ENDANGERS THE COUNTRY.

It is a well known saying that "whom the gods would destroy they first make mad." Hence it would seem that it is something akin to madness that is causing Candidate Hughes to go about the country denouncing the recent enactment of the Adamson law which averted the Nation-wide railway strike and thus saved the country from industrial and commercial disaster, and probable riots and bloodshed. If anything were needed to show the subservience of Mr. Hughes to the so-called "big business" interests of the country, as represented by the stand-pat element of the Republican party, he is abundantly supplying that evidence in his campaign utterances and especially by his attacks upon the Adamson law. His attitude in the matter places him squarely on record as being willing that the country should be plunged into an industrial conflict that would have seriously affected 100,000,000 people, paralyzed industry, thrown millions of workers out of employment, plunged thousands of business people, manufacturers, fruitgrowers and shippers into bankruptcy and caused distress and suffering throughout the country. It seems to thinking people that a man who is willing to see the country plunged into such a disaster, when the only thing needed to avert it was the enactment of an 8-hour day law for railroad trainmen, is altogether unsafe to be placed at the head of the Nation. By such an attitude Mr. Hughes is undoubtedly turning thousands of thinking voters to the support of President Wilson every day. The only conclusion the voters can reach is that the safety of the industrial and commercial interests of the country demands the rejection of Wilson.

WILL DEVELOP MINE

Cinnabar Properties Near Sutherlin to Be Developed

ORDERS ARRIVE FROM PORTLAND

The Property Is Located About Seven Miles East of Sutherlin and Is Considered Very Resourceful—New Machinery

SUTHERLIN, Ore., Sept. 21.—Mining engineers in Sutherlin have received instructions from Portland to proceed at once on the work of developing the big cinnabar properties seven miles east of this city. Final details looking to the development, which have been in progress for several months, were satisfactorily adjusted in Portland Saturday, and sufficient capital to insure the success of the enterprise has been secured. Preliminary work was begun Tuesday, when tools, provisions, camp equipment and men were sent out to Foster creek. Mining machinery purchased in Portland is expected to arrive here this week. A 50-ton ball mill will be installed at once, and new units will be added as rapidly as possible, until a mill of 150 tons daily capacity is in operation. From 10 to 15 men will be employed from the start, and a mill to house the machinery, and buildings for sleeping quarters, cook house and office will be constructed as soon as the material can be placed on the ground. It is expected that between 25 and 30 men will be employed within four months, and the monthly payroll for the first three months is estimated at $1500. The mill will be operated by electricity. The development of this mining property will be under the direct supervision of L. S. Griswold, of Boston, Mass., who recently spent several months here investigating the properties. Mr. Griswold was formerly professor of chemistry and mineralogy at Harvard university, and later a professor in the school of mines at Raleigh, N. C. The extensive cinnabar properties east of Sutherlin were operated extensively about 20 years ago, but owing to differences between men conducting the enterprise and the great expense of hauling the ore out with teams, the properties were abandoned. With a railroad now building into the district and modern machinery for handling the ore, the proposition is more attractive.

HOW A YANKEE ACTS AS KING.

There is no end of the search for novelties in producing photoplays, and with scores of new productions issuing from the producers every week the firm that can provide something unusual either in theme or in the manner of its presentation is surely entitled to credit for enterprise and reward for the endeavor. Coming to the Majestic Theater on Friday is the Bluebird photoplay in which J. Walter Kerrigan is starred, under the title of "A Son of the Immortals." This work has an unusual plot and forwarding an interesting story there is disclosed conditions in an imaginary kingdom over which an American is called to rule.

JESS WILLARD WITH SELLS-FOTO CIRCUS

On Wednesday, September 27 we will get a chance to inspect the "heavyweight champion of the world," Jess Willard. Jess Willard will be in town for a public appearance with the Sells-Foto circus and it will be his first appearance here since he won the decision at Madison Square Garden. He will be here not so much as a great fighter, but more as an example of what clean living and plenty of exercise in the open will do for a man. He aims to convince boys that they can become devotees of athletics even to the extent of engaging in a glove bout and still be gentlemanly enough to command the respect of clean living men and women. Willard will appear at all performances. His first appearance will be in his old role of cowboy, at the head of the Buffalo Bill Wildwest cowboys. Later he will illustrate, in ring costume, with his sparring partner, how he won the championship, and the punches given in his latest fight at Madison Square Garden which he won the decision over Moran. It is not intended that there will be any real blows given, but the science of defense will be demonstrated by the best man in the game.

