinea pigs, mice and dogs, was followed in many cases by the development of tumors and cancers. In almost every case the termination was fatal. The cells were examined by prominent specialists and pronounced cancer cells although the specialists were not told from what animals the cells were taken nor how produced.

THE ARTIST TRIO.

JACKSON, Mich.—Miss Mary Agnes Doyle is a very accomplished reader and is far superior to many seen upon the platform lately. All of her readings were given in a charming manner and the evidences of approval given the talented young woman by the great audience were merited in every respect.

DETROIT.—Miss Blanche Deering is, in my opinion, the most perfect development of the natural musician that I have ever had the satisfaction of knowing, in that the great promise she gave as a child has been verified to a remarkable degree. By her own industry and musical technique, she has mastered the technique and readings of an exceptionally varied repertoire so that, place her where you will, as a soloist or as a factor in ensemble results, she carries her work triumphantly.—Chas. S. Hathaway, Musical Critic, Free Press.

ACCEPTED REBATE

Rockefeller Makes Startling Admission on Stand

ALICE LONGWORTH REFORMS

Now Consumes Only 20, Instead of 40, Cigaretts, a Day—Another Big "Chink" Dies

Special to the Evening Review.
NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—John D. Rockefeller created a sensation in the Federal court here today by admitting that he formerly accepted rebates from the Pennsylvania Railroad. He then carefully explained the record of the Standard Oil Company's expansion and development, telling how, under his iron hand, the most marvelous business machine of modern times was built.

It was necessary to secure a larger room to accommodate the mass of spectators that gathered at the hearing to dissolve the Standard Oil Co. today. When Rockefeller was asked if the uncertainty of the cost of raw material had any bearing on the expansion of the oil company's business, he replied:

"It certainly did; it exerted great influence in earlier years, and it certainly does now."

Most of the testimony was uninteresting up to the time Rockefeller admitted the acceptance of freight rebates.

Alice is Reforming.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 19.—Congressman Longworth has worked a great reformation in the character of his wife, the daughter of President Roosevelt, according to the statement made last night by Dr. B. L. Sperry, before the Y. M. C. A. "Longworth told a friend of mine," he said, "that he had succeeded in reducing the number of cigarettes smoked by his wife from forty to twenty a day."

Another High "Chink" Dies.

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 18.—A dispatch from Shanghai says that Prince China, head of the Chinese army, died in Pekin last night. His death is officially confirmed.

Through the agency of the Bond Real Estate Company, of this city, Mr. Russell, a mining man from Togue River, has bought Rev. F. W. Leonard's 236-acre place near Wilbur. Mr. Russell will set the entire tract out in fruit trees. The price paid for the land was $4800. Rev. Leonard will reside in Wilbur for the winter.

F. W. Hewes, of Myrtle Creek, accused of assault with a dangerous weapon upon his two little children, still languishes in the county jail here, his bond of $1500 having not yet been furnished. This morning his father, E. I. Hewes, went to Myrtle Creek to plead with the committing justice of the peace to have the bond reduced to $1000, which could be supplied.

Colds and Croup in Children.

"My little girl is subject to colds," says Mrs. Wm. H. Serig, No. 41 Fifth St., Wheeling, W. Va. "Last winter she had a severe spell and a terrible cough, but I cured her with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy without the aid of a doctor, and my little boy has been prevented many times from having the croup by the timely use of this syrup." This remedy is for sale by Hamilton Drug Co.
