ASSAILS LEGALITY

Motion to Quash Indictments Against McNamara

DARROW HAS 38 REASONS

State Presents 50 More to Sustain Position—World's Steel Trust Soon to be Organized

(Special to the Evening Review).

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—John and James McNamara appeared in Judge Bordwell's court this forenoon to plead to indictments charging them with the murder of 21 persons in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building. Before they were permitted to plead, their principal attorney, Clarence Darrow, presented a motion to quash the indictments for 38 stated reasons. Assistant District Attorney Ford, forewarned of the action of the defense, met the motion with 50 reasons why the indictments were legal. After listening to brief arguments by both sides, Judge Bordwell adjourned court until 2 o'clock this afternoon. Neither of the McNamara brothers appeared in the least worried.

Bitter Battle Begun.

Today's hearing marks the beginning of a legal battle which will undoubtedly be more bitterly contested than any which has heretofore been fought in the long warfare between capital and labor in America. The trial itself will hardly begin before September, and possibly not until the first of next year. In the meantime the opposing forces of lawyers and detectives are piling up evidence and spending money without stint.

Clarence S. Darrow, the distinguished Chicago attorney, who successfully defended Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone, the leaders of the Western Federation of Miners, in their trial in Idaho for the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, is the chief counsel for the defense. He is assisted by Judge O. B. Hilton, of Pomona, Cal., who was associated with Darrow at Boise; Job Harriman, Leo Rappaport, of Indianapolis, and Cleveland Dam, attorney for the San Francisco Building Trades Council. Several Los Angeles attorneys will also be brought into the case in an advisory capacity. There will be no lack of funds for the defense, as labor unions all over the country are pouring a golden flood into the coffers of the bridge and ironworkers' union.

District Attorney John D. Fredericks has charge of the prosecution, with many able assistants. Detectives at his disposal are busily engaged in unearthing new evidence and alleged confessions, and the sleuths of the defense are in turn shadowing the detectives employed by the prosecution.

Evidence Outlined.

From recent developments it is expected that the prosecution will present its case something along this order:

Testimony of victims and expert witnesses to prove that the Los Angeles Times building was destroyed by dynamite, and testimony of relatives to establish the number of persons killed.

Confession of Ortie E. McManigal, and others alleged corroborating confessions and evidence.

Testimony of about 17 witnesses who will swear that J. B. McNamara was in California last fall under the name of J. B. Bryce. An endeavor will be made to prove that "Bryce" was seen in the neighborhood of the Times building on Oct. 1 last, when the explosion occurred.

The case against J. J. McNamara will include correspondence supplied by McManigal, books found in McNamara's office and the clocks, wires and dynamite found in Indianapolis. Detective W. J. Burns, who worked up the case against the McNamaras, and who was recently indicted in Indianapolis for the alleged kidnapping of the accused men, will probably be the principal witness.

The defense is expected to first attack the allegation that the Times building was destroyed by dynamite and will introduce the testimony of experts to prove that the explosion was due to gas.

As to the McManigal confession, it will probably be alleged that McManigal was in the pay of anti-union manufacturers, and witnesses will be called to establish an alibi for the McNamara brothers. In every case where the two brothers are said by McManigal to have been at a certain place at a certain time, the defense is expected to call a host of witnesses to prove that the men were in other localities. This phase of the defense, it is alleged, will not depend entirely upon the testimony of labor men, but will include the statements of hotel clerks and the introduction of hotel registers.

Handwriting experts will be called to prove that letters alleged by McManigal to have been written by J. J. McNamara were not written by him, but by some person who attempted to imitate the handwriting of the labor leader.

STEEL MEN SET OUT TO FORM WORLD'S TRUST.

BRUSSELS, July 6.—A committee of leading steel manufacturers of the world, who are meeting here, was appointed today to prepare plans for an organization of a world trust along the lines proposed by E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation. Gary's plan to control the world's markets and regulate prices is being enthusiastically received.

DISPATCH OF GERMAN WARSHIP ROILS JOHN BULL.

LONDON, July 6.—That England is determined to protect her own interests in Morocco and at any cost to uphold her treaty obligations with France was flatly declared today in the House of Commons by Premier Asquith. This is taken to mean that England won't agree to the absorption of any Morroccan territory by Germany and puts a more serious aspect on the complications than before.

