CONVICTION OF WOLFF'S MURDERER AFFIRMED.

Information Sufficient to Base Manslaughter Verdict Although Murder Was Specified.

SALEM, Or., Aug. 17.—Holding that the information was sufficient to charge manslaughter, of which the defendant was convicted, the appellate court affirmed the decree of Judge Cleland, of the circuit court for Multnomah county, in the conviction of Edward Hugh Martin of manslaughter for the killing of Nathan Wolff, in Portland, May 1, 1908.

Wolff's body was found horribly mutilated in his shop. Martin, who was a drug fiend, was finally taken by the police and the responsibility for the terrible crime fixed upon him. The case attracted a great deal of attention when it came to trial and although Martin was charged with murder in the first degree the jury brought in a verdict of manslaughter.

Walworths Get New Trial

If a man has reasonable ground for the belief that his mother's life is in danger from a felonious attack upon the house, he has a right to shoot the attacking party in her defense. Because the trial court erred in refusing so to instruct the jury, the Supreme Court reversed the decree of Judge H. K. Hanna, of the circuit court for Jackson county, and ordered a new trial for Charles H and Norval Walsworth, father and son, who have already served two years of a life sentence in the penitentiary for the killing of James F Mankin during a double duel, the culmination of a long-standing family feud. The opinion is written by Justice McBride.

This bloody four-handed shooting affray was precipitated because Chas H. Walsworth, who was working in the field with his son, Norval, noticed the approach of Carrol Mankin who was carrying a cane, and mistook the cane for a gun. With the remark, "It's a gun you want," the elder Walsworth rushed excitedly to the house, procured a rifle, and despite the warnings of his son, who tried to tell him of his mistake, fired a shot in the air. Henry Mankin was already on the scene, and a sister Belle Mankin, brought a shotgun and a rifle from the Mankin home. James F. Mankin having joined his brothers in the meantime, and gave the arms to James F and Henry Mankin. The Mankins then opened fire and wounded the elder Walsworth, who had ceased hostilities, whereupon Norval Walsworth appeared at the corner of the house and engaged in a duel with James Mankin. They fired simultaneously, and Walworth's shot killed Mankin, and Walsworth was wounded in the face. Meanwhile Henry Mankin went around the house, found the elder Walsworth lying wounded with buckshot and shot him in the head. Henry Mankin was also wounded in the arm.

"BOOTLEGGER" SKIPS TO AVOID ARREST

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 16.—Robert Denton, a local cigar dealer, disappeared from town today, apparently to avoid being arrested on a charge of violating the local-option law. A few weeks ago Denton was arrested and placed under bonds on a charge of bribery, having, it is alleged, on two different occasions given money to the chief of police to secure immunity from search of his premises.

Warrants were issued this forenoon for the arrest of Denton and his nephew, J. H. Nelson, on a charge of selling liquor. Nelson was arrested, but Denton disappeared before he could be apprehended.

EUGENE BOOTLEGGER FINED AND JAILED

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 17.—Joseph H. Nelson today pleaded guilty to the charge of selling liquor in violation of the local option law, and was fined $100 and given 10 days in the county jail.

Neelon is a nephew of Denton, who recently left town, and who is being sought for attempting to bribe the city officers and also for selling liquor.

INVENTS WINGED TORPEDO.

Aeroplane Principle Permits of Sending Explosive by Air Route.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Now it is the winged torpedo. The report to Washington is that a famous American inventor has successfully applied the principle of the aeroplane to the torpedo. He has demonstrated that it can be launched with accuracy from one warship against the side of an opposing warship or at any other armor clad citadel. The story that the navy was to have aeroplanes, which has been discussed by former Secretary Metcalf, is revived. The subject was fully gone into by Rear-Admiral Cheever, who has followed the practicability of balloons for scouts.

BURGLARS SCARED AWAY FROM SILVERTON DEPOT.

SILVERTON, Or., Aug. 17.—Two burglars entered the Southern Pacific depot at this place last night by breaking open a window. While in the act of drilling the safe, they were discovered by Harley Smith, son of the agent, and made their escape, leaving their tools on the floor of the safe. There was no money left in the safe, and nothing would have been secured had they been successful in the attempt. From the manner in which they operated, it is believed they are experts.

FILED ON LAND AS COAL CLAIMS TO GET TIMBER.

Entries of Eight Coos County People Cancelled by Decision of the Interior Department.

