Modern Bluebeard Charged Bigamy

LOS ANGELES, Calif., April 25.—California's modern bluebeard, who has been known under a dozen names, was today officially recorded as Harry M. Lewis when a warrant charging him with bigamy was issued by the district attorney.

Chicago figured again in the story of the man with a score of wives, who is thought by the officers to have made away with at least five of them, when a letter, unsigned, was received at the sheriff's office, asking officers to demand a statement as to the whereabouts of Mrs. Helen Lewis, one of the women supposed to have fallen victim of the multi-bigamist.

The letter stated that friends and relatives had reason to believe that the woman married Lewis at Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, and afterward was the victim of foul play. The missive said in part:

Killing of Wife Suspected.
"Ash him if he killed her. He will be obliged to answer for the murder of some of his wives and he might as well tell you the fate of this young and beautiful woman."

The action of the local district attorney in commencing a prosecution for bigamy was announced following a conference with two of the "wives," Mrs. Kathryn Wombacher and Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson. This action, it is believed, will be followed by an attempt on the part of J. Morgan Marmaduke, attorney for Lewis, to obtain his release on habeas corpus proceedings.

How Lewis, in the alleged capacity of a multi-bigamist and arch criminal, extended his "love" activities to include several impassioned proposals to a Los Angeles society belle became known today as the result of a startling investigation conducted by a local detective agency.

Case is Strange One.
These antics marked the day's developments in the investigation of the strangest case on record in the local sheriff's office and it is intimated that with the service of the formal warrant several more will be brought to light.

While the technical arrest of the prisoner will not change the present status of the situation, it will open the way for actual preparation of legal prosecution, which until today depended upon further report of the alleged bigamist's criminal career.

The detective's discovery of the man's procreantness of love for the only 23 years of age, gives rise to the theory that the prisoner may have tried and in some cases succeeded in duping members of high society circles in the various cities in which he operated. Women of this class, it is pointed out, would fear publicity and would therefore refrain from notifying the authorities.

For this reason the detective bureau refused to divulge, for the present at least, the name of the woman, but it is definitely known that she is the daughter of a prominent and wealthy family. Her home, according to the officers, is in the heart of the fashionable Wilshire residence section and members of her family are prominent in the local business world.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT.
W. Slaughter, of the local prune packing plant, was the victim of an unusual accident Friday when a toothpick became lodged in his windpipe. The object was imbedded just above the vocal cords, and caused a great deal of pain. Dr. Seely was called and removed the obstruction. Mr. Slaughter is feeling no bad effects aside from a slight soreness in his throat.

Thompson's Jaw Broken by Fulton

PORTLAND, April 26.—Jack Thompson, the Tulsa negro who lost in six rounds to Fred Fulton at the Milwaukee arena the other night, suffered a broken jaw in the third round of the match and it will be six months before he will be able to take part in another fight. An X-ray picture was taken by Drs. Fixott and Holbrook showing that it was a complete fracture and was only reset with difficulty by Dr. Frank Mihnos. Thompson has been unable to talk since the third round of his scrap with Fulton and had to have two of his front teeth extracted to permit him to be fed through a straw. How he ever stood up with such an injury through the remaining three rounds is a mystery.

Thompson's broken jaw accounts for his failure to go after Fulton so furiously in the fifth and sixth rounds as he did in the first three sessions.

STILL NO DECISION ON PROHIBITION LAWS

Supreme Court Fails Again Today to Hand Down Decree Concerning It.

SEVEN DIFFERENT SUITS

Steps to institute the suits were taken soon after the amendment became effective on January 16, this year.

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 26.—The supreme court failed again today to hand down a decision on the constitutionality of the prohibition amendment and enforcement act.

Validity of the prohibition amendment and portions of the enforcement act was involved in seven separate proceedings before the supreme court. Two of these were original suits brought by Rhode Island and New Jersey as sovereign states to enjoin enforcement in their jurisdictions upon the grounds that both enactments were unconstitutional. The other cases were direct appeals from lower court decrees.

