This is the time for making gardens and Roseburg ladies will spend a great deal of their time in digging and planting during the next days. The Honor Guard Girls have been urged to raise potatoes. This work is being done by this organization throughout the state and the garden movement has been received with much enthusiasm. Before the summer is over, society may be turned into garden parties and clubs, in addition to the numerous benefit affairs and the ever popular dancing parties that always diversify the social calendar. Along with other spring activities also come the thoughts of a clean-up campaign. A great deal of improvement could be done along this line and there will be an opportunity for Roseburg citizens to show their civic spiritfulness by taking care on unsightly back yards, removing rubbish and dilapidated buildings and helping otherwise to the general health and beauty of the community.

Informal Luncheon Party.
A large crystal bowl of tulips, in glowing reds and yellows, about which perched a sprightly blue bird and hovered a bright blue butterfly, adorned the center of the charming luncheon table at the home of Mrs. William Bell on Monday, when she dispensed hospitality to the ladies of her club. Happy sociability with reading and just chatting followed the luncheon far into the afternoon hours. Those ladies present included Mrs. J. W. Oliver, Mrs. Geo. E. Honck, Mrs. Paul T. Rubar, Mrs. Theo. Wharton, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. W. Hughes, Mrs. J. E. Knauer and the hostess, Mrs. Bell.

"Mr. Antonio" Entertains.
At the invitation of Miss Mabel Childs, the members of the Book and Bag Club, gathered at her home on Rose street Monday evening, for the pleasure of the hours of sociability and discussing Booth Tarkington's "Mr. Antonio," a charming little book that whirled the hours away. When the last leaf of the narrative had been turned, the hostess brought out the daintiest of refreshments for the favor of the guests. Gathered about the room were Miss Irma Martens, Miss Marie Martens, Miss Edna Smith, Miss Letitia Abrams, Miss Lella Lent and the hostess, Miss Caldwell.

Japan Was Discussed.
Pleasant social courtesies were extended to the ladies of the Baptist Missionary Society, when Mrs. Louis Kohlhauser was their hostess Thursday afternoon at her home on Military street. An attractive arrangement of yellow daffodils and the white, fragrant narcissus gave a charm of springtime to the rooms. The subject for the afternoon's discussion was on Japan, and Mrs. C. J. Houshens ably led the program. When the program hour had passed and the guests had enjoyed themselves socially, the hostess invited them to the dining room, where she served a delicious menu, prepared by Mrs. H. W. Strong and Mrs. R. E. Crawford.

Changes Brought by War.
Mrs. A. C. Margolis revealed the other day a letter from Mrs. F. S. Brown, of Washington, D. C., with whom she visited during her Eastern trip about this time last year, being present for the Easter egg rolling at the White House. Mrs. Brown formerly lived in this city and is remembered by old residents here. The letter was written on Easter Sunday and part of it read as follows: "A year ago you were here and we were busy getting ready to go to the egg rolling at the White House. Today, how different. War has been declared and the White House gates are locked and guarded and snow covers the ground. Such a surprise this morning to find such a pretty note. The children were to go to the zoo and around the monuments to roll eggs, but nothing can be done today. The guard was tight. I speak around the Capitol had sight the flag of ignominy. These are terrible war times."

Roseburg Ladies Honored.
A wholly original social meeting of the Women's Union and Foreign Missionary Societies of the Methodist Church was planned Thursday evening, when Mrs. C. J. Houshens was hostess at her home on South Hill street. Following Mrs. Houshens' and Mrs. L. Houshens' who expected to have back to make time to her home at Long Beach, Cal., following the business season, a party was given at the club on Monday at 7 o'clock by Mrs. C. J. Houshens. Mrs. Houshens' was the guest of honor at the party. The program was given by Mrs. Houshens and Mrs. L. Houshens. They were ably assisted by a host of guests who were: Helen Christy, Elizabeth Vincent, Florence Spencer and Virginia Grant.

Mrs. Chas. Mohr and Miss Sophia Miller spent several days last week visiting with Mrs. William Karcher on South Deer Creek.

Guest From Portland.
A J. Winters of Portland was the guest this week of Owen Thompson, deputy game warden, at his home on North Parrott street. Mr. Winters is a prominent and influential citizen of Portland and his visit here was greatly enjoyed.

Embroidery Club.
Miss Letta Rhoads was a pleasing hostess to the Embroidery Club, when she entertained them with a delightful afternoon at sewing at her home Tuesday. When the hours had drawn to a close the daintiest of refreshments were served. Those present included: Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. Theo. Wharton, Mrs. Chas. Houshens, Mrs. Guy Gordon, Mrs. H. P. Snyder, Mrs. Roy Hellows, Mrs. L. A. Allen, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Floyd Prew, Mrs. Harry Cook, Mrs. Rhoads and the hostess, Miss Rhoads.

Pretty House Warming.
The completion of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. G. McDaniels in Garden Valley was the inspiration for a merry affair of Saturday, when they had about forty-five of their friends in to enjoy the evening hours. The rooms were really arrayed with pretty sandalwood ferns and fine greenery, with many bright and festive flags. Music and dancing was the diversion of the occasion and the guests enjoyed a happy social time. When the midnight hour arrived, the hostess served a very dainty lunch, charmingly assisted by Mrs. P. Lynch, Mrs. R. A. Callahan and Mrs. Decker.

