RIPE OLIVES HAVE BEEN DESTROYED

Uncle Sam Seizes A Large Quantity Because of the Danger Involved.

A PORTION POISONOUS

Government Alleges That Olives Were Adulterated Because They Consisted in Part of Decomposed Substance.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—A shipment of ripe olives rendered poisonous by bacteria which was seized in Milwaukee, Wis., on information furnished by the bureau of agriculture, United States department of agriculture, has been condemned and destroyed by order of the court, according to a statement issued by officials of the bureau charged with the enforcement of the federal food and drug act. The olives were in glass containers and labeled as "Supreme Curtis Quality California Ripe Olives packed by the Curtis corporation, Long Beach, California."

The government alleged in the libel that the olives were adulterated for the reason that they consisted in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed, and putrid vegetable substance. Examination by the bureau of chemistry of samples from the shipment showed that guinea pig fed from three of the bottles died, indicating the presence of toxin due to decomposition of the olives by bacteria which were later identified as "Bacillus botulinus." Olives similarly infected were responsible for the deaths of several people within recent months in Canton, Detroit, Brooklyn, Memphis and elsewhere.

Methods Responsible. Investigation by the bureau of chemistry have shown that defects in the methods of picking, packing and processing ripe olives are responsible for widespread infection with bacteria. The practice of shipping and holding olives in weak brine for weeks and sometimes for months, permits fermentation and generalized infection of the olives with many kinds of bacteria. Olives after this treatment are much more difficult to sterilize than those fresh from the tree and handled at once. As a result there is occasional failure on the part of the packer to heat the containers to a sufficient high temperature to destroy all dangerous bacteria that may be on the olives.

Worst in Glass. The failure to sterilize properly is more likely to occur when glass containers are used, probably because of the fear that a higher temperature may break the glass. The only case in which a tin container appears to have been involved was that of a reliable containing mixed ripe olives where condiments rather than sterilization were depended upon for preservation.

ROADS ARE GOOD. Roads to the north of Roseburg are in good condition, according to tourists. Over the clay hills north of Oakland the roads are rough but there is a good foundation and the highway is passable at that point. Through the canyon the road is fairly dry and good time can be made.

WILL ATTEND CONFERENCE. CORVALLIS, April 27.—Dean J. A. Rexell of the school of commerce has been appointed representative of the college and the state department of education to attend a conference on business training and commercial education called by P. ## Smith River High School Approved

At a school election held on Smith river last Saturday the union high school to be erected at Reedsport was approved by a small margin. Bonds in the sum of $20,000 will be issued by the various districts which are to consolidate and a large school building will be constructed. Transportation will be furnished the pupils and bounts will be used in taking the students to and from the school. Construction work will be started at once and it is hoped to have the building in readiness for occupancy by the commencement of the fall term. There was some opposition to the consolidation and the project won with only a very few votes to spare.

Flour Jumps to the Highest Notch

By Associated Press MINNEAPOLIS, April 27.—Flour advanced 50 cents per barrel here today, marking the biggest single rise this year and the highest price ever received for flour. The increase which brought the standard grade of flour, 98 pounds sacks, to $15.50, is due to the high wheat market.

TOURIST ARRESTED HERE.

Ray Lee, of Seattle, was arrested here late this afternoon charged with having been responsible for an accident in which Mrs. Mill, Dubell of Canyonville is said to have sustained a broken arm. Mr. Lee's car, coming around a curve in the road, frightened the horse attached to the buggy in which Mrs. Dubell was riding and the vehicle was pushed over the bank and upset. Mr. Dubell, the husband of the injured woman, says that Lee came on into Roseburg without offering assistance, but Lee claims that he stopped his car before reaching the horse and that he led the animal back up the bank, straightened the buggy and started to assist in re-itching the horse when Mrs. Dubell asked him to find her husband who was near and send him to the scene. Mr. Lee claims that he did this and after being informed that there was nothing more he could do came on into Roseburg. He has been in California and is now on his way north.

Local Institute At Gardiner May 8

A school board convention combined with a local teachers' institute will be held at Gardiner, Saturday, May 8, 1926. Forenoon and afternoon sessions. The questions to be discussed are both timely and important and it is hoped that the meeting will be largely attended by teachers, patrons and board members.

The program is as follows:
Music—The program will be interspersed with music furnished by the local committee.

Talk—"General Science in the Small High School," Elizabeth Woolworth.

Address—"School Reorganization," John C. Almack, U. of O.

