Rose School Ripplss
Written by Student

By Victor Arundel, Eighth Grade.
The girls Glee club met in special session Friday evening and elected officers. Lucille Leno, 8th A, was elected president, and Cecil Smith, 8th A, was chosen secretary. The need of a treasurer was considered decidedly doubtful so none was elected.

Twenty girls instead of 16 will comprise the club hereafter, it was decided, so another tryout will probably be held next week to select the new members. Those who were eliminated in the first tryout will be given another chance to show what they can do. The chief aims of the club is drawn up at the meeting Friday evening are:
To advance the standard of music in the Rose school.
To study the great composers and their works.
To promote a spirit of good fellowship and co-operation among the girls of the school.

Easter Sunday has furnished an inspiration for the students in their art work. All kinds of fancy Easter bouquets, baskets full of eggs, rabbits and chickens have been fashioned out of paper and now adorn the walls of the school. Some have been taken home. Some students have had the chance to paint real Easter eggs.

Miss Blanche Ferdine, second grade teacher, left for Eugene Friday evening for a week end visit.

Pupils of the 6th A class chose sides and held a debate Monday on the proposition, "Resolved, That it is better to live in the city than in the country." Three judges selected from the 6th B class by Miss Moody decided in favor of the side that upheld living in the city.

The baseball game scheduled with the Benson school had to be postponed once more on account of bad weather. The members of the team are growing anxious for a nice day so they can even up the score with Benson, who won the first game.

The three elementary schools of Roseburg have started a paper drive to secure money for playground apparatus, library books and general needs. The Rose school territory has the district south of Washington Street, the Benson territory is north of Washington street and the Fullerton school has the West Side. In addition to paper, old clothes, rags, rubber and copper are being collected.

The drive has already made a good start at Rose school. Friday morning, noon and evening, boys and girls loaded down with bundles of paper, rags and automobile tires staggered, puffing and wheezing into the schoolhouse and dropped their loads in piles in the gymnasium. Each room has a separate place for its collection and a keen race is on to see which room will get the biggest pile. Miss Moody's room and Miss Tracy's room have taken the lead and are running a close race for first place. Miss Ferdine's pupils promise to do as well next Monday.

Arrangements will be made to gather up the paper at places where the children cannot bring it to school themselves.

Any person living in the Rose school district who has old newspapers, magazines, rubber, old clothes or copper, can help along a good cause by turning it over to a Rose school student within the next day or two.

Miss Viola Willett, department teacher, Monday afternoon took the 8th B class in agriculture on a trip to the hills east of school and along the Umpqua river. The trip was solely for studying agriculture. Trees, plants, insects, soils and their formation were noted and studied. In this manner the students could actually see and understand fundamentals that were not so clear when read in books.
The class was gone about three hours.

How I Fooled My Brother.
An original story told by Margaret Fields, 2nd B, Miss Ferdine's room.
Last night we made some candy for our house. I put some cotton in a few pieces. When my brother came in I gave him a piece of the April fool candy. When he ate it he began to stick to his teeth. He made me go up to the store and get a box of tooth picks.

Pupils of the second grade had an Easter egg hunt Friday afternoon.

LEONA ITEMS.

Mrs. Vansoyk went to Cottage Grove one day last week, visiting friends and doing some shopping.

Mrs. Wampole, of Leona, was a visitor in Irwin Friday, returning home the same evening.

BURROUGHS IS STILL YOUNG AT AGE OF 80

ESOPUS, N. Y., April 3.—An 80-year-old youngster, with white hair and beard, bubbling over with the spirit of youth, officially ushered in spring here today.

John Burroughs, famous naturalist, in celebration of his birthday, tapped several maple trees in a miniature "sugar bush" as Yama Farms Inn, near here, gathered the sap and began boiling it down into golden syrup in a big outdoor cauldron. The syrup will be served with hot biscuits at the dinner to be given him tonight by about 30 of his friends.

A long walk through the woods was scheduled for this afternoon. Burroughs and his friends will seek out such wild flowers as may be thrusting their first green sprouts through the leaf mould and will visit a trout hatchery. The evening will be spent in discussion of the various subjects in which the naturalist is an authority.

The youthful octogenarian was up today receiving verbal, written and telegraphed greetings from all parts of the country. He said he "feels fine" and gave out the same birthday message he has for years:
"Keep cheerful and mind your business."

Burroughs evinced his interest in national affairs by volunteering the following:
"I want to see the League of Nations adopted, with what reservations are necessary, and I would like to see Herbert Hoover elected president."

Burroughs was asked if he thought wild animals had shown any indication of mental progress since the dawn of human civilization.
"No," he replied, "and I doubt if they ever will show any."

The naturalist, who already has published 32 books, just sent another to his publishers and has two others near completion. His first book was written in 1887.

HOOVER ISSUES STATEMENT.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Herbert Hoover issued a statement today in which he requested he be not further embarrassed by suggestions of some independents that his name be placed before any other than the republican party, as the "primary sense of team work in any party organization would preclude such possibility." He said, in his statement, that he had no great record of partisan activity and "admitted" that his political activity was confined to membership of a prominent republican club and allegiance to that party over a period of years.

EMBARGO PLACED TODAY.

NEW YORK, April 3.—The general embargo on export freight from New York was placed in effect today by the various rail lines on account of the harbor strike.
