EXPECT MORE WAR

Also Resignation of Diaz and Corral Today

RIOTING IN MEXICO CITY

Madero Sending Army to Quell Rebels in Various States—More Bloodshed

Special to the Evening Review.

MEXICO CITY, May 25.—President Diaz will resign this afternoon. The serious condition of his health and the danger of anarchy is presaged by last night's rioting. This has caused him to decide to delay no longer. After a sleepless night Diaz found big groups of persons parading the streets this morning, despite the rain. Crowds carried banners inscribed "Viva Madero," and other revolutionary mottoes. Four perished during the riots last night. Members of the diplomatic corps began visiting Diaz to pay their official respects this forenoon. It is reported that Diaz will first retire to a Hacienda for recuperation, before sailing for Europe.

It is officially announced that seven were killed and six wounded in last night's rioting.

Minister De la Barra issued an official statement today declaring that Diaz' resignation and that of Vice President Corral will be sent to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon and that he would immediately assume the oath as provisional president ad interim.

A volley of shots was fired into the rioters by the police at noon today. One was killed and a number wounded. The streets the still crowded with people shouting for Madero.

To Crush the Rebels.

EL PASO, May 25.—Madero this afternoon ordered General Valjeon to Lower California to crush the Socialists and insurgents there who defy Madero. Viljeon starts from Juarez tonight.

Resuming the Warfare.

EL PASO, May 25.—Claiming the peace agreement broken, due to the fact that the Coapulack legislature refused to elect Carcanda, a Maderist, as Governor, Madero today ordered the war to be resumed and immediately ordered Col. Castro, with 1200 men, to take Saltillo, where 1000 federals are garrisoned. The Juarez army is also being prepared for a march to Chihuahua. It is believed that Madero feared he is being double crossed by De la Barra and has apparently abandoned hope of affecting Diaz' withdrawal without further bloodshed. The situation is the gravest, and unless the Diaz faction acts quickly blood will flow within 24 hours.

Intervention Scheme Fails.

JUAREZ, May 25.—Balked in their plan for American intervention, due to Taft's "hands off" attitude, Wall street interests, according to Madero today, are now seeking to buy their way into favor with the revolutionists. Madero said today that a man representing millions of American capital approached him and offered to finance Madero's presidential campaign and also to pay part of the cost of the revolution, provided Madero would promise to grant certain concessions when he came into power. Madero said he refused.

Darrow Meets Dynamiters.

LOS ANGELES, May 25.—Giving the newspaper men the slip today, by leaving the train four miles from Los Angeles and taking an automobile, Attorney Clarence Darrow, who will defend the accused dynamiters, the McNamaras, went directly to the office of Attorney Harriman. He immediately started arranging plans for the preliminary hearing of the McNamaras, which is scheduled for June first. Darrow declared himself "too busy to talk."

Darrow conferred for two hours at the jail with the McNamaras. He then said he was convinced that both are innocent of the Times dynamiting, and that he would do everything in his power to acquit them. He said he would probably return to Chicago at the end of the preliminary hearing, returning later to Los Angeles for the trial.

Harlan's Opinion Filed.

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Justice Harlan's Standard Oil opinion, expressing in stronger language his dissenting views than what he delivered from the bench, was filed today in the Supreme Court. He scores the other Justices for "interfering with the people, the source of legislative power." He believes majority opinion, instead of benefitting business, will result in much litigation, and that its injurious effects will be felt for years. He agrees with the decision ordering the dissolution of the trust, but argues lengthily on the word "unreasonable" in the decision as recently handed down by the court.

MISS ANNA WHARTON IS BRIDE OF G. V. WIMBERLY.

Prominent Young Couple Wedded on Wednesday Evening, May 24, 1911, in Roseburg.

One of the prettiest weddings solemnized in this city for some time past was that occurring at the home of Joseph Wharton, in West Roseburg, on Wednesday evening, when his daughter, Miss Anna, became the bride of Glenn V. Wimberly. Tais wedding was a quiet home affair, witnessed by the immediate relatives of the couple.

During the impressive ring ceremony, pronounced by Rev. W. H. Eaton, they stood in a beautiful bower of roses, snowballs and evergreens, artistically arranged. These, with the surrounding decorations, made a handsome picture. The bride, was beautifully arrayed and carried a bouquet of Bride roses.

Mr. Wimberly is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wimberly, of Drain. He is assistant cashier of the Douglas National Bank, of this city, and was formerly deputy county clerk. His bride is a popular young lady of this city and has been at the head of the millinery department at Josephson's. Both are especially popular with the younger people of the city, among whom they have very many friends.

After a delicious wedding repast they departed on the overland train for Portland for a brief honeymoon trip. They will be "at home" to their friends on Kane street, near F. H. Churchill's, about June 20th. The very high esteem in which these excellent young people are held was attested by the numerous and valuable wedding presents tendered them.

TWO ROSEBURG GIRLS WED S. P. MACHINISTS.

Lloyd C. Adams and Fred H. Henson, machinists employed at the Southern Pacific roundhouse in Roseburg, became benedicts Wednesday night, May 24, 1911. Miss Viola Davis became the bride of Mr. Adams, and Miss Mary Brockway became Mrs. Henson.

The Adams-Davis wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. John Preschern, in this city. Rev. W. H. Eaton, of the Baptist church, officiated. The Preschern home was prettily decorated for the happy occasion, and the nuptial knot was tied beneath a bell made of roses. Mr. Adams advances to the position of foreman of the roundhouse on June 1.

