'Father' Grammer

(Non-Sectarian)

DIVINE HEALER

Styled by the newspapers "the world's greatest divine healer," and teacher of immunity from disease and sorrow, has been lecturing to large, enthusiastic audiences in Grand Opera House, Salem, and People's Auditorium, Portland.

Father Grammer carries records of many wonderful cases of healing from Denver, Seattle, Portland, Salem, Albany, Eugene and many other places. In the larger places crowds were turned away from the opera houses and hotels, unable to see him on account of the rush. Some waiting as high as four days to get to see him, and he was prevailed on to go out in autos and taxis every available moment that he could spare, to see those who were unable to come or be brought to him. He will visit Roseburg Thursday, April 15, and remain for a week, lecturing and teaching every evening at 7:30, at Liberty theater, and healing at Hotel Grand 10 to 12 a. m. and 2 to 4 p. m. daily.

LAXATIVE For Aged People

THE BANE of old age is constipation. The bowels become weak and unable to perform their functions without aid. For this purpose only the mildest and gentlest laxative should be used. The use of harsh cathartics aggravates the trouble and makes the constipation worse. Chamberlain's Tablets are a favorite with people of middle age and older on account of their gentle action.

Arrive From Berkeley—

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Keller, resident of Berkeley, Calif., arrived in Roseburg this afternoon and will visit for some time with Mrs. I. D. Bishop.

Will Meet Tonight—

The Rose school parent-teacher association will hold an important meeting tonight at the school building. An interesting program has been prepared to follow the business meeting, and luncheon will be served.

Here From Days Creek—

John Metz, formerly of this city, was down from his farm at Days Creek today. He reports the road in fairly good condition, except in two or three places. Mr. Metz is fattening a drove of hogs for the market at the present time.

Father Drive to End—

The old paper drive which has been carried on by the pupils of the elementary schools for the past two weeks, will end the latter part of the week, according to Supt. Smith. The youngsters have gathered a large amount of paper, the money derived from its sale going to the play ground equipment fund.

Judge Wonacott Here—

Judge G. W. Wonacott, accompanied by his wife, arrived in Roseburg from California Sunday, and will visit here with friends for several days before continuing on to their home in Gresham. They are just returning from an eight months' trip, including stops in Ohio, Illinois, Louisiana and Texas, and three months spent in Los Angeles.

Meeting of School Board Last Night

The regular session of the Roseburg school board was held last night and several important business matters were taken up. A committee representing the teaching staff of the Roseburg public schools met with the board for a short time and discussed the question of a salary increase for the coming year. No absolute agreement was reached at this time, the members of the board explaining to the committee the 20 per cent increase which has already been granted for next year, and the difficulties to be met with if a larger increase should be allowed. Aside from the regular monthly bills, no other matters were taken under consideration.

ALBANY CHAMBER GETS MORE FUNDS.

Albany is providing a substantial budget to enable the Chamber of Commerce to enlarge their scope of activity. In a banquet last week held at the armory nearly 300 business men were present and the entire budget for necessary expenditures for the coming year was raised.

They had an imposing list of outside orators to stimulate interest in their own members. A. G. Clark, of Portland, manager of the Associated Industries of Oregon, always provides plenty of "pop" and "jazz" into what he has to say; Clifford Barlow, of Warrington, a director of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, who explains the progressive work of the Astoria chamber; George Quayle, of Portland, the indefatigable worker and live wire secretary of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, was there. Salem sent a speaker by the name of L. C. Chapin, director of the agriculture bureau of the Salem Commercial Club. But the best and most practical talk of the entire evening was given by T. E. McCroskey, manager of the Commercial Club, who told of the work of their organization and told how a Chamber of Commerce should be run to get 100 per cent results from its possibilities.