REST ROOM FOR BABIES ESTABLISHED BY S. P. CO.

Special provisions for taking care of babies and their mothers upon arrival at a railroad station is the latest experiment that is being tried by the Southern Pacific Company at its Sacramento, Cal., depot. The idea is only an experiment and is at the suggestion of one of the patrons of the Southern Pacific Company.

A special room has been furnished for this purpose, just off the main waiting room of the depot and two women attendants, practical nurses, are always present to look out for the needs of the women travelers who have their infants with them. Couches have been provided for the convenience of the mothers and a number of specially constructed cots for the babies have been installed.

In this manner, when a woman traveler with a baby is compelled to wait in the depot for her train or for those who should have met her at the station, she is provided with all the comforts she would have in her own home. The nurses in charge of the room prepare a bed for the baby and for the mother and they are allowed to rest for as long a time as may be necessary. Apparatus is to be installed to facilitate the heating of the food for the infants and if the experiment proves to be a success it is possible that it may be extended by the Southern Pacific Company to all of its principal stations.

The idea is not original with the officials of the company. It was offered by a woman traveler and is being experimented with, as are all suggestions that are offered in this way if they appear to the officials to be practicable.

Have Arundel tune it.

William Sanderson, one of the local pioneer residents, leaves tomorrow for Ashland and Klamath Falls to visit with his sons. His son at the latter place is the mayor of the city. Mr. Sanderson crossed the plains in 1859 and, to use his own words, "with two yoke of cattle, a big spaniel dog, a Shanghai rooster and one spotted hog."

While on the way to see her attorney about filing a suit for divorce, the domestic troubles of Mrs. Horace G. Lichty, of Twin Falls, Idaho, were tragically ended this week at Twin Falls by her husband, who confronted her and without a word of warning shot and killed her. He then turned the weapon upon himself and committed suicide.

Several of Roseburg's largest buildings are to be equipped at once with fire escapes, pursuant to a recently enacted city ordinance supplementing the state law. Orders for the installation of the escapes have been issued by the fire committee of the city council and the chief engineer of the fire department to the owners of the following buildings: Hotel McClallen, 2; Lane school, 2; Hotel McClallen annex (Van Houten), Masonic Temple and Herrington House, one each. Other structures in the city are now being inspected by the committee as to advisability of having them equipped with escapes. The state law requires fire escapes on all public service buildings over two stories high. The city ordinance provides that buildings of only two stories may be required to install "escapes if the exits are deemed insufficient to meet an emergency. For this reason the order of the officials included the Lane school.

Forced to live on bread and eggs for a week at a time on different occasions, deprived of necessary wearing apparel and refused medical treatment when she was in urgent need of it were the experiences crowded into the one year of married life of Rachael Bushnell, according to the suit for divorce filed by her in the Circuit Court here against Austin E. Bushnell. They were married on May 8, 1910. In her complaint Mrs. Bushnell says that as a result of her husband's alleged neglect she contracted hemorrhage of the leg and that he refused to secure medical aid for her. Aside from a decree of separation, she asks for $20 a month alimony and one-third interest in 160 acres of land at Camas Valley, owned by her husband and valued at $2000. In an affidavit accompanying the suit, the wife says she is unable to work and that her husband refuses to either live with her or provide her with funds and she asks that he be required to pay her $100 with which to prosecute her suit and to meet immediate living expenses. Judge Hamilton has signed an order of citation requiring Bushnell to appear before him July 12 and show cause, if any, why the plaintiff should not be paid $100.

HOT WAVE BROKEN

Suffering Millions of Middle West Relieved by Rain

700 DEAD, BABES EXCLUDED

Eastern States Still Swelter, With Eight More Fatalities in New York Cities

Special to the Evening Review.

CHICAGO, July 6.—Cooling showers and breezes broke the backbone of the heat wave throughout the Middle West today. Indications are strong that tonight will see the beginning of the cool spell relieving millions who have gasped in torridity for a week.

Statistics gathered today indicate that 700 adult lives and perhaps as many more infants were sacrificed during the hot wave which was the most enduring and severe in 41 years. The temperature is 15 degrees cooler today than yesterday.

The heaviest death lists were recorded in the following cities: Chicago 156, New York 110, Cleveland 33, Toronto 33, Boston 29, Newark 26, Pittsburg 21, Kansas City, Mo., 16.

