DECEMBER 8, 1908.

Senator Fulton says Roseburg cannot get a public building appropriation at the short session of Congress. Well, it's only a year until the next long session and we will need the building much more by that time.

This section has worried along for years, without a fruit cannery, but the fruit that is going to waste every year is alone worth what it will cost to build and equip such an institution. No use to continue this large waste. Let's have the cannery, save this loss and multiply the fruit production.

Monday's Review gave you a complete report of the opening of congress. Today's Review gives you an extended summary of President Roosevelt's last annual message to congress. You will want to keep posted on the actions of congress during the winter, as well as those of the Oregon legislature which will convene in January. The Review will give you that news, as well as the other important events of the world, right off the wires every day. There's a place on our subscription lists for your name, if it isn't there already.

ROAD BUILDING PICNIC.

"Don't you people ever work the roads in this section?" asked an automobilist as he pried the rear wheel of his machine out of a rut with a fence rail.

"Work 'em? Well, I should say we do," answered Uncle Charlie Seaver from the top rail of the fence. "Why, we work these roads on th' assessment plan. None of that money system for us fellers. Every farm is assessed so many days' work on th' highway, an' after th' farm work is all done an' we ain't nuthin' else fer to do we all turn out, thirty or forty o' us, with plows, horses, picks, shovels an' hoes to work th' roads. I tell you, it's a picnic. Work? Why, they make the dirt fly until they get tired. Then we find some shady spot to rest, eat our lunch, drink some cider, smoke an' maybe play a game or two of seven up. An' we call it a day.'

PUBLIC BUILDING SITUATION.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3, 1908.
Mr. J. D. Zurcher,
Roseburg Commercial Club,
Roseburg, Oregon.

My dear Mr. Zurcher: I have yours of the 24th inst., and in answer have to say that I fully appreciate the fact that Roseburg should have a public building. I have introduced bills several times providing one for Roseburg, but there have been other places which required such buildings as well, and as I could not get them for all, I have accepted what I could get. I feel confident that we will be able to provide for Roseburg in the next Public Building Bill, but that will not be the present session. There will be no public building bill at this session of congress and appropriations for public buildings, such as postoffices, land offices, etc., are carried only in the regular general appropriation bill for public buildings. I regret very much that it will not be possible to secure the appropriation at this time, but it should be secured at the next session, and while I shall not be here as my time expires on the 4th of March, I am confident the delegation will do all in its power to secure the required appropriation.

Sincerely yours,
C. W. FULTON.

OREGON RANKS TENTH.

Washington Leads States in Lumber Output of the Country.

In the manufacture of lumber and its products for the year 1907, Oregon ranks tenth among the states, according to a pamphlet that has just been issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor on the lumber cut of the United States for last year. Washington heads the list, as the greatest lumber producing state while the following states are credited with a larger cut than that of Oregon: Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Arkansas, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Minnesota.

For the year 1907 there were 644 lumber mills in this state which reported the manufacture of 1,635,563,000 feet, board measure, of soft woods, aggregating $22,861,575 in value. The same mills for the same period submitted figures showing the production of 4,727,000 feet, board measure, of hard woods, representing a value of $102,922. For the twelve months the state is credited with the manufacture of lath to the amount of 134,048,000 of the value of $282,434, and 206,766,000 of shingles, of the value of $476,925.

Oregon Figures Incomplete.

According to the report the aggregate value of Oregon's lumber products for the year was $23,202,856. This estimate, however, is admittedly incomplete since a great many of the mills operating in the state did not furnish the department with reports that were requested. It was largely on this volunteer information that the published statistics were based.

The total value of the lumber products of the United States last year is given as $707,095,409, distributed as follows: Lumber, $666,641,367; lath, $10,342,705 and shingles, $30,111,337. The value of manufactured lumber and its products for 1900 was only $414,058,487. In part the report says:

The most striking feature of the statistics for 1907 are that they show the largest lumber production ever recorded in the United States—40,256,154,000 feet—having a value of $666,641,367 at the place of production. In addition there were produced 3,663,602,000 lath having a value of $10,342,705, and 11,824,475,000 shingles, having a value of $30,111,337, which bring the total reported value of the lumber, lath and shingle production in 1907 up to $707,095,409. If it were possible to secure absolutely complete statistics of the production of lumber, lath and shingles, it is probable that the total value of the output would have approached $750,000,000, a much larger figure than that indicated for any previous year.

