

PROGRESSIVE

As Roseburg leads the Southern Oregon towns in progressiveness—so The Review leads all newspapers of the same section.

ROSEBURG REVIEW

VOL. XV.

ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 21, 1912.

FATE WITH CABINET

Madero and His Fellow Graftors Will Probably Be Slain

"FUGITIVE LAW" HANDY METHOD

Former President Diaz Slated For Return to Power—Taft Gets Medal to Adorn Frontal Expanse

(Special to The Evening Review). MEXICO CITY, Feb. 21.—Madero sits covering in the guard room of the national palace, a nervous wreck. It is learned from his guards that if his fate is left to the decision of the new cabinet, it probably will decide that Madero and ex-President Suarez must die by the "fugitive law" manner in which Gustavo Madero met his death.

Acting President Huerta was assured Senora Madero that her husband is in no immediate danger of execution. Madero's wife is prostrated and under the care of physicians. Huerta's assurance was given out in sympathy for her condition.

Congress will tonight consider Madero's fate. It is generally expected he will not be formally executed, but that if he is to be slain death will come between here and Vera Cruz. Troops having him in charge will report a "fatal accident" or that he was killed while attempting to escape.

Grafter Will Die With Madero. EL PASO, Feb. 21.—Madero and Frederico Don Gonzales Garcia, deposed Governor-General of Mexico City district, will be slain within 48 hours, according to private advices received here. Garcia is accused of grafting from the army and is reported to be responsible for most of the 6,000,000 pesos of the treasury deficit. Dispatches say Huerta will not order the execution, but that Madero and Garcia will die under the "fugitive law."

FORMER PRESIDENT DIAZ DUE FOR HIS OLD JOB

PARIS, Feb. 21.—"You may rest assured that we will all have the pleasure of seeing Porfirio Diaz return triumphantly to Mexico." This was the declaration made by Colonel Felipe Olesco, a life-long friend of the former dictator. He said Diaz would delay his return until assured that his presence would not embarrass his nephew, Felix Diaz, conqueror of Madero.

MEXICO NO PLACE FOR SUCH AN OCCASION AS THIS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—President Taft, in recognition of his services in behalf of universal peace, will be presented with a gold medal at a testimonial reception and dinner to be held in his honor at Sherry's tonight. (Continued on page 6).

NICHOLS ALONE IN FIGHT TO BAR PATENT PAVEMENT FROM ROADS

House Passes Bill Permitting Any Firm to Bid on Work—Howard Opposed to Roseburg Army

SALEM, Or., Feb. 20.—When the Barrett-Hurd bill, known as the county bonding law, came up in the House for consideration today, Nichols created a decided storm by endeavoring to force the insertion of the Kellaher amendment, barring all patent pavements from county roads.

After a hot tilt, in which several members of the House took part, the amendment or substitute for section 24 was adopted. This throws open the specifications for county road work to all comers.

Governor West had objected to section 24 as passed by the Senate, and the compromise substitute offered by Smith was accepted in that branch of the Legislature.

Forbes Resents Move. Without the slightest warning, when the measure came to the House, Nichols injected the patent pavement feature into the situation. Forbes scored Nichols for bringing in this amendment again, charging it to be unfair.

"We have gone all over this matter time and time again," said Forbes, "and it has been thrashed out in committee of both houses and has been given more thought and consideration perhaps than any other bill of this session. Now why bring this paving fight in here? Everyone is satisfied with the Smith amendment, and let us put that in and send the bill back to the Senate for final action."

When the vote was taken on the Nichols amendment, which was in the identical language of one which Senator Kellaher tried to have inserted when the Barrett bill was in the Senate, it was voted down overwhelmingly.

The Smith amendment introduced by Reames was then voted on and was adopted by the same vote. On final rollcall Nichols stood alone in voting against the amended Barrett-Hurd bill.

All Bidders Let In.

The new section 24 gives the County Court the right to call for bids on specifications prepared by any person, firm or corporation. All bids may be rejected on authority of the County Court.

When the bill was declared passed

BLIZZARDY WEATHER SWEEPING WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 21.—Threatening to paralyze traffic over the state, snowstorms are raging in Wisconsin. In the southern part most severe blizzard winter is being encountered. Wires are demoralized and much suffering is reported. It is feared that car traffic may have to suspend.

SAVE FUEL BILLS

By using this wonderfully efficient little electric stove.

Costs no more than an ordinary electric iron. Boils, broils, fries, toasts, quicker, cheaper, cleaner than gas or wood.

S. H. GOODMAN

Roseburg, Ore. Phone 77. Cor. Oak and Main streets.

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of his past trouble. Weiss has never been convicted of violating the local option law, but shortly before the brewery trial he was convicted of unlawful traffic in deer meat and fined $200. The defense, of course, is not expected to overlook this in attacking his credibility as a witness.

