VOL. XII. ROSEBURG, OREGON, SATURDAY EVENING, JULY 31, 1909. NO. 130.

CHAS. W. TEDROW DIES ON 77TH BIRTHDAY.

Former Resident of Glide, Pioneer of 1852, and Veteran of Rogue River Indian War.

Marshfield Times: Charles W. Tedrow, a resident of Oregon since 1852 and a veteran of the Rogue river Indian wars, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Peachy, in East side, July 28, 1909. A strange coincidence in his death was that it occurred on his birthday, he being just 77 years old yesterday.

Mr. Tedrow was born in Claremont, Ohio, in 1832 and started westward in 1851, the trip across the plains taking a year. For a long time, he divided his time between Southern Oregon and the Palouse country in Washington, but finally re-established a home at Glide, in Douglas County, where he remained until ten years ago, when he came to Coos Bay. He was of the sturdy pioneer type and had many friends. He is survived by four children, Mrs. Peachy, of Eastside, Mrs. Smith, of Weston, Oregon; Mrs. McComas, and Bert Tedrow, of Glide, Oregon.

The funeral will be held from the Wilson Undertaking parlors Friday the Rev. H. I. Rutledge, of the First Methodist Episcopal church, officiating.

CORNUTT-LAKE WEDDING.

Wednesday, July 28, 1909, at high noon, John Cornutt and Miss Eula Lake were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lake, at Riddle. Rev. Kelly tied the knot for these two young people in a few well spoken words.

The bridal couple stood in a beautifully decorated corner of the living room, the bride wearing a gown of embroidered net, the groom attired in black.

The guests numbered over fifty. The wedding dinner, a most elegant one, was served out of doors under a grape arbor.

The happy couple are spending their honeymoon at Newport, by the sea, and will be at home to friends after August 15, at Riddle.

They received many gifts, of which the following is a list:

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lake, sheets and comforts; Alice and Lena Lake, linen towels; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cornutt, set of table spoons; Mrs. D. L. Worley, frying pan; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cornutt, set of knives and forks; Mrs. C. E. Jackson, berry set; Messrs. Noah Cornutt, Sr., and Jr., set of napkins; Mr. and Mrs. F. Cornutt, sugar shell; Misses Helen and Ina Cornutt, butter knife; Mrs. Frank Green, cream and sugar set; Mrs. A. B. J. C. LEE ARRESTED ON EMBEZZLEMENT CHARGE.

PORTLAND, Or., July 30.—J. C. Lee and Mrs. M. T. Lee, his wife, were arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Leonard on a bench warrant issued by Circuit Court Judge Gatens. They were released on bonds. R. F. Crittenden and F. C. Wallace made the complaint which led to the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. Lee, alleging that they and other persons had been refused a warrant by the district attorney. The complaint charges the embezzlement of $6000 from the Port Orford Orchard Company, of which Crittenden was formerly president.

Crittenden and Wallace were recently arrested on complaint of Lee, charged with criminal libel.

FREE EXHIBITION OF FANCY POOL PLAYING.

A free exhibition of fancy pool playing will be given at J. T. Goodman's cigar store (The Roseleaf), at 8 o'clock this evening, by Prof. Daniel O'Leary, a cue expert of international reputation. Prof. O'Leary has given exhibitions of his skill before some of the sweetest clubs in the United States and Canada and before large public audiences. One of his amazing feats is to play blindfolded, and he often drives as many as 10 balls at a single shot. Everybody cordially invited.

O'BRIEN HAS SLIGHT MARGIN OVER FLYNN.

DENVER, Colo., July 30.—Philadelphia Jack O'Brien had the better of Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, in a six-round go at the Auditorium tonight.

O'Brien's margin was not very great. In fact, Flynn finished stronger and in the final round had O'Brien in visible distress, opening a cut over his left eye and sending him to his corner a little unsteady.

TELEPHONE ETIQUETTE REQUIRES PATIENCE.

(Washington Herald.)

There seems to be needed a school of telephone etiquette wherever that method of conversation without personal presence is prevalently employed. It was supersensitiveness that moved a telephone operator to commit suicide the other day after she had been reprimanded by a superintendent because she talked back pertly to a patron who swore at her. Nevertheless, no one would claim that the man at the other end of the wire had any right to swear. But he forgot too readily that he was talking to an impassive piece of cold machinery, but to another human being.