The Henson-Brockway wedding occurred at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mary Brockway, in North Roseburg. Relatives and a few close friends of the couple were in attendance. Rev. E. Olin Eldridge, of the Methodist church, performed the marriage ceremony. The bride is a member of one of Douglas county's prominent pioneer families. Mr. and Mrs. Henson left this afternoon on a honeymoon trip to Portland and other northern points.

TESTIMONY BEGINS

State's Case Against McClallen Apparently Not Strong

JURY COMPLETED AT NOON

Prosecution Must Rely on Location of Wounds Alone to Combat Plea of Self Defense

Personnel of Jury That Will Try Roy McClallen.

S. D. Evans, farmer, Coles Valley.
J. H. Marsters, farmer, Flournoy Valley.
B. J. Bovington, ex-justice of the peace, Oakland.
Edgar Walker, farmer, Dillard.
J. E. Medley, liveryman, Oakland.
J. Harding, merchant, Glendale.
Samuel Rockhill, farmer, Riddle.
Charles Daugherty, horticulturist, Yoncalla.
W. L. Nichols, stockman, Riddle.
B. Helliwell, bank cashier, Yoncalla.
E. J. Harris, farmer, Woolley.
W. W. Kent, merchant, Drain.

After a day and a half of minute examination, the twelve men whose names are printed above, were chosen in the Circuit Court just before the noon-hour adjournment this morning to try the case of the State of Oregon against Roy McClallen, indicted on the charge of murder in the second degree. At the opening of this afternoon's session of court Attorney B. L. Eddy proceeded at once, in a statement to the jury, to outline the state's case. He was followed by Attorney W. W. Cardwell, of the defense, who asserted that it would be proved that his client acted purely in self-protection in shooting and killing Ben A. Mahan in this city on the 13th of last March.

From a special venire containing 24 names, 15 talesmen were examined this morning before a jury satisfactory to both sides was empaneled. Upon challenges, Judge Coke excused Benton Mires, of Drain; R. R. Cockeram, of Oakland; Henry Adams and Ed. Fairbanks, of Myrtle Creek; Al Aikin, of Riddle, and E. L. Rice, of Dillard. The prosecution also challenged Roy Stearns, of Oakland, a life-long friend of McClallen, and Mr. Kent, one of the jurors who was finally accepted.

The court refused to dismiss either of them, but the state exercised its peremptory as to Stearns. The objection as to Kent was not renewed, however, the juror stating upon further questioning that the opinion resting upon his mind as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant was not a fixed one and could be readily brushed aside by evidence.

Peremptory dismissals from the jury box by the prosecution affected A. G. Clarke and Roy Griggs, two of the jurors tentatively passed Wednesday. The defense this morning declined to accept C. L. Hamilton, L. S. Coon and T. C. Johns, of Wednesday's panel, and Charles Wilson, of Reston, a member of the special venire. Daugherty, Riddle and Helliwell, three of the jurors accepted today, in reply to a question put by Attorney Cardwell, declared they would not compromise on any kind of a verdict convicting the defendant if they believed him to be entirely innocent of the crime specified in the indictment.

In his opening address to the jury on behalf of the prosecution, Atty. B. L. Eddy devoted half an hour to reciting the details of the tragedy and the causes leading up thereto, without commenting upon same. He finished with a statement that no matter what conflict may appear in the verbal testimony to be adduced, the condition of Mahan's clothing, his buttoned coat and tightly fitting sweater, the inaccessability of the weapon in his hip pocket and the location of the wounds he received, all showed that when he faced McClallen on the night of the tragedy he had no intention of doing him bodily harm.

Atty. W. W. Cardwell, on opening the case for the defendant, substantially repeated McClallen's testimony before the coroner's jury. That he was in great fear and peril of bodily harm from Mahan. Regarding the fourth and fatal shot which struck Mahan in the back, he held that the force of the previous shots had swung him around so that the last bullet struck him where it did.

Taking testimony was begun at 2:30 p. m.

The first two hours of introduction of evidence by the state this afternoon developed nothing especially hurtful to the defense. Unless the testimony to follow on behalf of the state is of a stronger nature the chances of conviction on verbal evidence alone are considered slim.

The first seven witnesses called by the state were Coroner N. T. Jewett, W. B. Hammitte, Mayor F. W. Haynes, George Culver, Charles Tabor, Dr. F. H. Vincil and George V. Goodwin. The first five merely reiterated minor details of the case brought out at the coroner's inquest. By Doctor Vincil the state expected to prove that Mahan's clothes were in such a condition at the time of the tragedy that he could not have readily drawn the revolver found in the right hand hip pocket of his trousers, as McClallen declared he attempted to do before bringing his gun into play.

Dr. Vincil was one of the first men to reach Mahan after he fell to the sidewalk. He testified that the coat which Mahan wore was buttoned at the top only, that his sweater vest was buttoned for its entire length and that he wore dress gloves. The revolver taken from Mahan's pocket, he said, contained a cartridge in the breech ready for discharge.

Goodwin was crossing the street a few feet ahead of Mahan when the first shot fired by McClallen caused him to turn around. Mahan was standing on the edge of the sidewalk facing McClallen, he said. He heard two more shots and then Mahan turned around, staggered out into the street, then back onto the sidewalk and fell. Goodwin did not make the expected statement that Mahan was retreating from McClallen while the latter was shooting at him. This weakens the state's case considerably, for no person is known to have had such a close and clear view of the tragedy as did Goodwin, with the sole exception of Miss Speicher, whose testimony will corroborate the declaration of McClallen that he acted in self-defense.
