Famous Drama be Played Wednesday

"Shepherd of the Hill" one of the most popular plays of the century will be the next offering of the Alcazar Stock Company at the Antlers Theater, Wednesday, April 7th. This is one of the most pretentious productions to be presented by the Alcazar Stock Company, each of the players have unusually strong parts and the play is of the calibre that requires the full strength of the company in presenting this most remarkable drama of mountain life. The story of the play has to do with the humble people of the mountains who are in the state of much bitter feeling and with many unsolvable mysteries that have kept these people in constant fear for many years. There comes to these mountains one day a stranger, who is more or less a cultured person, and accepts a humble position at small pay, in order that he may escape from the vanities and conventionalities of the big cities, of which he has been accustomed. Among these rough mountaineers he finds much content lives their lives and it is not long before he becomes friendly and also the adviser of many of these mountaineers. The mysteries of the mountains have terrified the people of the mountains for years, and he soon becomes master of the situation and settles these mysteries in the minds of all the people. The story has interwoven a splendid love story that adds much heart interest to the play and then there is much humor, pathos, and tragedy to keep up the interest from beginning to end, but the conclusion of the story is satisfactory to all the spectators.

Student Show Interest In Vote

Out of 250 pupils in attendance at the local high school, 146 had registered for the primary election to be held in the school in connection with the regular primary election on May 21. The interest in the school is strong and additional clerical force to take registrations has been made necessary. The vote will be conducted along exactly the same lines as the election and is being used for the purpose of educating the coming citizens in the proper manner of exercising their prerogative as electors. The students are also urged to discuss with their relatives and friends the various political matters and thus interest everyone in the measures to be voted on at the coming election. The registration at present shows 79 republicans, 64 democrats and three socialists.

BELIEVE BONUS BILL WILL PASS

Delegate From the American Legion of Oregon Report Favorably.

OPTION ARE OFFERED

Ex-Servicemen Are Given Choice of Four Methods of Settlement of Adjusted Compensation According to New Bill.

Passage of bonus legislation by congress before next winter is predicted by James O. Conville, representative of Oregon at a meeting of American Legion men from every state in the union at Washington, D. C., recently, while beneficial legislation for world war veterans was before the ways and means committee of the house. Mr. Conville returned from his mission and included in his report to William B. Follett, of Portland, commander of the American Legion, department of Oregon. The American Legion bill has been passed upon favorably by the house committee, and Mr. Conville expects action by the house before the national conventions and passage by the senate in time to meet needs of ex-servicemen next winter. Congress is overwhelmingly in favor of some soldier legislation along the lines of adjusted compensation, he reported.

The bill prepared by the beneficial legislative committee of the American Legion and presented to the house committee March 24, 1919, provides compensation based through-out on length of service between the dates of April 5, 1917, and November 11, 1918, inclusive, and the signing of the armistice—inclusive. Four Plans Offered.

In the first summary of the bill to be received in Portland, Mr. Conville points out the following features of four compensation plans to be offered veterans of the world war if congress follows out suggestions of the American Legion, as appears probable:

"First—Land projects—to be located by the government in all states of the union where proper land is available; ex-servicemen to be credited on account of their purchases of project lands at the rate of $1.50 per day for each day of service in the military or naval forces between April 5, 1917, and November 11, 1918, inclusive; loans of 4 1/2 per cent interest for improvements, stock and equipment.

"Second—Home aid—Designed to assist ex-servicemen in acquiring homes in city and country, by the government contributing to the purchase of such homes at the rate of $2 per day for each day of service. "Third—Vocational training—To be given without charge under the board of vocational training for a length of time equivalent to service in the army or navy and assistance while such courses of vocational training are being taken at a rate of $1.50 a day for such days in service. "Fourth—Adjusted compensation —In the event ex-servicemen do not exercise the option to secure participation in land projects, home aid or vocational training then they are to receive adjusted compensation in cash at the rate of $1.50 a day for each day of service, to be paid within a year from the passage of this act of congress. "Ex-servicemen or women to have a period of 10 years within which to file application exercising their option to take one and not more than one of the four options. All Time of Service Counts. A special feature of particular interest to Oregon ex-servicemen pointed out by Mr. Conville in his report is the provision that the time of service in the case of national guardsmen shall be reckoned from the date they were called into service by their respective state officers, without regard to the date on which they were actually federalized. This will mean several months difference to 3rd Oregon and coast artillerymen. The attitude of congress and Oregon's representatives on the question of soldier legislation is indicated in the closing paragraphs of Mr. Conville's report to Commander Follett, as follows: "Immediately following the presentation and final arguments on this bill before the house ways and means committee, a poll was taken of congress by the representatives of the various states. The representative from Oregon had a conference with the Oregon delegation, meeting at the call of the senior member, Senator Chamberlain, at which meeting it was emphasized that Mr. Hawley, Oregon representative on the house committee, would do everything in his power to get the bill reported favorably by his committee. "Senators Chamberlain and McNary and Representative Hawley were present at this meeting. Representative Bennett being absent in Oregon, due to the death of his brother, and Representative McArthur being absent on other business. It was stated at the meeting by the Oregon delegation that they would use their influence in every manner to help expedite the passage of the remedial soldier legislation and all expressed themselves as favorably inclined. "While the representative from Oregon was attending this meeting members of the legion from other states were likewise waiting on their congressmen and the poll of the opinions thus gained show that congress is overwhelmingly in favor of some soldier legislation along the lines of adjusted compensation. Considerable difference of opinion exists, however, as to the proper means of financing this legislation, and it appears doubtful if immediate action can be secured. It seems certain at this time, however, that the matter will be adjusted before next winter, when a large number of men will need the money."