LOCAL NEWS

The Harding-Furbeck Company is the title of a new real estate firm filing articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today. The incorporators are W. C. Harding and W. D. Sheep, of the Harding Land Company of this city, and R. J. Furbeck, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange. The main offices of the company will be located in Portland. Capital stock $50,000.

Mrs. Ada Pearl Alexander, wife of W. A. Alexander, died at Fairview, Coos County, Or., February 11, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. She was 21 years of age and a daughter of Mrs. Susan Alexander, of Edenbowser. Deceased and her husband formerly lived in Roseburg, where Mr. Alexander was employed as a teamster. They went to Fairview from this city last Fall.

H. O. Lewis, who leaves next Thursday, with his family, for San Diego, Cal., to remain indefinitely, was presented with a beautiful emblematic watch charm by his fellow members of Union Encampment, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening. This token carries with it the appreciation of the members for his many years of active service as a member of the order and their best wishes for his success and happiness in his new home.

Better do it now before you forget it—get that 1912 automobile license at the Roseburg Garage on N. Rose street. They save the bother and uncertainty of writing to Salem.

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of his past trouble. Weiss has never been convicted of violating the local option law, but shortly before the brewery trial he was convicted of unlawful traffic in deer meat and fined $200. The defense, of course, is not expected to overlook this in attacking his credibility as a witness.

LOCAL NEWS

The Harding-Furbeck Company is the title of a new real estate firm filing articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today. The incorporators are W. C. Harding and W. D. Sheep, of the Harding Land Company of this city, and R. J. Furbeck, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange. The main offices of the company will be located in Portland. Capital stock $50,000.

Mrs. Ada Pearl Alexander, wife of W. A. Alexander, died at Fairview, Coos County, Or., February 11, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. She was 21 years of age and a daughter of Mrs. Susan Alexander, of Edenbowser. Deceased and her husband formerly lived in Roseburg, where Mr. Alexander was employed as a teamster. They went to Fairview from this city last Fall.

H. O. Lewis, who leaves next Thursday, with his family, for San Diego, Cal., to remain indefinitely, was presented with a beautiful emblematic watch charm by his fellow members of Union Encampment, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening. This token carries with it the appreciation of the members for his many years of active service as a member of the order and their best wishes for his success and happiness in his new home.

Better do it now before you forget it—get that 1912 automobile license at the Roseburg Garage on N. Rose street. They save the bother and uncertainty of writing to Salem.

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of his past trouble. Weiss has never been convicted of violating the local option law, but shortly before the brewery trial he was convicted of unlawful traffic in deer meat and fined $200. The defense, of course, is not expected to overlook this in attacking his credibility as a witness.

LOCAL NEWS

The Harding-Furbeck Company is the title of a new real estate firm filing articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today. The incorporators are W. C. Harding and W. D. Sheep, of the Harding Land Company of this city, and R. J. Furbeck, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange. The main offices of the company will be located in Portland. Capital stock $50,000.

Mrs. Ada Pearl Alexander, wife of W. A. Alexander, died at Fairview, Coos County, Or., February 11, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. She was 21 years of age and a daughter of Mrs. Susan Alexander, of Edenbowser. Deceased and her husband formerly lived in Roseburg, where Mr. Alexander was employed as a teamster. They went to Fairview from this city last Fall.

H. O. Lewis, who leaves next Thursday, with his family, for San Diego, Cal., to remain indefinitely, was presented with a beautiful emblematic watch charm by his fellow members of Union Encampment, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening. This token carries with it the appreciation of the members for his many years of active service as a member of the order and their best wishes for his success and happiness in his new home.

Better do it now before you forget it—get that 1912 automobile license at the Roseburg Garage on N. Rose street. They save the bother and uncertainty of writing to Salem.

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of his past trouble. Weiss has never been convicted of violating the local option law, but shortly before the brewery trial he was convicted of unlawful traffic in deer meat and fined $200. The defense, of course, is not expected to overlook this in attacking his credibility as a witness.

LOCAL NEWS

The Harding-Furbeck Company is the title of a new real estate firm filing articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today. The incorporators are W. C. Harding and W. D. Sheep, of the Harding Land Company of this city, and R. J. Furbeck, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange. The main offices of the company will be located in Portland. Capital stock $50,000.

Mrs. Ada Pearl Alexander, wife of W. A. Alexander, died at Fairview, Coos County, Or., February 11, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. She was 21 years of age and a daughter of Mrs. Susan Alexander, of Edenbowser. Deceased and her husband formerly lived in Roseburg, where Mr. Alexander was employed as a teamster. They went to Fairview from this city last Fall.

H. O. Lewis, who leaves next Thursday, with his family, for San Diego, Cal., to remain indefinitely, was presented with a beautiful emblematic watch charm by his fellow members of Union Encampment, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening. This token carries with it the appreciation of the members for his many years of active service as a member of the order and their best wishes for his success and happiness in his new home.