Discussions—"Teachers' Salaries From the Viewpoint of Board," J. S. Gray, J. A. Janette, J. H. Austin, C. B. Benson.

Tax Measures to be Voted on May 21, County Assent C. J. Hurd.

Talk—"Agriculture in the Rural Schools," Fred A. Goff.

A question box will be placed early in the day for those having questions to ask. The several topics will be followed by discussions. Section 88 of the Oregon school laws provides that the chairman of the school board attending a school board convention shall receive a compensation of $2 from the county. Or the chairman may appoint a clerk or some other member of the board as delegate and such appointee shall receive such compensation.

Short Line R. R. May Get Hearing

By Associated Press WASHINGTON, April 27.—Short line railroads may be given a hearing on the wage demands of the railroad workers before the railroad labor board finally adjusts the pay controversy. Chairman Barton announced today, saying that the board had the matter under advisement.

Entire Delegation For Poindexter

By Associated Press BELLINGHAM, April 27.—The election of 14 delegates to the republican national convention and four at large and ten by districts was the principal business before the Washington seat of the republican convention here today. The indications early today were that the entire delegation would go to Chicago pledged to Senator Miles Poindexter for the presidential nomination.

Reformatory Aids Solve Help Problem

By Associated Press MARYSVILLE, Ohio, April 27.—Mrs. Louise Mitterdorf, matron in charge of the Ohio reformatory for women here, is doing her best in relieving the domestic help situation in the state. She had from 150 to 200 girls and women under her care. As there is not enough work at the institution to keep them all busy, she sends to housewives some of the more trusted girls.

Ninety per cent of the girls working out have made good, according to Mrs. Mitterdorf. Many of them within a short time have been recommended for parole or pardon. Housewives receiving the girls send the wages to the matron who turns the money over to the girls when they are discharged.

The Strawberry Carnival committee to which has been assigned the task of soliciting subscriptions started out today to canvass the business district and raise funds for the 10th annual festival. They reported considerable success at noon today and had at that time visited only a small number of the business houses.

Forecaster Says Spring Is Here

Here's the straight dope—"Spring is here, tra la." At any rate, William Bell, U. S. forecaster, declares it is and the present stretch of pleasant weather looks as though it has come to stay—for at least a few days yet. However, summer is not yet "on deck," and various changes can be expected from now on. Press reports from Portland are to the effect that while the valleys on the western slope of the state are basking in the glorious sun, the country east of the mountains still has the biting sting of winter and the straw hats are still reeling in the moth balls. In Baker it was freezing. Denver reported a temperature of 28 degrees, and Nevada and Utah were exceedingly chilly states.

Ohioans Confused About Their Time

By Associated Press COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 27.—After May 1, five recognized times will govern the habits of the people of Ohio.

Never in the history of the state has there been such an occasion for confusion in time in the state. When it is 2 p. m. at Steubenville, residents of Cincinnati will say it is but 12 o'clock noon. In Columbus it will be 1 p. m. and to the farmer who still regulates his time piece by sun time it will be 12:30 p. m.

This great difference in time is due to the fact that Ohio is the dividing line between eastern and central time and the efforts of towns and cities to "save an hour of daylight."

Charged With Aiding Radicals

By Associated Press WASHINGTON, April 27.—Charges that Louis F. Post, assistant secretary of labor, had violated the law "in behalf of aliens who have contempt for this government and who are trying to overthrow it," was made before the house rules committee today by Chairman Johnson of the house immigration committee. Johnson was the first witness at the investigation of Post's conduct in handling deportation proceedings against the radical aliens, and was followed by Representative Hoch of Kansas, whose resolution looking toward the possible impeachment of Post is before the committee.

State Officials Swat High Costs

SALEM, Ore., April 26.—Governor Olcott, together with many other state officials and employees, appeared at their desks here today dressed in khaki suits and other garments intended to "swat the high cost of living. While the local campaign has been advertised in the light of an oval club, it is in reality and old-clothes movement and carries with it the pledge that no person admitted to the organization will purchase any new clothes until November 1.

Through R. B. Gordin, state purchasing agent, nearly 100 khaki suits were purchased from a Portland manufacturer and arrived here today. They were later distributed among the officials and employees. The suits cost the purchaser an average of $1.50 each.

Salem firemen, policemen and many business men also have returned to the simple life and old clothes are in fashion.

Housewives have joined the movement to whittle down expenses, and in not a few instances these quantities of the home have taboos potatoes, sugar, certain cuts of meats and other commodities for which the prices are deemed excessive.
