WANTS TO SELL BEANS.
The following letter was received this morning by the Chamber of Commerce from Mrs. Ida Hirschinger, of Days Creek: "Would you kindly send me the names of a few of the grocers of Roseburg. Ladies Aid Has Interesting Meeting

The Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church held a most interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. Guy Flint, at 334 South Stevens street, yesterday afternoon. The committee in charge of the program and lunch included Mrs. J. M. Judd, Mrs. John Hunter, Mrs. B. S. Nichols, Mrs. John Throno, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney and Mrs. Guy Flint, and they spared no effort to make the afternoon a pleasant one. Following the business meeting, when several important matters came up for attention, a program consisting of readings by Mrs. Russell and Mrs. F. A. Stewart, and two soprano solos by Miss Claire Gasley were given. All of the numbers were much enjoyed and heartily endorsed. The Flint home was beautifully arranged with poppies and lilacs and a dainty luncheon was served. About 65 members were present.

Roy Durbin Buys Interest In Store

Roy F. Durbin, for many years employed in this city as a clerk in local clothing stores, has purchased a third interest in the K. K. K. clothing store at Klamath Falls, where he is now employed. In buying out the one-third interest Mr. Durbin was made treasurer of the firm and holds the position of manager and buyer for the shoe and rubber goods department. In speaking of the transfer to the Evening Herald of Klamath Falls says: "A business change of considerable importance is announced today in the purchase by Roy Durbin of the interest of G. W. Houston in the K. K. K. store. Mr. Houston has not been in the best of health for some time and believes that outdoor employment for a time is what he needs to put him in proper trim again, which is his reason for selling. He has not definitely decided what he will do. Mr. Durbin came here from Roseburg and has been employed by the K. K. K. store for several years. He has established a splendid reputation here, being a clean cut young man of exemplary habits, and his friends will be glad to know that he is permanently attached to the business community as men of his type are a distinct asset in the upbuilding of any community."

Garden Valley Club Meeting

The Garden Valley Improvement club met at the home of Mrs. Hugh Ritchie April 29, at 2 o'clock, a large number being present. A very interesting talk was given by the president concerning the millage tax, which is to be such a very important measure at the special general election on May 21, and the importance of the measure was duly emphasized. Other members made good talks also and after a short discussion it was decided to take a straw vote to see how the club stood and it voted unanimously in favor of the tax. Plans were then made for the second annual May Day festival to be held at the next meeting and is to consist of a mid-day luncheon, each member furnishing one item. A short program will be enjoyed, after which the business meeting will be held. This will take place at the next regular meeting time, May 13th, at the home of Mrs. Peter Sinclair.

MEETING TONIGHT.
The carnival executive committee will meet tonight at the Douglas National bank building for the purpose of considering matters pertaining to the coming carnival. One of the important matters to be given consideration tonight is the employment of a band. Owing to the fact that the local band was unable to continue its organization it will probably become necessary to hire an outside band to furnish music for the festivities. Arrangements will be made for the queen contest and committee chairmen will be appointed.

AGAINST DIAMOND LAKE FOR PARK

Withdrawal of Grazing Lands Would Result In Great Loss to County.

WOULD CHARGE TOLL
Passage Over Roads Would Be Possible Only After Paying Fee While Camping and Sporting Restrictions Be Enforced

That those supporting the bill extending the boundaries of Crater National Park to include Diamond Lake, believing it to be for the best interest of the county, are making a grave mistake is the belief of some of those who have been giving this matter careful study. Whenever a portion of the national forest is set aside for national park purposes it passes from the department of agriculture to the department of the interior. Whenever an auto or vehicle passes over the boundary line into the park, after that time, a toll fee of $2.50 must be paid. There are also restrictions against cutting firewood, no hunting is allowed, a fishing fee must be paid, and there are numerous restrictions and regulations regarding camping. At the present time if a person wants to go to Klamath Falls by the road from Medford a fee of $2.50 must be paid at the point where the road enters the Crater Lake park, regardless of whether or not the person goes near the lake. A study of the map shows what this will mean. Diamond Lake, in the Umpqua forest, lies almost due north of Crater Lake. At the present time a road is being built thru the Crater forest to connect with the road in the Umpqua forest, leading from Diamond Lake. This in turn connects with the road in from Bend and gives a short cut to that prosperous community. This road skirts closely the bounds of the present national park and in the event the boundaries are extended motorists going to Bend by the new route will be forced to pay toll. This, however, is not the worst feature. The Diamond Lake country is the center of the finest grazing land in the Umpqua forest. Sheep from the Bend country and from this section are grazed in great numbers. Many sheep raisers of this county are using the Diamond Lake range, while cattle have also been placed there. The forest service restricts the use of certain areas at the lake and reserve it for camping purposes only. Hunting and fishing can be enjoyed without a fee and fire wood is procurable in any quantity. The forest service at all times exercises jurisdiction and its rules are such that almost the same results are achieved as in the national park, but without withdrawing the grazing lands or interfering with the sports and pleasures to be enjoyed in a camp at this favored spot. Should the park boundaries be extended the grazing lands would be completely withdrawn resulting in a great loss and at the same time the toll rates and the camping restrictions would be enforced. This bill is being boosted by the National Park Association and has passed the senate and been referred to the house of representatives. Secretary of Agriculture Merritt has objected to the passage of the bill which was not referred to him and his opposition will have a decided effect upon the future action of the house and senate. Several commercial bodies sometime ago endorsed the bill without having given it any study and have since reversed their action and have wired the Oregon delegation to work against the measure.