It may be admitted that the telephone, while an instrument of such constant utility and convenience that this generation may wonder how the fathers ever managed their affairs without its time-saving aid, is frequently a cause of vexation. What patron, feeling the instant and imperious pressure of hurry, has not felt the spirit of impatient and sometimes incredulous revolt against that recurrent voice of "Central" saying "Busy?" The caller is perhaps busy also, quite too busy to calmly stand and wait. There is naught to do but to submit; and submission is not made easier by the suspicion that the operator may herself be busy with something else than her business. But courtesy implies patience, and many persons have learned that angry protest avails not to hasten the connection.

OSAKA FIRE SWEPT

Fourth of Japan's Commercial Center in Ashes

THOUSANDS OF LIVES LOST

200 Spanish Revolutionists Lined Up Against Wall and Publicly Shot by Soldiers

Special to The Evening Review.

OSAKA, Japan, July 31.—Three square miles, or about one-fourth of the city of Osaka, embracing 5,000 buildings, is in ashes as the result of a fire which broke out last night. The loss of life will run into the thousands. A high wind is driving the flames with apparently irresistible force, threatening destruction of the entire city.

The intense heat almost boiled the water in the canals which the firemen attempted to use after the destruction of the aqueduct.

The whole army division is fighting the flames. Constant detonations and explosions add to the terror of the populace. The buildings already destroyed include many old and historically interesting structures that helped to make Osaka the most picturesque city of the empire.

Osaka is the commercial center of Japan and one of the three Imperial cities, quartering an army division. Built for the most part on low-lying level land, the city is intersected by numerous canals spanned by 1300 bridges, and has in consequence been styled the "Venice of the East." The population of the city in 1900 was about 1,500,000. In that year the total foreign commerce of the port amounted to over $11,000,000, the bulk of the trade being in cotton goods. Other manufactures are those of glass, iron, steel and leather products. It is also the location of a government mint, a refinery and sulphuric acid works. In 1583 the city contained a palace, which was, as some authorities believe, the most magnificent building the world ever saw.

200 Spanish Rioters Slain.

BARCELONA, Spain, July 31.—Two hundred rioters who have arrived here during the past few days were summarily court martialled this morning, lined up against a wall and shot by soldiers in full view of the populace. The government hopes by making wholesale executions public to overawe the revolutionists, who are not being suppressed as rapidly as the government has tried to make the country believe.

Revolutionary bodies have taken great heart from the fact that Alejandro le Reux, the leader of the revolutionists, is returning from Brazil to take active charge of the uprising.

The government authorities fear the return of this man more than anything else, as he holds the workingmen's associations in the palm of his hand. Last year after a break with the Catalonian solidarists, he was arrested and sentenced to two years' imprisonment, but escaped and fled to Brazil. His return will mean an active leader at the head of the present revolution; and it is the lack of a strong chief that has so far enabled the government troops to make what progress they have against the revolt.

An Unhappy Queen.

The present uprising in Spain, which threatens to engulf that unhappy monarchy, serves to accentuate the pitiful plight of Queen Victoria. Used as a human pawn in the European political chess game, she was forced three years ago to renounce the man she loved and to marry King Alfonso. Torn from her English home, she was thrust among people whom she detested and who hate her with all the Latin vindictiveness for one not of their race and religion—chiefly religion.

Hatred Instead of Love.

She had to give up her own faith and her own people; she won the enmity of the Spanish court and populace as an "interloper" and a "foreigner," she has quarreled with her royal husband; she hates her mother-in-law, while the boy King reciprocates by hating his own mother-in-law just as cordially, and she is practically alone and friendless in the nation of which she is queen.

Now, to crown her troubles, Spain is in revolt, and the unhappy woman on the throne knows not whether she will have throne, crown or even life when the civil war ends.

Denied Joys of Home Life.

Even the happiness of home life and the simple joys of the domestic hearth are denied her, because the rigid rules of the Spanish court do not permit her to bring up her children herself, as she would wish. Instead, they must be tended and cared for by nurses and tutors and governesses and ladies in waiting.