Better do it now before you forget it—get that 1912 automobile license at the Roseburg Garage on N. Rose street. They save the bother and uncertainty of writing to Salem.

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of his past trouble. Weiss has never been convicted of violating the local option law, but shortly before the brewery trial he was convicted of unlawful traffic in deer meat and fined $200. The defense, of course, is not expected to overlook this in attacking his credibility as a witness.

LOCAL NEWS

The Harding-Furbeck Company is the title of a new real estate firm filing articles of incorporation with the County Clerk today. The incorporators are W. C. Harding and W. D. Sheep, of the Harding Land Company of this city, and R. J. Furbeck, a former member of the New York Stock Exchange. The main offices of the company will be located in Portland. Capital stock $50,000.

Mrs. Ada Pearl Alexander, wife of W. A. Alexander, died at Fairview, Coos County, Or., February 11, after an extended illness of tuberculosis. She was 21 years of age and a daughter of Mrs. Susan Alexander, of Edenbowser. Deceased and her husband formerly lived in Roseburg, where Mr. Alexander was employed as a teamster. They went to Fairview from this city last Fall.

H. O. Lewis, who leaves next Thursday, with his family, for San Diego, Cal., to remain indefinitely, was presented with a beautiful emblematic watch charm by his fellow members of Union Encampment, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening. This token carries with it the appreciation of the members for his many years of active service as a member of the order and their best wishes for his success and happiness in his new home.

Better do it now before you forget it—get that 1912 automobile license at the Roseburg Garage on N. Rose street. They save the bother and uncertainty of writing to Salem.

It is said that Micelli will take the

MICELLI TRIAL OPENS

26 Talesmen Examined Before Jury is Secured

STATE NOW HAVING AN INNING

Principal Witnesses Consist of Trio of Men Convicted on Former Occasions—Defense Alleges Plot

Joseph Micelli, Mayor of Roseburg, is on trial in the Circuit Court today on an indictment charging him, as manager of the Roseburg Brewing & Ice Company, with the sale of beer to Robert Connor in violation of the local option law during the month of August, 1911.

Twenty-six talesmen were called to the jury box before the following twelve were selected by both sides to try the case: E. Rhoades, J. J. Henderson, Oscar Correll, W. H. Raymond, A. A. Sagerberg, D. P. McKay, Ed. Moser, H. L. DeWald, G. H. Carey, Scott Henry, Charles Strong and Charles Henderson. Late this afternoon the examination of witnesses for the state was still in progress.

Micelli's counsel consists of Attorneys Dexter Rice and Elbert B. Hermann, who represented the brewery in a similar trial in the Circuit Court here last Fall, when the jury disagreed, standing 6 to 6 from first till last. Prosecuting Attorney Brown is conducting the state's case unaided.

Synopsis of Defense. All of the personal and political vindictiveness and acrimony that stamped the brewery trial as the most bitterly fought case ever heard in the Circuit Court here gives promise of being repeated in the present trial if "let even" with him for fanned wrongs; that the Sheriff and Prosecuting Attorney were compelled to become parties to the plot by the threat of Governor West to deprive them of their jobs if they didn't prosecute the brewery; that the alleged sale of beer to Connor from the brewery, if made, were so done by an employee without the knowledge or consent of Micelli; that Micelli's enemies never came forward to prosecute him until after he was elected Mayor and nearly a year after he had resigned from the management of the brewery, a circumstance tending to show an ulterior motive.

Expected "Testimony." In his enumeration of the men whom he alleged had plotted the downfall of Micelli, Attorney Reames named Connor, Max Weiss and ex-Mayor E. V. Hoover. All three have been convicted of misdemeanors in the Circuit Court and all are listed as witnesses against Micelli. Their records in this court will naturally weigh heavily against their testimony, and the attorneys for the defense may be expected to arraign them in language of unusual severity.

When the brewery was tried last Fall, Hoover, a former stockholder in the corporation, later a political foe of Micelli, gave evidence in behalf of the state and in consequence subjected himself to a scathing denunciation at the hands of Attorney Hermann. As he is one of the state's witnesses in the present case, it is expected that he will be scheduled for another flying. Hoover is expected to testify that the sales of beer made by the brewery to Connor were under Micelli's direction. Hoover is alleged to have been a silent business associate of Connor when the latter conducted a liquor house in Roseburg. Connor was twice convicted of selling intoxicating liquor and on the last occasion he served a month's time in the county jail. He blamed Micelli for his conviction.

Weiss, now conducting a brewery at Ukiah, Cal., formerly operated a cold storage and beer depot in Roseburg. He was four times indicted for violating the local option law. On one charge he paid a fine; on the second he was sentenced to jail, but the unsanitary condition of that place of imprisonment saved him from being sentenced. He remained in the county jail a few days ago. It will be the assertion of the defense that these indictments were predicated upon Weiss' agreement to give testimony against Micelli, at whose door Weiss lays all of