Flag Raising Impressive.
A very impressive flag raising was conducted at the Buck Fork school house last Friday. An interesting program of appropriate activities was given by the pupils and Miss Esther Sergeant of this place, teacher of the school, read an article describing the significance of our "Star Spangled Banner." Then while all joined in the singing of this national song, "Old Glory" was hoisted to the top of a new flag pole by Ernest Steyer. At noon a bounteous picnic dinner was served under the trees surrounding the schoolhouse. The majority of those present were naturalized citizens and their true loyal patriotism was evident throughout the day.—Hildie Tribone

Patriotic Program Pleased.
The patriotic program conducted by some of the best local talent of the city at St. Joseph's Parochial school last Monday evening, for the benefit of the soldiers, was one of the most pleasing occasions of its kind. A very large gathering was present and the evening was featured with musical numbers, readings and recitations. "O Canada" John Kelly of the Soldiers' Home opened the program with an inspiring address on patriotism. Mr. Kelly talked convincingly and inspired the young men to enlist in the services of their country if they expected the privileges and protection of their flag. His talk was greatly appreciated and when he finished he introduced Mrs. Mackay, who closed by singing "Rally Around the Flag" theme. The other numbers included in the evening's entertainment were perfectly and won much applause. The patriotic note was carried out all during the evening.—

The R. A. E. Club has been invited to hold its next meeting with Mrs. Lloyd Adams at her home on Mocher street.

Northside Sunshine Club.
A merry social afternoon was spent yesterday by the ladies of the Northside Sunshine Club, when they met with Mrs. R. L. Hyland. The occasion was made the happier by a double surprise party, planned by the members with Mrs. L. W. Ingels, Mrs. Kiser, Mrs. R. L. Stages and Mrs. Hyland as the honor guests. Fancy work diversified the afternoon with merry sociability prevailing. A large attendance of members and guests were present and the daintiest of refreshments were served.

Priscilla Club.
Daintily colored tulips adorned the home of Mrs. Myrtle Allen Wednesday afternoon, when she bid the members of the Priscilla Club to spend a happy afternoon with her. The guest of honor for the occasion was Mrs. Pearson. Just sewing and merry conversation directed the afternoon hours. When the refreshment hour arrived the hostess favored her guests with a very delicious menu, pleasantly assisted in serving by Mrs. Pearson, Mrs. W. Ingels, Mrs. E. C. Benson, Mrs. C. G. Reynolds, Mrs. Reitenberg, Mrs. V. H. Duncan, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. F. L. Flint and the hostess, Mrs. Allen.

"Tale of Sailor's Rest."
When Oliver Curwood, a rich oil millionaire, disinherited his son, Roger, because he refused to leave his art for his father's business, the young man became a derelict, wandering finally into the streets of San Francisco, where he slumped into a saloon and danced hall known as "Sailor's Rest" and conducted by "Hell" Morgan, a rough and burly type. Roger, in a sarcastic mood, denounces what Morgan calls a work of "art," behind his bar and a fight immediately ensues in which young Curwood is the loser. Just at the critical moment, Lola Morgan, the proprietor's daughter, dashes to the spot in time to save the life of the young artist. She continues to befriend him and her father is finally persuaded to give him employment as a musician in the dance hall. Eventually, Roger starts to paint a portrait of Lola and love finally softens her heart. To all this, Slater, a cunning politician, objects, because he covets Morgan's daughter. Then, one day, Olga, a girl whom Roger knew in his student days, led a party of friends to "Sailor's Rest" on a show-bing tour. Olga had cast Roger off before, on account of his father's disinheritance, but she had just learned the news that Oliver Curwood, on his death had willed all his vast fortune to his son. Roger bids Olga a party and the old days are so vividly recalled that he forgets Lola and leaves "Sailor's Rest." Shortly after this time the terrible of the San Francisco earthquake and the breaks out. The catastrophe is used to climax the series of exciting events. Lola escapes from "Sailor's Rest," dragging her father with her, who is wounded. The building tumbled in a burning heap. They finally reach safety at the Presidio. Here Roger finds Olga, after being drawn back to "Sailor's Rest" in search of her. The tale of "Sailor's Rest" is shown in "Hell Morgan's Girl" at the Maltese theater on Monday and Tuesday only.

Mrs. Shoemaker Hostess.
Mrs. M. J. Shoemaker was the hostess at a social gathering at her home on South Stephens street Wednesday afternoon. When she had the W. P. T. U. ladies in special quiet social session with her. The program was delightfully carried out with an excellent paper on "Home Economics" prepared and read by Mrs. J. E. Hagan. Misses Anna Belle Deane and Alberta Christie contributed very pretty piano solos in the afternoon's entertainment, and several hours' lullabid business sessions late in the afternoon. A desirable lunch was served the business ladies helped by Mrs. J. J. Hanson and Mrs. S. E. Collier.

