business discussions and current events interested the gathering. The program for the day had been arranged to include Foreign Missions and Miss Josephine Parrott read a delightful and entertaining paper about the missions in China, bringing out many interesting and instructive facts. At the conclusion of the afternoon a delicious menu was served by the hostesses, who were: Mrs. H. Guest, Mrs. Holmes and Mrs. R. H. Grinstead.

At the Theater.

A merry line party at the Antler's Theater on Thursday evening was a glad diversion with which Misses Ethel Yates and Lella Lent entertained the members of the Book and Bag Club. The entertaining program including Mary Flickford and Billie Burke was most thoroughly enjoyed, and after theater the hostesses invited their guests to the Palace of Sweets, where a daintily appointed evening banquet had been arranged for their pleasure. Seated at the tables were: Misses Ruth Aiken, Letitia Abrams, Maybelle Wilson, Irma Martens, Margaret Page, Anna Caldwell, Mrs. F. L. Russell and the hostesses, Miss Lent and Miss Yates.

Entertained Informally.

Mrs. W. S. Hamilton was a delightful hostess when she asked a few friends in for luncheon and to spend the afternoon with her last Friday. The luncheon table was pretty in dainty appointments and a most pleasing social afternoon enjoyed. Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Parks, Miss Mildred Parks, of the University of Oregon; Mrs. Grace Simpson, and the host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. W. S. Hamilton.

Baptist Ladies' Aid Effects.

Thursday afternoon was spent by the members of the Baptist Ladies' Aid in holding an election of officers and business session at the church. Mrs. C. F. Mathews was chosen president of the society, and Mrs. A. H. Amadon the vice president. Mrs. W. C. Pickens was elected as treasurer, and Mrs. W. H. Eaton as secretary. After the hours devoted to routine work and business had passed the ladies were invited to the banquet rooms, where a very dainty surprise luncheon had been prepared for them. The remainder of the afternoon was occupied in a happy social manner.

Are Your Sewers Clogged?

Were Merry Travelers.

A highly enjoyable and unique evening of entertainment was pleasing to a merry group of friends, when Miss Irma Martens asked them to her home last Friday evening, in favor of her sister, Miss Marie Martens, who left on Sunday to enjoy a trip through several Eastern states. Traveling was the diversion of the occasion and when each guest was welcomed she was given a suitcase and asked to board the train for many strange and distant points. The travelogue was conducted by Miss Margaret Page, who made the journey most interesting, and tickets were sold by Miss Ruth Aiken. About the rooms were glaring posters, traveling advertisements, railroad notices, signs of warning and safety first and many novel features that gave realism to the event.

The trip was fraught with many things of interest, with pauses for the different sights and even a hold up. Each guest wore a quaint hat, which distinguished her as a traveler. Presently all were invited to stop for lunch and the hostess served the daintiest of refreshments in cafeteria style. Those present included the members of the Book and Bag Club, of which Miss Martens is a member, and several invited guests. They were: Misses Marie Martens, Ruth Aiken, Margaret Page, Ethel Yates, Lella Lent, Maybelle Wilson, Anna Caldwell, Letitia Abrams, Olive Mae Mathis, Elita Dillard, Lowena Payne, Mrs. Hal V. Halvorsen, and the hostess, Miss Irma Martens.

Miss Martens expects to be gone about a month and her trip will take her as far as Minnesota. She visited in Medford with friends and relatives for a few days and will take the route through California. Miss Martens will be greatly missed in club and society circles, but her many friends join in wishing her a most pleasant sojourn.

Musical Club Entertained.

