MANY CHANGES IN TENNIS RULES

Scoring Method Eliminates Familiar Terms of "Love" "Deuce" "Advantage."

NEW REGULATIONS

Rules Committee Makes Radical Changes in Tennis Laws for the Coming Season—New Foot Fault Rule This Year.

Tennis fans who enjoy the exhilarating exercise provided by a brisk set of singles or doubles, are to find themselves treading on unfamiliar ground when they swing their racquets this year. The old English game in its new camouflaged form is scarcely recognizable and it is expected that considerable of a "howl" is to go up, particularly from the younger players when the findings of the "Rules" committee are taken into consideration.

Reformers in the past few years have been busy; loganberry juice and ginger ale have taken the place of "Scotch." They films have been barred from the screen and now the "love" is taken out of tennis. Hereafter when the sweet young thing misses the ball her adoring swain won't bawl out the old familiar "fifteen-love" that has characterized the tennis matches of old, but instead the reformers' prosaic "one-in" will be the score. The present rule provides:

"If the server wins the first point, the score is called 1-in; if the receiver wins the first point the score is called 1-out. If each player wins 1 point the score is called 1-all. If the server wins the next point the score is called 2-1; if the receiver wins it the score is called 1-2, and the scoring is continued in this manner until either player has won four points, when the game is scored for that player, unless the other player has scored three points, when the score is called 4-3 or 4-2, as the case may be, and game is scored for the player who first thereafter gains a lead of two points.

Another important change is in the "foot fault rule" which in the past has been very complicated. The new ruling requires just two things—to stand at rest in a prescribed position and to keep both feet behind the base line until the ball is struck.

Some new regulations have been provided and all of the rules have been shortened and revised with a large number of interpretations attached. One changed regulation provides that "in case a player is hindered in making a stroke by anything not within his control, the stroke shall be replayed." The backstops and side stops are named as permanent fixtures but the practice of playing balls off these stops is forbidden, for it is provided that if a ball in play strike a permanent fixture "after it touches the ground" the player who struck it wins the point.

THE CRISIS IN HIGHER EDUCATION IN OREGON

PROTECT HIGHER EDUCATION IN OREGON BY VOTING FOR THE HIGHER EDUCATIONAL RELIEF MEASURE ON MAY 21

DO YOU KNOW

That since 1913 attendance at the higher educational institutions in Oregon has increased 150 per cent? That the purchasing power of their revenue from the state is less than one-half what it was in 1913? That classroom and laboratory space has increased only 15 per cent, so that conditions are "educationally impossible?" And that their support from the state has increased less than FOUR per cent since 1913 when the present millage bill was passed?

LET OREGON DO HER SHARE. IF THE EDUCATION OF THE COUNTRY FAILS, THEN ALL ELSE THAT IS GOOD MUST FAIL. EDUCATION IS BOTH AN INSURANCE AND AN INVESTMENT. ALL STATES ARE EXPECTED TO CONTRIBUTE TO THE SUE OF HUMAN KNOWLEDGE.

MYRTLE CREEK VICINITY.

Mrs. Chas. W. Ritee is critically ill at her home here. Mr. Hastings has sold his farm on N. Myrtle to a man from Aberdeen, Wash. Others who have recently sold out are Nels Olson and E. M. Marsters.

In the ball game Sunday between Oakland and Myrtle Creek the score stood 17 to 6 in favor of the visitors. New babies are all the fashion now-a-days. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dalloy are happy in the possession of a small son born April 24, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith were the recipients of a pair last Saturday—a boy and a girl.

Mrs. Otto Hunsaker visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Brower, last week. Knox Flint, a small son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Flint, got in somewhat of a hurry to get to school Friday morning and in alighting from the school bus he caught his foot under a moving wheel, badly crushing the instep and breaking two bones. While this is a very painful experience for the lad it will probably do him and all the rest of the truck riders more good than all the parental admonitions which they have received since the first of the school year.

The entertainment given by the primary and intermediate grades of the school Monday evening was very well rendered, reflecting much credit on both pupils and teachers.

While crossing the street in front of the theater after the entertainment Monday evening, little Hugh Frederick was struck by an automobile. The child was knocked senseless but after returning to consciousness he did not seem to be seriously injured.

ELKTON NEWS.

The political pot is boiling nicely in the part of the county. Elkton is slated for Mr. Grubbs as a candidate for county commissioner; not because he lives at Elkton but because we know the man and know him to be well qualified for the position. He is honest and will work for the interests of the county as a whole and not for some clique, faction or some particular part of the county. He gives no promises to anyone. He wants to stand upon his worth, his ability, and his integrity. Such a man we hope to see nominated and elected.

We wonder if the readers of your paper know how tricky a certain bunch of politicians are at Reedport. They wish to run this entire port district, if they cannot do it fairly, then they will try to do it in some other way. Ask the prosecuting attorney how they tried to seat their candidate lately when one of our port commissioners died. We understand they are now in trouble over the illegality of the election.

You should read the issue of April 24, of the Umpqua Courier to see how they feel when they cannot have all or a majority of the port commissioners. Why do they want a county commissioner anyway? They are entirely in one end of the county; they do not know the needs of our county as county commissioners should. Their interests are not in roads, bridges and the like but in boats, harbors, docks and such things.

If they would tend any city to their own affairs it is not so bad, but even then they should be fair and square and when it comes to taxation for improvements at Reedport the entire port district should be considered and not Reedport only.

We received this morning a very interesting letter from Mr. Bonanno concerning his efforts to start a cannery at Elkton. He wishes to tell the people that he left Monterey, California; came here to Elkton which he believes has a future to start a cannery. It was such a large undertaking he tried to interest farmers of the vicinity to organize a stock company but all in vain. He wishes it stated that he had the interests of the community at heart but they turned him down. He also claims his friends in California laughed at him when he left but he wished to help others and he feels discouraged in his effort to start a cannery. He claims that he wishes to do something for humanity before he dies.

Our Community club met last Friday night and the following resolution was passed:

We, the committee duly appointed by the president of the Community club, for the purpose of drafting resolutions in favor of the college and public school millage tax, hereby submit the following report:

We, the members of the Community club of Elkton, Oregon, do hereby declare our intentions of supporting the cause of the college and public school millage tax.

Oregon State Normal school are all facing a great financial crisis over which they have no control, because First—Enrollment in these institutions has increased 150 per cent since the year 1913; Second—The purchasing power of the dollar has decreased from a half to a third in the same length of time. Third—The income of the above mentioned institutions has increased but very little; therefore, they are hindered for want of classroom room space and the best faculty men cannot be kept on account of salary conditions. Fourth—Many public schools are closed on account of the lack of teachers, consequently many children will remain at home. These children will in a short time be adapted to physical labor as most of them will not be competent to compete with those who have had a state enough to receive the benefits of an education.

Therefore, since gray-haired experience has been replaced in a few years of college training that we must value a collection above the worth of a body. Community club as a body cannot support the above mentioned George A. Binder and Geo. Committee.