Steps to institute the suits were taken immediately after the amendment became effective on January 16 and on motion of counsel their consideration was expedited.

In both the Rhode Island and New Jersey suits the validity of the Eighteenth Amendment was attacked, but the New Jersey case also alleged that even if the amendment was valid, the enforcement act was unconstitutional because it had not been concurred in by New Jersey under the provisions of the amendment giving the federal and state governments concurrent power to enforce prohibition. New Jersey also contended that if the entire enforcement act were not unconstitutional the portions of it limiting the alcoholic content of beverages to less than one-half of one per cent and relating to the dispensing of liquors for medicinal purposes were invalid.

The cases reaching the court on appeals were those of the Kentucky Distilleries and Warehouse company; Christian Feigenpan, a Newark, N. J. brewer, the St. Louis Brewing association and George C. Dempsey, a wholesale liquor dealer of Boston, Mass., who lost injunction proceedings in the lower court. The other case before the court was an appeal by the government from a decision of Federal Judge Geiger enjoining federal officials from interfering with the Manitowac Products company, a Wisconsin corporation, in the manufacture of beer containing 2.5 per cent alcohol.

In all the cases a general attack on the amendment was made on ground that it was revolutionary and constituted legislation in the guise of a constitutional amendment designed to regulate the private habits of individuals; that it interfered with the states' police powers; that it was invalid because adopted by two-thirds of the members of congress present when the vote was taken and not by two-thirds of the membership and that the amendment was not ratified by three-fourths of the states owing to irregularities in many state constitutions requiring that amendments be submitted to a referendum.

Large Exhibit of Blossoms Planned

Between April 30 and May 3 the railroads are expecting a large number of tourists to be traveling over the Southern Pacific to attend meetings both north and south of Roseburg and in Washington and California. The railroad company is preparing for this rush by adding extra coaches and arranging for extra sections to the regular trains. All of these trains will stop in Roseburg for at least fifteen minutes and there is a big opportunity for some excellent publicity work. Charles Lerly, who has charge of the exhibit building at the station platform, has struck upon a unique and practical idea, which will serve to attract a great deal of attention to Douglas county and especially to Roseburg, but to carry out his plan he needs the assistance of farmers, fruit growers and residents of the city.

He is planning on Friday of this week to have in place a display of fruit blossoms of all sorts now available, flowering shrubs and blossoms of all kinds. He desires to make the exhibit building, both inside and out, a flare of color and to this end he is asking that fruit growers bring him in as many blossoms covered twigs as they can spare from their orchards. He can use several loads of blossoms and the more that are brought in the better the display will be. He wants fruit blossoms of all kinds, apple, cherry, peach, plum, and all others available at this time of the year. These will be attractively placed. Mr. Lerly having demonstrated his ability as a decorator on many occasions. He also wants flowering shrubs of the decorative order, such as are to be found on the many lawns of the city. He requests that those who can furnish these to please do so as soon as possible in order that he may arrange to bring in their fruit blossoms before Friday if possible, and is unable to bring them in they will be sent for if Mr. Lerly is notified. The present exhibit includes fruit, seeds,

CARLOAD SUGAR COMING

A carload of sugar is scheduled to arrive from San Francisco this week to be divided among the merchants of the city who desire it. The sugar will sell at $23.85 per sack retail and at four pounds for $1 in small quantities. Several grocers will refuse to handle sugar at that price and the others will take only enough to protect their customers. Wholesale prices state that the price will go higher and are advising retail merchants to take as much as the trade will stand at this time in order that they may protect themselves.

vegetables, etc., and it is desired that this be increased, and anyone having such articles for exhibit will assist greatly if they will bring them to the city and turn them over to Mr. Lerly.

Several large salmon were taken from the water at the forks of the river while salmon and trout were both caught at Winchester. A great number of anglers were out yesterday and all report a good time regardless of the showing made.