"Keep Smiling."

LOCAL NEWS.

Rev. George H. Bennett, a former pastor of the M. E. Church in this city, writing from Newark, Illinois, says. "We are still of the opinion that there is no place like Oregon, and hope sometime to reside in good old Douglas once more. How is business? If you hear of a church in need of a preacher, or a newspaper in need of an editor, you might remember me. We have been having a very successful year here. Crops are very fine and the weather thus far nothing to complain of. By the way, I found two fine pearls recently in fresh water clams, in the Fox river, near here. If you call attention to fresh water pearls some might be found in the Umpqua. We are well, except myself, and I am recovering from a week's illness."

The Baptist Sunday school picnic at the Fair Grounds yesterday was a success from every point of view. Sam Smith's big hay wagon and four-horse team was employed to convey the people to the grounds, many private rigs being in commission besides. The day was ideal, and the time passed most pleasantly for all. The star feature of the day's program, not to mention the picnic dinner, was the ball game between the Baraca and Agoga classes. The Agogas, being in fine shape, had it pretty much their own way with the older men, none of whom had played ball very lately. A refreshment stand did a thriving business, besides adding much to the comfort of the crowd.

Company D., of this city, returned Friday from the annual encampment at Clackamas. They left behind their rifle team, comprised of Sergeant Alex. Ferguson, Corporals Chester Fisher and Wm. Berks, and Privates John Marks and Wm. McLean. This quintette will be joined tonight by Fred G. Stewart, who has advanced from second to first lieutenant, succeeding Z. N. Agee, resigned. The second lieutenancy has fallen to J. A. Buchanan, whose former rank of first sergeant will fall to Gus Pankey. In the state shoot last year Sergeant Ferguson won the medal for the best individual score. He is the only members of this year's team of Company D that has participated in a national tournament.

Advertising literature was principally responsible for the selection of Roseburg by Ringling Bros.' circus as one of the Oregon towns in which to pitch its tents. This information comes from the advance agent, who was in the city Friday. "Booster" pamphlets and other descriptive matter and copies of the local newspapers containing accounts of the 3-day strawberry festival were sent to the winter headquarters of the show at Chicago by Wm. Protzman, the local billboard man, who has a very keen eye to business possibilities, and his foresight was rewarded by the action of the circus in putting Roseburg on its list of show towns. The advance agent explained that the management of the circus judged from the literature he received that Roseburg was strictly "on the map" and a town well worth stopping at.

OREGON ATTRACTING ATTENTION AT FAIR.

OREGON BUILDING, A. Y. P., Seattle, July 31.—(Special correspondence)—Oregon headquarters continue to entertain increasing throngs daily as the season progresses. The round of entertainment, of stereopticon slides, moving pictures of scenes and occupations in the Willamette Valley, the Rose Festival parade, dairying industry and fruit culture, together with popular short talks given every hour; also, the scientific demonstrations given at the exhibit of the Corvallis Agricultural College, hold much attention.

Owing to the goodly prices quoted for hops, probably, there is much inquiry and discussion among callers from the east seeking favorable investment, regarding the prices for hop lands in Western Oregon and chances for obtaining tracts for engaging in this line of business.

The inquiry and interest stimulated in the settlement projects of the far West by exposition exhibits, it is thought, will have a marked effect upon the fall colonist business to Oregon and Washington. The low rates have been extensively advertised through the east and as the rates will take effect in time to permit of a hurried look at the A-Y-P before closing date hundreds of homeseekers may be looked for this autumn. Good use is being made of the attractive literature being given out at the Oregon exhibits.

A BOOSTER'S PLEDGE.

On my word and honor I hereby now declare that as long as I am a resident of this community, it will be my constant aim to boost at all times and every time.

I will do what I can for any public work that has the good of the community as its object.

I will submit to and abide by majority rule and will not knock and howl if things are not done my way.

I will take no radical or extreme position on any question before the people, and will have due respect for the opinions of my friends and neighbors when their opinions are opposed to mine.

I will try to always say something good about my city and my people or keep my mouth shut.

I realize that if this community is good enough to live in and make my money in, it is the proper place to spend my money.—Wichita Beacon.

