A FIREPROOF AND PANIC PROOF SCHOOL.

Building in Collingwood, O., Has Direct Exit From Every Room.

A school building in which every room has a direct connection with the ground, without first entering the main hall, has been built just beside the site of the famous Collingwood, O., school in which 175 children perished by fire in 1908. It represents many unique features of construction and is said to be as fireproof and panic proof as it is possible for a school building to be.

There are twelve large classrooms and a spacious auditorium in the new building. Between each two rooms a cement stairway extends straight down to the ground, making it possible to empty the entire building in two minutes without using the main halls and with never more than two classes coming in contact with each other. The stairways from the rooms on the first floor are directly under the stairways from the second floor. Doors at the ground exits open on the slightest pressure.

Steel doors are used at the main entrances, and steel doors also separate the classrooms from the halls. Door and window casings are of steel. The floors are laid on concrete, and the roof is concrete. The corridors and cloak rooms have cement finished floors. Each room is ventilated without the necessity of opening a window. An electrically operated fan twelve feet in diameter provides the ventilation. Heat is furnished from a separate building and passes beneath the floor in brick ducts. An even temperature is preserved by automatic devices.

The auditorium of this building is circular in form, is directly on the ground and has no balcony. There is a glass dome in the center for light. Seven exits lead from this room.

On the adjoining ground and directly on the site of the great fire a memorial park 140 by 200 feet is for flower gardens, shrubbery, decorative trees and lawn.

TEN COMMANDMENTS GIVEN FOR A SPOTLESS TOWN.

Calling itself the "spotless town," New Britain, Conn., has adopted the following ten commandments:

- First—Don't throw anything on the sidewalk or street. Find a rubbish can.
- Second—Don't tear up paper and scatter it anywhere.
- Third—Don't let any piles of ashes or rubbish stay in your back yard.
- Fourth—Don't mix ashes and garbage in the same can. Pigs don't like to eat old coal or clinkers.
- Fifth—Don't fill the ash bin or garbage can too full.
- Sixth—Don't chalk the sidewalk, fences, buildings or pavements.
- Seventh—Don't deface park benches, school furniture or any public property.
- Eighth—Don't forget that horses love banana skins. A banana skin isn't dangerous if it is inside a horse's stomach.
- Ninth—Don't do anything that will bring disgrace to the city where you live.
- Tenth—Don't expect your city to become clean and perfect all at once. It will become an ideal city only when everybody does something every day to help make things better.

DEMANDS CLEANER CITY.

Art League to Show Pictures of Un-sightly Spots.

A fight for a cleaner Kansas City will start in earnest during the winter. The Art League will be its guiding spirit, and other organizations will lend their support. The Art League will seek the following reforms:

An eradication of unsightly billboards. An art commission of five or seven men to give on the construction of public works.

More strictly rubbish laws on the city streets and street lawns to require the throwing refuse on the streets.

A cleanup of unsightly vacant lots in the city, weeds cut and rubbish kept from them.

More window flower boxes along the streets.

"We will put these plans through by demanding the right kind of laws," said Frank S. Land, president of the league. "We will show pictures of the inartistic scenes, the unsightly vacant lots and hideous billboards taken from each ward. In that way we will arouse a spirit that will demand the legislation we are working for."

DAIRY WISDOM.

A good appetite in a cow is like a good draft to a stove. Plenty of clover hay is good medicine for the young heifer. Treat the cows kindly and they will repay you in dollars and cents. The man, the cow, the feed, are three essentials to successful dairymaking. It has been predicted by an authority that the time is not far distant when the small dairyman will not be able to afford a pasture. If this time should come then indeed would the cow come into its own. Do not run the risk of perpetuating weak characteristics in your herd by breeding animals that are uncertain. The progeny is sure to inherit all the traits of the parents.
