SCHUMANN HORSES COMING.

World's Greatest Animal Act is With Ringling Brothers' Circus.

The wonderful Schumann horses which have electrified all Europe are at last being exhibited in America, and it was naturally the enterprise of the Ringling Brothers that has brought this about.

The people of Roseburg will have an opportunity of seeing this act on Friday, August 27, that being the date of the visit of the world's best show.

The Schumann act is the grandest achievement of all the animal trainers that have ever lived. It has no precedent in history. The animals are under the direction of Prof. Edward Wulff and were trained by the wizard, Albert Schumann. A simple and direct statement of what the marvelous animals do would scarcely be believed. One would think it a physical impossibility for a horse to raise a glass of water to its mouth and drink every drop of the contents, nevertheless that is what these animals do. They also push each other about in immense beer barrels, they walk on their hind feet and waltz to music. One of them actually smokes a pipe.

The trained animal features are one of the wonders of this year's program. There is a new elephant act in which a half dozen elephants telephone to each other from one end of the main tent to the other. There are pigs that skip the rope and play on musical instruments, zebras, llamas and camels that do many wonderful things in one big act and a donkey that rides a velocipede.

Another of the sensations is the Arthur Saxon trio of strong men. One of the three lifts a ton and a half in weight. It is a question whether among the countless millions on the earth three others could be found to match these wonderful giants. Two of them form the pillars of a bridge over which passes an automobile with six passengers.

Then for good measure there is the most ghastly of all thrillers, the automobile double somersault and the act of the great Spanish wire dancer, Robidello. The show will come here with an entire new outfit. The two performances will be given exactly as presented at the Madison Square Garden in New York City. Such a hit did the show make there that in the five weeks of its stay 50,000 people were turned away unable to get seats.

CANYONVILLE GIRLS SLIDE OVER A CLIFF

Land 170 Feet From Base—Shiver in Summer Garb Till Rescued at 11 O'clock at Night.

CANYONVILLE, Or., Aug. 16.—Bertha Neel, Fay Weaver, with the two Pellit girls, living between Canyonville and Myrtle Creek, on Sunday morning took their dinner and went to the hills for the day. To get a better view of a cave they went dangerously near the edge of the cliff and all four girls slid over the bank, lading on a flat rock 70 feet below, where they were imprisoned for 12 hours. This stopping place was the only one in 500 feet.

Here they remained until 11 o'clock at night, when rescued. At 8 o'clock a searching party began to look for them. When found they had thrown their dinner-pails and shoes and stockings over the cliff in hope of drawing attention. Being thinly clad, they suffered from fright and cold.

The searching party attempted the rescue without ropes, and one man went over the bank. Finally, by the use of ropes, they were hauled back to footing.
