OLCOTT'S APPOINTMENT.

Medford Tribune: Some criticism has been heaped upon Governor West because he appointed a Republican as Secretary of State instead of a Democrat.

In making the appointment, the Governor states that he was actuated by the principle that "good business is good politics" and named the best qualified man he knew regardless of politics.

The fact of the matter is that Governor West was not elected by the Democrats. They did very little as an organization for him. Nor was he elected by Republicans. He was, however, elected by the people, regardless of partisanship, and as long as he appoints those best qualified to serve, he pleases those who elected him, who care nothing at all about the appointee's political affiliations.

The people elected West in the expectation of securing an honest, economical, clean administration, and to safeguard the Oregon system from the attacks of politicians. He is making good—and that is all the public cares about.

But as a matter of fact, the appointment of Ben OLCOTT as Secretary of State was both good politics and good business. His unusual qualifications are admitted by all. He is not a politician in any accepted sense of the word. The office will receive the attention of a skilled administrator.

An aviation tournament will be the feature of Roseburg's carnival next month if the Commercial Club accepts a proposition to be presented tonight by S. G. Ray, representing the Curtis Exhibition Company. "No flights, no pay," is the guarantee of the company. They operate the biplanes and they agree to race automobiles or motorcycles. In addition to giving exhibition in speed and altitude. The Commercial Club will listen to Mr. Ray at 8 o'clock this evening. An aviation number on the three-day program would be a powerful drawing card for the carnival.

Sutherland Sun: The new and costly mansion of J. F. Lane, situated on Lase Hill, just south of this city, was formerly opened Tuesday evening with a large reception and dancing party. The new home was adorned with electric lights and was decorated with ferns and Oregon grass.

Many out-of-town guests from Roseburg and Eugene were present at the house warming and to inspect the new home, which cost over $10,000. Mr. Lane is president of the Sutherland Land & Water Company, of Sutherland, and of the Lase Land Company, of St. Paul. He intends to make this city his permanent home. Mrs. F. B. Walte and Mrs. J. B. Lane assisted Mrs. Lane in receiving the guests.

High Cost of Living

Help us to reduce it to you, Mr. Consumer, by giving us your trade, increasing our trade, decreasing our proportionate expenses, thereby enabling us to sell at lower margins.

If 90 per cent of the stores in town were to close up, the remaining 10 per cent could do the business equally as well on almost half of the expense of all of them. Then, Mr. Consumer, you are paying for something you are not getting in supporting so many. Why not concentrate your trade with a store where all the profit goes back to the people and where you can get a square, honest deal—Where absolute satisfaction is guaranteed. Watch our advertisement for an important announcement soon.