New York Not Relieved.

NEW YORK, July 6.—The Northeastern states are not enjoying the cooler temperature prevailing today in the Middle West. The hot wave continues. Eight deaths from the heat occurred here this morning.

AIRING OF GOTHAM'S LATEST SENSATION BEGINS.

NEW YORK, July 6.—Facing Lillian Graham and Ethel Conrad, the two girls charged with attempting to murder him, W. E. Stokes, the millionaire hotel keeper, in court today told his side of the shooting, which occurred in Miss Conrad's apartments, after he had resisted the alleged attempt to blackmail him.

Stokes said he came to the apartments for certain letters which Miss Conrad had telephoned had been left for him by Miss Graham. Upon his arrival there, he said, Miss Graham appeared, revolver in hand, and commanded him to sign a retraction of statements which she accused him of saying about herself and family. Miss Conrad then demanded a check for $25,000 and when he refused to comply a scuffle ensued in which Stokes was shot.

WOULD HAVE GOVERNMENT OWN EMBASSY SITES.

WASHINGTON, July 6—Caustically denouncing the American "dollar diplomacy" and sarcastically condoling with American girls who married foreign titles, Representative Henry, Democrat, of Texas, yesterday spoke in the House supporting the resolution asking the Secretary of State for information as to what purchases of embassy sites have been made since their authorization last session. He urged that the Government own all embassy buildings so "the poor may have equal chance with the rich in diplomatic service." He discussed "International marriages and the glitter of modern American diplomacy." He referred unmistakably to Whitelaw Reid, John Hays Hammond, Charlemagne Tower and other rich American diplomats.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR HOSTS IN ATLANTIC CITY.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 6.—An army of young Christian soldiers, enlisted for life to fight the battles of righteousness and wearing buttons bearing the letters "C. E." as the symbol of their service, encamped today in Atlantic City to spend a week. The hosts, with generals and captains including some of the leading clergymen and religious workers of North American, are here to hold the 25th international convention of the Christian Endeavor Society. By hundreds and thousands, from every nook and corner of the United States and Canada, the delegates are pouring in, with every train adding to the throng, until it appears today that the estimate of 30,000 will be reached and possibly surpassed.

The list of speakers for the week includes some of the leading men of the Nation. President Taft has promised to deliver an address, if possible, and the other orators on the list include William Jennings Bryan, Judge Ben B. Lindsey, of Denver, former Vice President Fairbanks, Dr. Booker T. Washington, of Tuskegee, the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, Commander Eva Booth, the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, the Rev. G. Fukada, of Japan, the Rev. F. J. Horsefield, of England, the Rev. R. S. Gray, of New Zealand, and dozens of others.

The sessions are held on the million dollar pier, which has been engaged exclusively for the Endeavors for the week.

The convention celebrates the fact that the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor has gained a membership of 4,000,000, enrolled in 75,000 societies. While the majority of members are in the United States and Canada, there are branches in Great Britain, Australia, China, India, Japan and all missionary countries, all of which are represented in the big gathering.

The Christian Endeavor Society was organized thirty years ago in Williston Church, Portland, Me., by the Rev. Francis B. Clark, D. D.

The three overland travelers suspected of the murder of Alex McNabb, whose charred body was found in the ruins of his burned cabin near Brockway, June 14, are in custody, but to all appearances they are entirely innocent. Two of the men are in the jail at Coquille, Coos County. The third, Tony Belkous by name, was brought to Roseburg today by Sheriff W. W. Cage, of Coquille, and lodged in the county jail. None of the missing articles from McNabb's cabin were found on any of the men and there isn't a scintilla of evidence to connect them with the crime. Sheriff Cage is satisfied the men are not guilty. Suspicion attached to the trio because they were seen in the vicinity of McNabb's homestead a day or two before the discovery of his body. The men unhesitatingly admitted that they passed the place, but have pretty clearly shown that they camped on the other side of Camas Mountain on the night the tragedy is supposed to have occurred. The place of camp and the route they traveled was pointed out to Sheriff Cage by Belkous as he was on his way to Roseburg with him. The three men are being kept apart and all will be carefully examined before being released. They are doubtless the three men sought by the officers ever since the tragedy but are evidently able to clearly prove an alibi.