Musical Program At Rose School

Miss Claire Gasley, musical supervisor in the Roseburg schools, is sponsoring a music program to be given at the Rose school at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The three primary grades, with Miss Parrott, Miss Ferdine and Miss Burkhardt as teachers, will participate in the program. A clever program has been arranged by Miss Gasley, consisting of songs, by all three classes, solos by some of the tiny tots, Browne and Fairy playlets, and rhythm work. The rooms in which the program is to be given will be charmingly arranged with paper blossoms and Japanese parasols. All parents and friends are cordially invited to be present.

not only has one or two specimens of ripe fruit, but has a goodly number of the "brand that made Roseburg famous." It will be remembered that Mr. Tollman is the gentleman that "slipped one over" on a California tourist last Thanksgiving when he won a bet from the exponent of "sunshine" concerning the fruit at that time of the season. The Californian stated he would pay $5 per box for every box Mr. Tollman could pick. Without hesitation, the Edenbower resident gathered five boxes and collected $25 from the tourist, who was greatly chagrined.

IN CHARGE OF STATION.

James T. Jardine, one of the leading officials of the forest service, has resigned to take charge of the state agricultural experiment station at Corvallis. Mr. Jardine is well known throughout Oregon as one of the foremost authorities on grazing lands. He has written a number of articles on grazing which are procurable through the forest service. He is a friend of Supervisor Ramsdell who says that the forest service has received a great loss but the state a gain.

CANNERY MEN HERE TO START WORK

Warehouse Will Be Started On Cannery Site by Rupert Co. Next Monday.

CONTRACT IS SIGNED

Local Cement Contractor Will Do Concrete Work on the Building Which is to be Constructed in This City.

G. E. Howland, of Newberg, arrived in Roseburg today as representative of the A. Rupert Company and will start on the warehouse unit and is ready to start the preliminary work on the unit which is to be the first built. The warehouse only will be constructed at this time, Mr. Howland states, and will be rushed to an early completion in order that the product of the cannery may be given a good storage place. The contract for the cement work has been let to contractor L. W. Metzger, who is also building several other concrete buildings in this city and Mr. Metzger is now arranging for a force of workmen to start in on this new work. The task of construction will start Monday and will be rushed until the building is completed and ready for occupancy. P. F. Standish, field representative of the Rupert company, is in the county interviewing growers and obtaining estimates on the amount of raw produce to be delivered to the cannery. He is accompanied by A. J. Geddes, manager of the local cannery, and has met a number of the growers. He states that the prospect looks very good for a big year and the growers are preparing to turn over a large amount of produce to the cannery this year. Superintendent Fred Fay will arrive Sunday. Mr. Howland states, and will remain in the city for a considerable time to take charge of the local institution and superintend the affairs of the company in his vicinity. The Rupert company recently purchased the cannery conducted last year by the Umpqua Growers Association, and is preparing to put on a large plant to add to their rapidly growing string of canneries in the northwest. The produce last year was sold through the Rupert Company, which has one of the best organized selling systems to be found in the country. A plant, which it is estimated will cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, will be built, each unit to be built separately, and until such a time as the main cannery building can be built, the old plant on Mill street will be used. The warehouse unit is badly needed to prevent an enormous expense, and this will be ready by the time the finished produce from the cannery is ready for the market.

Salvation Army Drive Goes Over

PORTLAND, May 7.—(Special to News-Review) A preliminary check of the state shows that the Salvation Army campaign for funds for the Home Service Program for 1920 is going over strong with many districts ahead of the schedule. Pilot Rock district, of Umatilla county, with a quota of $870 over the top on May 4, Portland workers took to the field Tuesday and report contributions from 95 percent of the calls made. "With reports from all out in the state satisfactory, the hard task seems to center in Portland," said John L. Etheridge, state president of the campaign. "Here it is a matter of getting to the money that is waiting for us. We are now bending our efforts toward getting workers to collect it. Oregon will go over for the Salvation Army. A surprising number of counties are reporting scattering districts over the top by 10 to 20 percent."

Trying to Find Trace of Father

The following letter from a daughter seeking word of her father was received this morning by C. S. Hetlinke, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. committee: "A few days ago I received a letter stating that my father had started from Sidney, Nebraska, about a week ago for a trip to the coast and intended to stop at Portland, also at Roseburg. I am writing to ask if you would do me the kindness to inquire at the hotels if a gentleman about 80 years of age, a Mr. H. McFadden, of Sidney, Nebraska, was staying there. As no word has been received from him since he left we are very anxious about him. If you get any

Combination Mail Box Installed

Postmaster L. F. Reizenstein this morning was busily engaged moving the large mail box which heretofore has been in front of the federal building to the corner of Oak and Jackson streets. The reason for the change is that the small box formerly on that corner was not large enough to handle the heavy mail from that section of the city. This change is made to accommodate the business men of Jackson street who have formerly been in the habit of pulling small parcels on top of the box. Unlike letters and cards, parcels cannot be sent out from a postoffice unless they bear the full amount of postage and residents should keep this in mind in mailing parcels and be sure that sufficient postage is provided.

A list of prizes is now being arranged by Mrs. Perkins, and will be announced later. The contest will close a week before the final day of school. All essays must be original and are limited to 500 words. Much interest is being shown in the project by the students, and many interesting manuscripts are expected.

A meeting of the Nebu Forensic club of the local high school was held following school hours last evening, and an organization for next year effected. The following officers were elected: President, Helen Campbell; vice president, Leta Bellows; secretary, Nellie Pickens; and treasurer, Elizabeth McKnight. It was also decided to have a line or theater party Saturday evening to close the activities for the year. The debating club has been more than active this year. They increased their field to include elementary training in dramatics, and joined the interscholastic debating league of the state. One outside debate was participated in, the team from Eugene making the trip to this city. Even more work is planned for next year, and several subjects which they were forced to abandon owing to the influenza epidemic will be taken up.
