The Archduke formerly possessed three estates. One of these of 50,000 acres is in Transylvania which is ocupied by the Roumanians, Another large farm is in the formerly Hungarian territory given to the Czechs. "I wonder if I shall ever get these farms back," he said. "I bought them with my own money many years ago. Money which I carned myself. They were not crown properties passed to me by inherimary motive of educating its members.

The trouble with our wool producers is that they do not understand the methods of converting their product into the finished goods. When they fully understand the processes necessary to convert the wool into cloin they will be able to understand more fully the necessity of keeping up their grades. Feeding has a direct effect upon the fibre of the wool and it is the aim of the state association to develop the method which will prove the most productive. The east has been organized for years and this organization has proved very effective. BUDAPEST. (By the Associated Press)—The Allies have made not one but three Alsace-Lorraines of Hungary, declares Archduse Joseph of Hapsburg, the man was wanted to be King of Hungary out whose aspirations were thwarted by the Supreme Council at Pairs.

"We have not deserved such treatment." he said to the Associated Press correspondent whom he received in his palace hers. "We did not want war," he continued; "we protested against taking part in it "The Germans felt the war was bound to come, and inasmuch as they were ready while the other nations were not, they felt it was best it came when an opportunity was presented by the murder of the Austrian, Crown Prince, particularly as it was believed Russia was thus inviting war."

The Archduke professes to be unable to understand why the Allies object to him. "Of course I am a Hapsburg, he said, "but why should there he so much enmity against the Hapsburgs on the part of the Allies is it left-over propaganda?"

His adherents argue that the people of Hungary want a king and that Archduke Joseph is the bost liked man in the country.

to the expectations of the large number present. The aim of the club this time seemed to be to give the public something new and different than the usual run of Glee club concerts, and many original stunts cleverly gotten up and executed were contained on the program.

Margaret Phelps, the talented violitist with the Glee club, proved to be more than popular, and was forced to return several times. A clever hittle skit portraying the average girl's life at college aroused much interest. This act was worked out by the girls themselves. A large part of the repretoire consisted of classical songs of the kind that are always enjoyed, and a group of university school songs were also given. Miss Beulah Keagy daughter of Rev. F. W. Pruner Bridge

Rumors of the fallin, of Pruner bridge near Riddle, were proven unfounded this morning. Considerable excitement was caused in Roseburg by the appearance of an article under a Canyonville date line in a Portland publication stating that the bridge had broken in two and had fallen into the Umpqua river. This was proven untrue, however, after telephone communication was established with residents of the community.

On account of the dangerous con-established with residents of the community.

On account of the dangerous condition of the structure, it was closed yesterday by County Commissioner Edwin Weaver. A recent inspection by the state engineer who testified at the hearing just completed in this city, resulted in the discovery that the structure is held by only six bolts which are required to bear the entire strain. The bridge has asagged out of line almost a foot and a half and timbera and trusses are held only by a few large bolts. In spite of the heavy traffic the bridge has held up but is deemed too unsafe to permit further passage. safe to permit further passage

A bridge crew under W. V. Hurst county bridge builders will start to work at once making repairs. Falsework will be put in and the bridge restored to its alignment, the damaged timbers removed and the whole strutcure put in good condition. In the meantime traffic will be divart-ed by way of the proposed cut-off road.

President of Housing Corpor-

WILL TAKE FIVE YEARS

High Cost of Labor and of Building Material Will Probably Last for WASHINGTON, March 31.—High rents and high building costs have coras to stay for years. President LeRoy K. Sherman, of the U. S. Housing Corporation, predicted to-day.

"There is no reliable indication of a drop," he said.

"The housing shortage now is just as acute as a year ago. It is conservatively estimated that the country now is short about 1,000,000 dwellings.

"In my opinion it will take at least five years to catch up and get back to normal.".

Sherman, as president of the hous-ing corporation, has built 6000 homes in big cities in all sections of the country. Experts working under him kept elaborate cost sheets in every conceivable angle of the build-ing business.

Sherman has figures showing mos minute details of building ranging from the cost per cubic yard to the cost per square yard of roofing, wall building, brick laying, plastering and

Furthermore, the housing corpora-tion head has tried to keep in close touch with the building situation in every hig town and city in the coun-try. Here is his verdict: "Only in Washington does there can to be even the beginning of re-secm to be even the beginning of relief from the tremendous pressure of the shortage of dwellings that grew up during the war period," he said.

"In Chicago, New York and other big cities, the shortage of dwellings seems just as acute as ever.

"The cost of labor and building material holds little promise of going down. The general cost of building has increased from 65 to 70 per cent since 1913, according to accurate cost sheets of experts in the corporation. Their figures have been tested by careful application to the construction of dwellings of almost every variety.

construction of awellings of almost every variety.

"Many people who have money to build houses now are holding off because they hope prices will drop. This has a tendency, of course, to keep prices up. To get the nation's housing situation back to normal we must build at a rate calculation.

Hamburg Monument to Merchant Marine

WASHINOTON, April 1.—Hamburg today may be described as an imposing monument to the dead glories of the German merchant marine, according to Consul Francis R. Stewart, who was detailed by the American commission in Berlin to investigate conditions is medicate a nearly equal balance of supply and demand. This is normal. It will be at least five years before this condition is restored, I think.

There is one hopeful sign that building costs will be reduced eventually. Architects and contractors everywhere are working continually to devise new and short processes of Thus many builders recently attended a national convention called to discuss the proconvention called to discuss the [Vo-posal of building concrete houses which are poured into moulds and can be turned out much more quick-ly than the average brick or frame house can be completed.

"Another hopeful sign is the com-

Housing corporation experts have worked out figures showing the comparative cost of erecting in 1913 and 1919 a 6-room dwelling of a model used by the corporation in many cities in 1918. The table reads:
