Bowels are Basis of Child Health

The careful mother, who watches closely the physical peculiarities of her children, will soon discover that the most important thing in connection with a child's constant good health is to keep the bowels regularly open. Stagnant bowels will be followed by loss of appetite, restlessness during sleep, irritability and a dozen and one similar evidences of physical disorder.

At the first sign of such disorder give the child a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring and repeat the dose the following night if necessary—more than that will scarcely be needed. You will find that the child will recover its accustomed good spirits at once and will eat and sleep normally. This remedy is a vast improvement over salts, cathartics, laxative waters and similar things, which are altogether too powerful for a child. The homes of Mrs. E. S. Griffin, Sandy, Utah, and Mrs. Clara McIntosh, Masonville, Colo., are always supplied with Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and with them, as with thousands of others, there is no substitute for this grand laxative. It is really more than a laxative, for it contains superior tonic properties which help to tone and strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels so that after a brief use of it all laxatives can be dispensed with and nature will do its own work.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at 85¢ per bottle or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. H. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

ONE JOB CITEI

The committees in charge of the good roads work to be done by the people of the city in four sections next Saturday, were busy today getting their various armies of workers signed up and arranging their plans for the campaign against the ruts and mudholes. All such being deemed obstacles of traffic by the central executive committee, their existence is doomed and will be wiped out by the big swoop of the four armies Saturday morning, which will set out under direction of the committee for each district. Harry McGallen, the new lieutenant for the northeast section of the city, enlisted a large number of volunteers this morning. E. L. Giles, of the southeast section, has plans well worked out, and J. W. Perkins, of the southwest corner has called for a meeting of his committee tomorrow morning. John Oliver is thinking out a plan, and will begin probably tomorrow to start something in the northwest section.

LURING A LANCEHEAD.

Presence of Mind in Dealing With a Deadly Serpent.

In a French paper is told a curious serpent story, the scene of which was the island of Martinique and the dramatic personae Sergeant Legrand and Private Durand and the snake a deadly lancehead.

The soldier had been punished with a night in the cells for some trivial offense, but as the night was very hot the sergeant had left the door open. In the morning at 5 o'clock Legrand went to wake his prisoner and to his horror, beheld a lancehead snake coiled up and fast asleep on the man's breast.

The sergeant did not lose his presence of mind. He stole noiselessly away, ran to the guard room and, followed by all the men on duty, returned to the cell with a bowl of milk and a tin whistle. Placing the bowl of milk at the entrance to the cell, the sergeant began to play the "Blue Danube." It is needless to remark that the weakness of the lancehead is milk and music. The serpent, which was a six foot specimen, awoke, glided from the soldier's body toward the bowl, but it had no sooner buried its head in its beloved drink than ten cudgels descended on it with terrific force, killing it outright.

The soldier, Durand, who was in a swoon, was taken to hospital, where he lay for many days on the verge of madness. He finally recovered and related his horrible experience—how he had awoke in the middle of the night as the serpent was coiling itself on his bare breast and how he had lain there in an agony for hours, not daring to move a muscle.

ATTENTION FRUIT GROWERS.

Mr. Seig, of the North-Pacific Fruit Distributors, will be in Roseburg Thursday afternoon, April 23, for the purpose of addressing fruit growers on the subject of Co-operative Fruit Marketing. The meeting will be held in the Commercial Club rooms at 2 p. m.

Who are the NORTH-PACIFIC FRUIT DISTRIBUTORS? It is a corporation formed by the ORCHARD OWNERS of Oregon and Washington for the purpose of marketing the product of the orchards and farms of the Northwest on a co-operative basis. Altho last year was the first so effective was their work that they marketed nearly two-thirds of the fruit of Oregon and Washington, and to such complete satisfaction to their brother fruit growers and farmers, that it is easy to foresee that the North-Pacific Distributors are to be the salvation of the fruit and vegetable growers of this section in the same way that the California Fruit Growers' Association transformed the orange and lemon business from nothing to the highly profitable business of the present.

Mr. Seig is an orchardist of Hood River. He has traveled continually during the past year studying market conditions. Don't let anything prevent your attending this meeting, as it is a real opportunity to get a line of information on the subject that is most important to you. How to get your money out of fruit, berries and broccoli.