An evening of Schubert was the entertainment of rare enjoyment provided for the members of the Monthly Musical Club, when they were invited to meet at the home of Mrs. Nadine Shepard Tuesday evening. The program was given by Prof. Gurdon A. Pory, who read a most interesting paper on the life and work of the famous composer, explaining many of his best known selections. Several vocal and piano numbers were rendered during the evening, selected from the compositions of Schubert, that were very delightful to the audience. Miss Lucy Millikin sang "Who Is Sylvia," "The Sweet Keeper," and "Du Bist Die Ruh." Messrs. Pory, Arnold, Rev. Spencer and Prof. Stone rendered the "Serenade," and Miss Mabel Bryan entertained with singing "Hodge Rosses" and "Impatience." The Andante from the B Minor Symphony and the Impromptu were rendered by A. A. Guivitz, and Miss Millikin sang "Hark, Hark, the Lark," very pleasingly. The remainder of the evening was delightfully informal with conversation and sociability. Very delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. R. M. Brumfield, Miss Helen Hamilton and Miss Anna Bryan.

Pythian Sisters Entertain.

A very delightful entertainment of the week was the evening for which the Pythian Sisters were hostesses on Wednesday. A large attendance of members with several invited guests were present to enjoy the merriment. The popular diversion of progressive 500 was indulged in until late in the evening, when a delicious box supper was served in the banquet hall. The table was very prettily arranged and each box contained a fancy cap, by which partners were found as one similar was worn by the ladies. Prizes at 500 were awarded to Mrs. Sam Christensen and Mr. C. F. Hopkins. The concert honors fell to Mr. Walter Good and Miss Pearl Jones. The evening was very successful and a substantial sum realized for the altruistic work of the Temple, which is a very important factor of the organization.

The social element is featured by the Pythian Sisters at their meetings and each Wednesday after the usual business has been attended to, the members will assemble for several games of 500. On next Wednesday evening the Pythian Knights will entertain with a delightful social function.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Christian church gathered at the church on Monday evening, when they discussed business and plans for the future.

A Merry Evening.

The evening went gladsomely for the "Just What" Wednesday when Miss Ruth Caro was hostess at an attractive social function for them at her home on Mosher street. The hours were spent informally with sewing work and conversation, interspersed with music. A very dainty lunch was served by the hostess. The members present included: Mrs. N. Fullerton, Misses Veva Bulek, Iona Reibel, Madge Miller, Vera and Rhea Sykes, and the hostess, Miss Caro.

Basketball Party.

Miss Maybelle Wilson entertained a merry group of girls Tuesday evening at the basketball game at the armory. A very enjoyable time was spent in watching the game and those present included: Mildred Henry, Colleen Fitzgerald, Bertha Pentney, Leah Lahey, Esther Edgerton, and the hostess, Miss Wilson.

Entertained Informally.

Mrs. Thos. Wharton dispensed pleasing hospitality at her home in West Roseburg Tuesday, when she invited a few friends in for luncheon and to spend the day. The rooms were prettily arrayed with Oregon grape and ferns and the table was very attractively centered with clustering white berries mingling with fine fernery. The guests asked for the occasion were: Mrs. Walter Singleton, Mrs. E. H. Rosenberry and Mrs. E. Maulding.

Fullerton Parent Teachers.

The Parent Teachers' Association of Fullerton school met last evening in business session and many important details were talked of. Another payment was made on the new piano for this school, and entertained.

Rheumatism Follows Exposure.

In the rain all day is generally followed by painful twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Sloan's Liniment will give you quick relief and prevent the twinges from becoming torture. It quickly penetrates with rubbing and soothes the sore and aching joints. For sore, stiff, exhausted muscles that ache and throb from overwork, Sloan's Liniment affords quick relief. Bruises, sprains, strains are quickly soothed by Sloan's Liniment and other minor injuries to children ment. Get a bottle today at your Druggist, 25c.

While sewing engaged the attention of the ladies they were entertained by chapters read alternately by each member from Amelia Rivers's story of "The World's End," a delightful tale of Southern life, that kept everyone fascinated throughout the afternoon. Those attending were: Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, Mrs. William Bell, Mrs. J. E. Eger, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. J. (Continued on page 5).

Luncheon and Reading.

A variety of pleasing entertainment was enjoyed by a happy coterie of ladies Monday when Mrs. George E. Houck asked them to her home on South Stephens street, where they were entertained at a daintily appointed one o'clock luncheon and an afternoon of sewing and reading. Ferns lent a pretty touch to the rooms and the luncheon table was charming in soft pink appointments, with pink candles and candleshears.