Traditions are ruthlessly used, and one Yankee makes such headway in popularity with his subjects that the politicians of the kingdom decide that he must be removed, by means that usually obtain in countries where assassination serves as a cross cut to the purpose. But assassinating an American seems to be a difficult job, especially when the plotters conspire without thought of public wishes. Sensations follow each other in rapid succession, there are all sorts of explosions and battles, plots and interplots multiply and still through it all, the Yankee keeps his literal and figurative head uncovered. There is a love story to heighten the interest and hold together the strands of sensationalism, and the usual happy ending is obtained through a "Star Spangled Banner" incident that is sure to arouse enthusiasm.

Warren Kerrigan has a splendid part in which to display his dashing personality and in the robes and surroundings of a king he displays a majesty and bearing that is sure to add more hundreds to the thousands of admirers who have made him their ideal moving picture hero during the several years he has been camera-acting in all sorts of subjects.

MILLION DOLLAR FUND IS GREAT NORTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY'S DONATION FOR OLD AGE PENSIONS

This Huge Sum Is Set Aside So Veteran Employees Can Retire With Means of Living.

DETAILS OF THE JAMES J. HILL MEMORIAL

Head of Veterans' Association Announces Full Plans for Administration of Pension System—Characteristic Letter From L. W. Hill to Employees.

St. Paul, Sept. 6.—Details of the pension system for veteran employees and officers of the Great Northern Railway, which has been established through the efforts of the Great Northern Veterans' Association, were announced by W. J. McMillan, president of the veterans' association, with the approval of L. W. Hill and other officers of the road. The system becomes effective September 16, the anniversary of the birth of James J. Hill, late head of the road and himself a member of the veterans' association in his lifetime. The system will be a memorial to the late Empire Builder, and the veterans will be formally notified of the establishment of the pension system at the annual meeting of the association in St. Paul September 16.

The pension board is made up of G. R. Martin, W. J. McMillan, J. M. Gruber, Ralph Budd, W. P. Kenney and D. W. Morrison, the latter being secretary.

Million-Dollar Fund Basis.

To establish and maintain the fund out of which to pay the pensions, the board of directors of the road has set aside $1,000,000, which will be invested in interest-bearing securities by a board to be named by the president of the road, and the proceeds of the investment will be used for paying pensions. If at any time the funds are insufficient the board of directors will pay the deficit out of the road funds and charge the same to operating expenses.

Pensions Based on Service.

All officers except those holding executive positions and all employees 20 years old shall be retired and all officers and employees who attain the age of 65 years may be retired, provided they have been employed by the railroad for twenty years continuously. Officers or employees meeting these requirements who have become permanently incapacitated may be retired and pensioned without regard to age. For each year of service an allowance of 1 per cent of the average monthly pay received for the ten years preceding retirement shall be paid. In no case, however, will the pension be less than $20 a month nor more than $75 a month. Mr. McMillan said that the announcement of the establishment of the pension system would be accompanied with memorial services for James J. Hill, September 16.

The following letter from L. W. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway, to the employees, concerns the company's gift of $1,000,000 to create the old age pension fund: To its Employees:—Realizing that this company now has, and in succeeding years will have, in its employ, men who will have given many years of faithful service before they reach an age when they are unequal to the further performance of their duties; and desiring to give tangible recognition to faithful and long continued service, the company has determined to institute a Pension System for the benefit of such employees. The rules and regulations under which the Pension System will be administered and applied are set out in the following pages. The Pension System adopted provides for the making of the pension allowances solely from the funds of the company itself. One million dollars will be set aside, the income from which will be the nucleus of the Pension Fund. No contributions will be called from the employees. The company hopes that this voluntary establishment of a Pension System which will assure to faithful employees an income when unable to work, either by reason of age or permanent incapacity, will conform to their appreciation of the company's interest in their welfare, and thereby increase their desire to render long service and devote their best efforts to the company, as so many employees have done in the past. L. W. HILL, President.

If the income therefrom is not sufficient to provide for the payments, the company will appropriate an additional amount as may be needed to make up the deficit, charging the same to operating expenses. If the income therefrom is in excess of the requirements for pensions, the surplus shall be added to the principal of the fund.

Allowances Paid Monthly.

21. When pension allowances shall have been authorized, pursuant to these regulations, they will be paid monthly during the life of the beneficiary; provided, however, that the company may withhold its pension allowances and payments in all cases of gross misconduct, or for other good cause.

It shall be the duty of every employee who may notice or receive any advice of gross misconduct on the part of any pensioned employee promptly to notify the secretary of the Board of Pensions in relation thereto.