Guy Wollenberg and Cecil Black, aged 14 and 15 years, left Friday for Seattle to attend the exposition. They travel at the expense of the Star Theatre, of this city, as leaders in the ticket selling contest which ended a few days ago. The theatre continues to enjoy crowded houses nightly. McKenzie's Merry Makers are proving to be popular attractions. Tonight's bill, "King of the Philippines," is a laugh producer all the way through and the moving picture, "Curse of Cocaine," is a grim lesson that cannot fail to interest anyone seeing it.

HUNDREDS KILLED

Towns Also Wrecked by Earthquake in Mexico

NEW TREMBLORS AT NIGHT

Southern Mob Murders Pair of Blacks Charged With Nothing More Serious Than Theft

Special to the Evening Review.

CITY OF MEXICO, July 31.—Reports received by the government today indicate that at least 500 people were killed by the series of earthquakes which affected an area of over 1000 square miles in the central part of the country yesterday morning. Five towns are ruined and several others are partially wrecked. The heaviest damage and losses of life occurred in the towns of Acapulco, Chilpancingo and Chilapa. At the last named place scores of people were crushed under falling walls. Fire broke out immediately, cremating the dead and many of the injured.

Two More Tremblors.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—The state department received advices this afternoon indicating that two more tremblors, of greater severity than the previous 'quakes, occurred in Mexico last night, doing greatly increased damage to the territory already affected.

Mob Shoots Two Negroes.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 31.—Two negroes were taken from officers and shot to death near Grand Prairie last night by a mob of 30 masked men. The mob then quietly dispersed, leaving the bodies on the ground. One negro was accused of wounding a white man and committing a series of robberies. The other was charged with theft and with harboring his companion.

A Marine Disaster.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31.—The steam schooner Winnebago, Captain Turner, manned by 15 sailors, struck a rock off Point Arena this morning, and it is feared the vessel is a total loss. The fate of the crew is unknown. Two relief ships have gone to the scene.

Taft's Yacht Saves 29 Men.

BIDDEFORD POOL, Maine, July 31.—President Taft's yacht, Sylph, rescued 29 men who were hurled into the Saco river when a powder boat capsized last night. Two men are still missing, and it is believed they were drowned.

Bill Will Pass House.

WASHINGTON, July 31. — The passage of the tariff bill by the House was practically assured today by the adoption of the rule providing that none of the provisions of the conference committee's report shall be open to points of order. The vote in favor of the rule was almost unanimous.

Chamberlain Opposes.

It now seems probable that all the Northwestern senators and representatives, save Senator Chamberlain, will vote for adoption of the conference report on the tariff bill. Mr. Chamberlain said today he would vote against the bill. This morning Senator Bourne threatened to vote against its adoption because the duty on lumber had been cut to $1.25, but his wrath had materially cooled by tonight, after he received telegrams from Oregon lumber manufacturers expressing the view that it would be better policy to accept $1.25 than to defeat the bill and run the risk of getting even less in another bill.

Both Oregon congressmen will vote for the bill for this very reason. They declare that, if the house had another opportunity, it would vote for free lumber, and in that event not more than 75 cents could ultimately be had in conference.

IF YOU RESIGN, WHO CARES?

(From Munsey's Magazine.)

Whoever you are who may read these words, this question is one that you should ask yourself most seriously:

"If I were to resign, would I be re-elected?"

This is the kind of question which it does you good to ask and answer with unsparing frankness. It is one of the questions which make you search your heart, look into all the secrets of your life, and bring you face to face with what is real—perhaps most brutally real.

Whatever talent you may have, whatever gifts you may possess—these have not been the only factors in your advancement. They have helped you much or little, as the case may be; yet what you are and what you have, you owe very largely to the good will and the good opinion of others. They have accepted you, smoothed your path.

But if you were to resign, would they do the same thing over again?

Examine yourself closely and see whether you are still the lover, striving to please, thinking of all the little things that go to make up a woman's happiness. If you have made your wife dread and fear you, so that she shudders at your very touch, would she again select you, if once the legal bond between you could be severed?

Put, then, this question sharply to yourself in all the relations of your life. It is a grim task, but nothing is better for you as a man than to ask yourself this question, and answer it with perfect frankness:

If I resigned, would I be re-elected?
