

After Whooping Cough—What?

This is No. 4 of a series of advertisements, prepared by a competent physician, explaining how certain diseases which attack the air passages—such as Pneumonia, Influenza, Whooping Cough, Measles or even a long continued Cold—often leave these organs in an inflamed, congested state, thus affording a favorable foothold for invading germs. And how Vick's Vapo-Rub may be of value in this condition.

Whooping cough is the "meanest" disease that childhood is heir to. While rarely fatal in itself, except to children under two years of age, still it hangs on so long—the coughing paroxysms are so violent, preventing proper sleep and digestion—that when the disease does disappear it leaves the child weakened and run down. In addition the violent coughing racks and strains the air passages and after recovery this irritation frequently remains.

During this period of convalescence the child should be most carefully watched until full strength is restored and the air passages regain their normal tone. A prominent authority even goes so far as to say—"There is more criminal neglect in connection with whooping cough than with any other disease."

While the disease is active, Vick's VapoRub usually helps to lessen the violence of the coughing, but it is during convalescence that Vick's is most valuable.

Because Vick's acts locally by stimulation thru the skin to draw out the inflammation, attract the blood away from the congested spots and relieve the cough. In addition the medicinal ingredients of Vicks are vaporized by the body heat. These vapors are breathed in all night long, thus bringing the medication to bear directly upon the inflamed areas.

Vicks should be rubbed in over the throat and chest until the skin is red—then spread on thickly and covered with hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck and the bed clothes arranged in the form of a funnel so the vapors arising may be freely inhaled. If the cough is annoying swallow a small bit the size of a pea.

Children's digestions are delicate—easily disturbed by too much "dosing." Vicks, therefore, is particularly recommended, since it is externally applied and so can be used often and freely without the slightest harmful effects.

Samples to new users will be sent free on request to the Vick Chemical Company, 234 Broad Street, Greensboro, N. C.

TO OPEN MINING INDUSTRY ON ROGUE R.

ENGLISH COMPANY TAKES OVER GOLD LAND BETWEEN RIVER AND RAILROAD AND WILL UNDETAKE EXTENSIVE DREDGING OPERATIONS SOON.

PLAN WAS LONG HELD SECRET

Purchaser of Land is Mining Engineer Who Had Recently Returned From Australia—English Capital is Behind Move—Sale is a Surprise.

MEDFORD, March 29.—Operation of another mining industry in Jackson county will be begun very soon in the Rogue river vicinity by Joseph S. Taylor, a mining engineer, and former British army officer, whose associates are presumed to be English capitalists. Mr. Taylor has been working quietly on the project since last July, purchasing land and gathering up the riparian rights along the east bank of the Rogue river for a strip of about a mile in length. He closed up the last deed on this strip yesterday afternoon with Attorney E. H. Hurd and then returned to Rogue River, after stating that he would begin gold dredging operations at once.

The first heard of Mr. Taylor, who was a high officer in the air service of the British army during the war, was when he appeared at Rogue River last July, making his headquarters at the Waldorf hotel in that town, after a trip to Australia and New Zealand following the signing of the armistice, and began making tests and buying up from the various owners a continuous strip of land and the riparian rights thereof between the Southern Pacific railroad track and the Rogue river from Ward's creek a mile this way, lying opposite the Pacific highway. He said from $199 to $300 an acre for the 25 to 30 acres in this strip.

All this time Mr. Taylor kept the fact that he wanted this land along the river for extensive gold dredging operations in the old river bed, a secret, and it was not until just before leaving for England last October to confer with his associates that he admitted this fact to E. H. Hurd, who is attorney for some of the owners from whom land was purchased, and had considerable dealings with him. He recently returned from England and closed up all the purchasing contracts. Twelve families will move to Rogue River as a result of this deal.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR THIRD HOWELL TRIAL

MARSHFIELD, March 29.—It is the intention of Judge Coke to hold if possible all of the jury trials excepting the Howell murder case before time for him to go to Curry county to hold the April term of circuit court there which convenes the fourth Monday in the month. The Curry county term will probably be short and when the business there is finished Judge Coke will return to Coos county and take up the case of Harold Howell, charged with the murder of Lillian Louthold. Everything else will be out of the way and there will be nothing to interrupt. Two or three jurymen will be held over as a nucleus and the others discharged and it will be necessary to call special venire to make up the jury for the murder case, the trial of which will occupy at least three weeks.

GOVT. WANTS PEOPLE TO EAT MEAT FROM BOTH QUARTERS

WASHINGTON, March 30.—"Those persons interested in the economics of the campaign to 'save money on meat' by utilization of the less costly cuts, particularly those of the forequarter, should note the following excerpts from a statement on the subject by the bureau of markets, United States department of agriculture:

"If people in general could realize the value of meat from the forequarter as compared with that from the hind-quarter and would use more of it, prices of meat as a whole would be greatly reduced and would be more stable.

"People should use more fore-quarter meats and reduce prices of living. Any of the fore-quarter meat is good for making meat loaves or Liberty steak, while in some markets steaks are cut from the rib and sold as short cut steaks."

"In the same statement, the bureau of markets has said:

"Because of its reputation as the choicest cut, the people ask for porterhouse steak, whereas if they would try a chuck steak, the chances are it would prove to be satisfactory and it would cost much less. The reputation of porterhouse steak with the consequent large demand for it, coupled with the fact that this cut forms only a very small per cent of the carcass, causes it to sell at a higher price than any other cut."

MARY PICKFORD 91kfa'whyP LOS ANGELES, March 30.—Mary Pickford, who early this month obtained a divorce at Minden, Nevada, from Owen Moore, is now the wife of Douglas Fairbanks, it became known here late today. Fairbanks' first wife obtained a divorce nearly two years ago in New York.

Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks obtained a marriage license here secretly last Friday and at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night the ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Whitecomb Brougher, pastor of the Temple Baptist church, at the latter's residence.

Guests included the minister's family; Fairbanks' brother, Robert, who acted as best man, and the latter's wife; the bride's mother, Mrs. Charlotte Smith; Margery Daw, a motion picture actress, who served as bridesmaid; the Rev. Henry Miles Cook, assistant pastor of the Temple Baptist church, and R. S. Sparks, the deputy county clerk, who issued the license.

The night of her return here from Minden, Nev., after two or three days devoted to the trip home, passed largely in dodging newspaper interviewers, the bride gave out a statement to the effect that she "would never marry again, but would devote the remainder of her life to motion pictures."

Case of Mutual Attraction.

Miss Pickford and Fairbanks are said to have been mutually attracted through their motion picture work.

In obtaining the license, the bride gave her name as Gladys Mark Smith Moore, and her age as 26; the groom gave his name and age as Douglas Elton Fairbanks, 36.

Home Rule Bill Passed.

LONDON, March 31.—Premier Lloyd George's home rule bill for Ireland passed second reading today by a vote of 384 to 94. During the final debate Sir Edward Carson, Irish Unionist leader, said he had been warned by Scotland Yard detectives that six Clan-na-Gael had landed from America with the avowed intention of assassinating him.

Emmon De Valera, president of the "Irish Republic," is putting forward the same arguments in the United States in regard to Irish independence as Jefferson Davis did when he attempted the justification of the secession of the southern states, so Premier Lloyd George declared when he took the floor in defense of his measure.

Suffrage Turned Down.

FOURTEEN CENTS A POUND IS OFFER FOR STRAWBERRIES

EUGENE, March 30.—Fourteen cents a pound is being offered by Salem buyers for the strawberry crop of 1920, according to announcement made there Saturday. Several contracts at this price have been executed while other growers are said to be considering the offer. It is said that the product is for shipment to eastern markets for use of a fruit juice corporation.

The strawberry situation remains unchanged and quite a number of contracts are being written at 12 cents a pound. Salem canners are meeting with considerable opposition this season, a number of outside buyers being on the ground at the present time.

BELIEVES OREGON LEADS IN LUMBER

E. G. CRAWFORD, OF U. S. NATIONAL BANK AT PORTLAND, MAKES STATEMENT THAT OREGON WILL SECURE GREAT DEVELOPMENT.

SPOKE TO SOUTHERN PINE BELT

Prediction is Given at New Orleans at Convention Attended by Many of the Largest Operators of the South.

PORTLAND, March 25.—"Oregon is destined to be the scene of the greatest lumber development in the history of the United States, of which Portland will be the financial and marketing center," was an introductory statement made by E. G. Crawford, first vice-president of the United States National bank, in an address before the convention of the Southern Pine association, held in New Orleans on March 16-18.

Being thoroughly familiar with the financial and commercial conditions of the the great northwest,

Crawford was invited to speak before the convention, at which were assembled a large number of timber operators of the Southern pine belt. With the assistance of E. C. Sammons, assistant cashier of the bank, he went well fortified with statistics regarding the timber resources of this section of the country. Crawford stated in part:

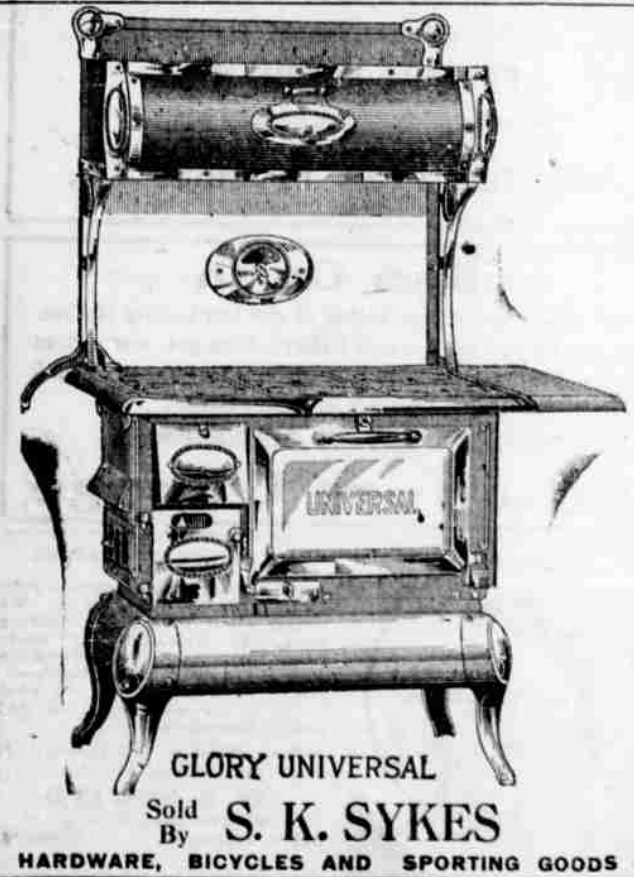

Forest Products Shipped.

"The value of forest products shipped from the Columbia river in 1919 amounted to $37,225,000. The logging railroad mileage of the Pacific coast totals 4588 miles, equivalent to the transcontinental railroad from Portland to New York and as far back again as Omaha. There are several large bodies of timber in Oregon that have not yet been opened up by the building of railroads, but several large projects are contemplated or are in active construction.

Financial Outlook.

Relative to the financial outlook Crawford stated:

"There are some very disturbing financial conditions, inflation of credit, curtailment of production, unrest caused by the war and its aftermath and maladministration. We are suffering from wild extravagance and the apparently unreasonable de-
