

SOUTHERN JOTTINGS.

The Sun is informed that M. M. Valerius, a former resident of Roseburg, will arrive here in a few days with a view of putting down a test well for oil.

Among the orders received last Monday by Manager Frank Norton for Everfresh Food Products, was for a large quantity of the well known house of one from New York City.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackman and son, Ray, departed last week for Portland, where they expect to reside until spring. Mr. and Mrs. Jay Booth are now occupying the Jackman place east of town.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McReynolds returned the first of the week from Portland, where they purchased a $10,000 stock of dry goods, shoes and groceries for the Sutherland Mercantile Co. The goods are now being marked and arranged on the shelves, and the new store will be ready for all comers by Saturday of this week.

How often we see a man get out and look all over town for his dog, if it is not at home in the evening, when his son or daughter can stay away until any old hour of the night but he will never once inquire where he or she is, or what kind of company they may be in. Still we wonder why so many boys and girls turn out bad.

During the past week there has been considerable activity just north of the local S. P. station, where preparations are being made for the construction of a large freight depot, two or three warehouses and several additional lines of switches. A large amount of filling will also be done on the land recently purchased by the railroad, and a steam shovel is expected here this week to handle that portion of the work.—The Sun.

Portland Journal, Nov. 29: So serious became the condition of Colonel J. B. Eddy, tax commissioner of the Southern Pacific Railway, that a consultation was held at Good Samaritan Hospital early today, with Dr. K. A. J. Mackenzie, Dr. George Wilson, Dr. A. J. Giesy and Dr. J. H. Walls in attendance. Early today Dr. Mackenzie held out little hope for recovery, and it was stated at the hospital this afternoon that practically no change, either for better or worse, had been noted since morning.

SWALLOWING A PILL.

By Being Too Conscious of the Act We Make It Difficult.

Reduced to plain words, the scientific reason why so many people find it exceedingly difficult to swallow a pill is because they try to.

While this sounds paradoxical, it is nevertheless true, according to the best of authorities. The explanation is that in eating our food we swallow it almost automatically and give no thought to the act of swallowing, but with a pill we put it in the mouth and say to ourselves, "This is a very small object and will be difficult to swallow. I must make an effort to do this."

And right there is where the difficulty comes with most people. The muscular effort made to swallow the pill, accompanied by the thinking about the act, really hinders the proper working of the throat muscles that would otherwise act properly in carrying the pill down the throat.

A similar condition is that of a musician playing well when alone and faltering in the presence of listeners. It has been advanced that fear hinders the nervous system, causing the musician to fumble and the pill swallower to procrastinate.—New York World.

Timidity and Plurality.

In politics the plurality is the great test of more than two numbers and is also the excess of the highest number of votes cast for any one candidate over the next highest number. When a candidate receives out of 10,000 votes cast 4,000 and two other candidates receive respectively 3,500 and 2,500, the first is elected by a plurality, though he has received less than a majority of the whole vote, and he is said to have a plurality of 500 votes. If the numbers are 6,000, 3,000 and 1,000, the majority is 2,000 and the plurality is 3,000. A majority, therefore, must be more than half the entire vote cast, and a candidate's majority is, then, the difference between the number of votes he received and the combined number of votes cast for all other candidates; his plurality is the difference between his own number and the number received by the candidate nearest to him.

Timid About Bathing.

Archibald Colquhoun relates that "there is a strong prejudice in Nicaragua against bathing and even washing while on a journey and for some days afterward. The dust is not washed off the face for some days after arrival, especially if the traveler has come from the 'tierras calientes' (hot country, or lower regions, for a too sudden opening of the pores of the skin will certainly produce fever, according to popular belief. The people of Nicaragua, according to Squier, are generally scrupulously clean in their persons, except when traveling, and then the use of water is prohibited."

The Agriculturist's View.

Two farmers on a visit to Liverpool stood upon the platform of a railway station, when a lady passed dressed in the height of fashion.

"There, Jim," said one, "what do you think of that, huh?"

Jim looked at her for a minute and then said: "Ah, yes, it's bad ground that takes so much top dressing!"—Liverpool Mercury.

Fate.

"My good man, how did you come to be in prison?"

"Fate," I guess, man."

"Fate? I don't understand you."

"Well, you see, it must have been ordained that some day I would be in this cell when you came along asking fool questions, and of course I had to be the guy."—Detroit Free Press.

Fan: He didn't seem so to me, but on looking him up in the commercial directory I found he was—Boston Transcript.