PORTLAND, Or., Aug. 17.—A decision involving timber lands valued at close to half a million was received at the office of the national forest service this morning from the land office at Washington. It will give back to the government eight claims of 160 acres each, valued at $40,000 or more apiece, as well as setting a precedent for a number of other cases involving land valued fully as high as the claims concerned in this decision.

The land involved in the present decision is situated in Coos county and was located under the coal land laws. Failing in their endeavor to find coal, the entrants attempted to hold the claims for the timber on the property, but, according to the decision just handed down by the land office, must give up all claim thereto.

Decision was first handed down by the local office of the forest service some months ago, which was practically the same as the one coming from the chief office. The claims were located in 1906 in the Siskiyou national forest reserve and have been in the hands of the persons who filed ever since. They must give up claim to them at once, however.

When the applications for receipts came to the office of the forest service they were granted to Augusta Anderson and Cecil C. Carter, two of the claimants, but after these none were given out. Investigation was then made by the forest service and it was found that there was no real bed of workable coal but that it was a mere formation of shale that on the surface shone and looked like coal. It will not burn, however.

Coal Not Valuable.

When this information came to the department, proceedings were instituted and charges were filed against the claimants. The charges were that the coal vein discovered was not workable and that the land is not coal land, that the claimant did not make application in good faith for a coal claim, but for speculative purposes to dispose of the valuable timber thereon, and that the land was chiefly valuable for its timber. The decision of the local office was handed down November 9, 1908, and was recently affirmed by the general land office.

The claims disputed were filed on by Samuel D. Pulford, James H. Flanagan, Cecil C. Carter, Herbert Lockhart, Louise C. Lockhart, Ala E. Carter, August E. Anderson and G. W. Anderson. The claims had nearly 20,000,000 feet of the finest timber on them. A number of nearby claims are also being disputed by the forest service and will come up for decision soon. This establishes a precedent and it is expected that a like decision will be rendered from the office in the other cases.

A BUSINESS FARMER.

Success of an Oregon Man Which Many Should Emulate.

There are numerous farmers in Linn county, this state, who are conducting their farms along strictly business lines, consequently they have no complaint to make at any adverse conditions that might exist in the commercial world and are enjoying large financial profit from their work. One of these is A. C. Armstrong, who will this year clear up fully $6000 on a farm of 400 acres, for which he pays an annual rental of $600. There should be thousands more tillers of the soil like him, especially when there are hundreds of thousands of acres throughout the western part of the state that only need the necessary handling to make them return millions of dollars in abundant crops of all kinds.

To quote from the news dispatches concerning Mr. Armstrong's success the following is reprinted:

"A. C. Armstrong, a farmer residing four miles northwest of Plainview and 10 miles southeast of Albany, will realize a profit of $4800 on 120 acres of vetch he threshed this week. Incidentally, he will clear up about $6000 this year on a farm of 400 acres, for which he pays an annual rental of $600. Some other Linn county farmers are doing almost as well, and farming in the Willamette Valley is paying better this year than for many years.

"Armstrong had 140 acres in vetch this year. He mowed twenty acres of it and after storing his barns full of loose hay for his winter's supply, had enough hay left over from the twenty acres to bale twenty tons, which is worth $13 a ton. The vetch on the remaining 120 acres was threshed for seed by the thresher and cleaner of Parker Bros. this week, and Armstrong had seventy tons of threshed and cleaned vetch seed from his 120 acres. This is worth four cents a pound in the present market and after Armstrong pays all expenses of threshing, cleaning, etc., he will realize a net profit of $4800 on t... ing ... vetch ... spring ... dition ... yield ... acre ... fit for the past year's work."

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

When the blood becomes infected with the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, the symptoms are soon manifested. The mouth and throat ulcerate, copper-colored spots appear, a red rash breaks out, the hair begins to come out, and usually sores and ulcers show themselves on different parts of the body. At the first sign of the disease S.S.S. should be taken, for the trouble is too powerful and dangerous to trifle with. If allowed to run on the tendency is to work down and attack the bones and nerves, and sometimes it makes a complete physical wreck of the sufferer. The disease can make no such headway if S.S.S. is commenced and used according to directions; its progress can be stopped, the poison removed, and health preserved. S.S.S. goes into the blood and removes the insidious virus, cleanses the circulation and makes a complete and permanent cure by driving out the cause. S.S.S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and blemishes, and when S.S.S. has thoroughly purified the circulation no trace of the disease is left. S.S.S., a purely vegetable remedy cures Contagious Blood Poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years.