Honored Mr. and Mrs. Whitney.
A merry group of friends gathered Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Whitney at their home in North Roseburg, when they tendered a very pleasant surprise to a large attendance of members gathered for the usual social session. A very business meeting took place early in the evening and very pleasant entertainment was provided with music. Mrs. A. N. Orant played with a beautiful solo. Five hundred and other games were the popular amusements for the evening. The banquet table seated fifty members and wife parties blossoming with a perfect wealth of spring flowers in delicate gold and white tones.

Red Feather Girls.
Miss Lora Gadden had as her guests last Saturday evening, the members of her Camp Fire Circle, the Red Feather Girls. Just the usual business hour was conducted after which all enjoyed a merry social time.

Camp Fire Girls.
Many business details took the attention of the Uniqua Camp Fire Girls when they met at their club room last evening. Honors were awarded, arrangements for improving their club rooms made and plans talked of for next week.

Cards Were Delightful.
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stephens in North Roseburg was the scene of a pretty informal occasion on last Saturday evening, when they complimented Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Whitney by asking several guests in for an evening of cards. Dainty refreshments were served and those circling the tables were: Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kurtz and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stephens.

Informal Evening Enjoyed.
Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Durbin invited a number of friends to make up several tables of cards Tuesday evening, when they entertained the members of their club. The occasion was planned in honor of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Whitney. With the husband and happy conversation a most joyful time was spent. A tempting lunch was served by the hostess. Present included: Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stephens, Mr. and Mrs. Kurtz and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Durbin.

Pretty Appointed Dinner.
Mrs. Frank Paolo presided at a very daintily appointed dinner Sunday, when she entertained as her guests several of the neighbors. A delicious seven course menu was served and following the dinner hour the afternoon was pleasantly occupied with music. A picture group was taken at the present after which the late afternoon was spent in uniform. Those present were: Mrs. J. E. Hagan, Mrs. Nita Marshall, Mrs. Robert Kiser, at Myrtle Creek, Miss Harrison, Miss Kathie, F. H. Black, Miss Miller and her husband, Mrs. and Mrs. Frank Paolo.

Honored Mr. and Mrs. Whitney.

The banquet table seated fifty members and wife parties blossoming with a perfect wealth of spring flowers in delicate gold and white tones.

Red Cross Dinner.
The dancing party sponsored by the local Red Cross Society at the Armory Monday evening elicited a large throng of gay society folk. The Armory was bright with flags, Red Cross banners and other patriotic emblems. Most of all, the donations to the society made a substantial fund, that is of great encouragement to the members.

Banquet Was Beautiful.
Cherry Blossoms of springtime, golden buttercups and creamy hillside dandelions were artistically arranged in the banquet hall of the Eastern Star Thursday evening when a large attendance of members gathered for the usual social session. A very business meeting took place early in the evening and very pleasant entertainment was provided with music. Mrs. A. N. Orant played with a beautiful solo. Merry Go Round Club.
Miss McAllister, of Green, charmingly entertained on Wednesday afternoon, the members of the Merry Go Round Club, who came from far and near around the neighborhood to share in the sociability of the occasion. The usual needlework was indulged in and when the time arrived the hostess served a dainty repast, assisted by Miss Genevieve and Miss Ada Collier.

Social Evening Pleasured.
A variety of entertainment was enjoyed by the United Artisans on Wednesday evening, when they assembled at the Masonic hall for another of their delightful social occasions. Interest centered in playing games and other amusements. The affair was in the form of a picnic and delicious refreshments were served at the conclusion of the festivities.

All Society Plans.
Mrs. M. J. Shoemaker was at home Thursday afternoon to the ladies of the Presbyterian All Society. The nice part of the afternoon was busily taken up with arranging plans for the banquet week and congratulating the winning side of the membership contest, of which Mrs. W. T. Wright was captain. The other division was captained by Mrs. Marie Flint. As a result of the membership campaign, thirty new members were welcomed into the society. Dainty daffodils flourished in the living room, but the dining room was lovely in tall, graceful Easter lilies. The social hour was thoroughly enjoyed and choice refreshments were served by the committee, including Mrs. J. C. Allen, Mrs. Chas. Roberts, Mrs. A. J. Hellows and the hostess, Mrs. Shoemaker.

Red Cross Dinner.
The dancing party sponsored by the local Red Cross Society at the Armory Monday evening elicited a large throng of gay society folk. VEXATION OF SPIRIT
So long and earnestly I've wrought,
Pursued the bravely grand,
I've ringed them on my dome of thought,
And spavins on my mind,
The ghastly face of evil there,
Of poverty when old,
Has kept me hunting after gold,
I have a package put away,
Where none can jar it loose,
And sometimes at the close of day
I wonder what's the use?
Throughout this weary worldly journey
I've skimped and saved and pared—
I've done without the things I want,
The things for which I saved,
To add one round dollar more
To what I have in store;
I've made extreme and hard and sure,
And what reward is mine?
Why do I slave and toil and grind,
Why do I toil and spin?
I'll have to leave my roll behind
For others to blow in.
These words seem ever ringing loud,
Like some decree of doom:
"There is no profit in a squired,
No cashbox in a trumf."