Many Mills Closed Down.

The year 1907 was an abnormal one in the lumber industry. On the Pacific coast, particularly in Washington and Oregon, a car shortage early in the year prevented the manufacturers from taking full advantage of the favorable conditions. Then came the panic, and finally the attempt by the trans-continental roads to increase freight rates, so that for the last two months of the year, and until recently, the lumber manufacturing industry of that region was almost paralyzed. A steady decline in the lumber production from year to year is taking place in the Lake states, because of the exhaustion of the white pine supply.

The estimated total cut in the United States since 1850 exceeds 1,000,000,000,000 feet. Notwithstanding the great increase in the use of substitutes for wood, such as cement, concrete and steel, the annual per capita consumption of lumber in the United States has risen from about 215 board feet in 1850 to over 470 board feet in 1907, the highest point yet attained. Diminishing timber resources, however, make it impossible for this rate of increase to continue much longer.

What Ails You?

SUDDENLY GOES INSANE.

Junction City Lady Taken to Asylum, After Trip to Marshfield.

Marshfield Times, Dec. 6: Miss Eureka Willits, whose parents reside in Junction City, Ore., arrived in Marshfield this week over the Drain stage line. She suddenly became demented while at the Blanco hotel and had to be taken to the state hospital for the insane at Salem today.

Miss Willits is about 30 years old and apparently well educated. She came here, as near as could be learned, upon the advice of a friend named Smith. The latter sent her at a hotel in this city. He was not known to the management of the hotel. When it was discovered that she was deranged, the hotel manager insisted that he look after her, which he did. Finally, her parents were communicated with and they ordered her cared for at their expense. It is stated and they will meet her in Portland.

Whether the strenuous stage trip here caused a nervous breakdown or not, the physicians were unable to determine.

She did not grow violent but suffered from strange hallucinations.

NEAR DEATH'S DOOR.

"I was near to death's door. The doctor said he had done all he could; that my stomach was old and worn out. I was so weak I could not walk. I took Mi-o-na tablets, and have been eating hearty ever since and am able to work like a tiger. I wish I could go and thank you myself. I send you my picture, and you can use my word and my picture, and I thank you again."—Mrs. Nelson Lucier, 112 Fisk St., Athol, Mass.

If any of the readers of The Review are suffering from stomach trouble of any kind Red Cross Pharmacy will sell you a box of Mi-o-na for 50 cents with an absolute guarantee of relief, or money back. ### THREE PLEAD GUILTY.

Prohibition Law Catches Three in Eugene—Two Fined.

EUGENE, Or., Dec. 7.—This was a day of guilty pleading on the part of a number of Eugene and Lane county violators of the local option law. John Williams, who had been indicted for selling beer, changed his plea from not guilty to guilty. The district attorney recommended that Judge Harris impose no jail sentence. The judge fined Williams $500.

Shell Coffman pleaded guilty to the same charge and was fined $150 and given 30 days in jail.

Pony Witter plead guilty and his sentence will be given Wednesday.

REFORMER IN BAD LIGHT.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 7.—Royal W. Raymond, head of the anti-Saloon League of the state of Washington, has resigned. Following a controversy in Bellingham in which he asserted publicly that he had been offered $500 for the League to espouse a would-be Sheriff's candidacy, comes a report that he had been sued by his wife in Massachusetts for divorce who names two fair co-respondents in his former flock and alleges they alienated his affections.

BOULEVARD BETWEEN COAST CITIES.

T. H. Bellingham, former councilman of Tacoma, Wash., has a plan for a Tacoma-Seattle water view boulevard which he is taking up with the Good Roads and other associations. The road would run along a series of bluffs which afford a wonderful site for a boulevard. As for the practical plans, it is believed that property owners would be glad to donate the rights of way. The cost of construction would be met partially at least by popular subscription.

A. T. Morlan is very ill at his home in this city.
