WASHINGTON RANCHMAN HAS GAINED TWENTY-FIVE POUNDS TAKING TANLAC

"I know what I am talking about when I say there is one medicine that will do everything they say it will, and that's Tanlac," was the enthusiastic statement made recently by Fred Waring, a well known ranchman living at Squamish, Washington, a town twelve miles from Seattle.

"I gave Tanlac a fair trial," continued Mr. Waring, "and I want to tell the world that it did the work. Several years ago my health broke down and since that time I suffered so much that I hardly knew what it was to be free from pain. I had indigestion so bad that I did not care to eat, for I knew if I did it would cause me misery afterwards. The little I forced down soured on my stomach and bloated me up with gas so bad that I felt nauseated and miserable. I had rheumatism in my shoulders and right arm so that I had no use of my arm and it was impossible for me to pick up anything to work with. My kidneys were all out of order, and my back was weak and pained me so bad that if I stooped over it was agony for me to straighten back up again. I was badly constipated and subject to severe headache spells. My nerves were all on edge, and when I went to bed I would roll and toss nearly all night long and could hardly get any sleep at all. I was terribly run down, too weak to do a day's work and never thought I would see a well day again."

"Several of my neighbors were taking Tanlac with such fine results that I started taking it myself, and in no time I began to feel better. My appetite came back, and as everything I ate agreed with me I started gaining in weight and strength. My digestion was never better and the gas has stopped forming on my stomach. I am no longer constipated and don't know what it is to ever have a headache. The rheumatism in my arms and shoulders has left me completely and I can use my arms as good as I ever could. My kidneys are in fine condition and the pains in my back have all disappeared, and I now can do as big a day's work as any man. My nerves are as steady as a clock and at night I sleep like a log, and when morning comes I get up feeling just fine. I have gained twenty-five pounds in weight, am in better health than I have been in years and I can never say too much for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman, and by the leading druggist in every town.

REMEDY FOR TEACHER SHORTAGE REVEALED

Each Community in Oregon Should Know Instructions of Children Today.

In asking the state of Oregon to vote favorably for the two-mill elementary school measure, popularly known as the Children's Rights Bill, the teachers of the state of Oregon are not asking for an increase in salary. They are merely working for a fair and equal distribution of taxes for the support of these basic schools, that the entire state will be taxed and not only the organized school districts, as at present is the case.

The shortage of teachers in Oregon is growing so rapidly that the situation is alarming in the extreme. Last year 100 schools were closed, and in these 100 schools, 230 rooms were closed and close to 4000 pupils were unable to have the instruction that rightly should have been theirs. What was the cause?

It was due entirely to a shortage of teachers. Why? Because the teachers are being underpaid and are leaving the profession for better-paid work. They have to do this. Some day Oregon must come to the rescue of the teacher. Now, it is being asked to save the child, the voter of tomorrow.

Do we want him educated? Sure. Only recently in New York did the question of raising the teachers' salaries come up before the legislature and it was due to a lack of sufficient information as to the extent to which they should be increased, and the ability of communities to pay increases have led the legislative leaders to decide to postpone final revision of the teachers' salary law until another session.

The temporary readjustment of salaries will fix the minimum rate for the rural school teacher at $850, while in the larger country districts the lowest paid elementary teachers will get $900. The minimum in elementary schools in third-class cities will be $1,100 instead of $820 as at present, and that in high schools $1,250 instead of $940. Second-class cities must raise their minimum salary of elementary teachers from $800 to $1,200, and that of high school teachers from $1,000 to $1,400.

In order to prevent New York City draining the adjoining cities of teachers, Yonkers, Mount Vernon, White Plains, and New Rochelle are to be required to pay within $500 of the rates in effect in New York City. Flat increases of $550 over the March 1 rates are mandated upon Syracuse and of $400 on Buffalo and Rochester. These higher salaries will do much to make the teaching service more attractive.

The New York City rates are to be fixed by a committee now at work upon the problem of determining how the city's quota of the direct state tax of 1 1/2 mills—$12,000,000—shall be distributed among more than 24,000 members of the supervising staff. The average increase of $500 would seem small in comparison with the other increases were it not for the fact that the governor last month signed a bill giving the New York City teachers an increase on June 1. Six thousand six hundred and three teachers will receive from 30 to 40 per cent more pay than they received on Dec. 31, 1919, while 6,050 others of a total of 24,123 will have their salaries increased from 50 to 60 per cent. But the minimum salary on June 1 will be only $1,005.

In redrafting the provisions of the state-wide salary bill affecting New York City the joint legislative committee to which the task was assigned has raised this minimum to $1,500 and has so revised other salaries that those grades of the service where the chief shortage of teachers exists shall offer salaries that will attract and hold the best teachers. In no other way can the standards of teaching be maintained, not to say improved.

When the legislative committee reports next year whatever other grades of the service have not received due and proper consideration can be provided for in the general salary increase measure.

SCHOOLS ARE UNABLE TO GET INSTRUCTORS

Superintendent Spaulding of Cleveland Board Declines Small Salaries. Men teachers are disappearing from the schools of Oregon.

Thirty years ago there were as many men as women in elementary schools. Now the ratio is four men to six women.

Cleveland, Ohio, finds it impossible to secure men teachers of manual or physical training for elementary schools because of low salaries.

These facts are presented to Cleveland teachers by Supt. Frank E. Spaulding in an article being distributed to them for information in connection with their study of the salary questionnaire recently sent out.

The remedy in Oregon is the two-mill levy.

Significance is lent to the situation by a recent resolution of the Schoolmasters' Club of Cincinnati deploring the condition nationally and stating "the influence of men is considered necessary for the proper education of American youth."

The resolution asks the National Educational Association to bring before the public and its school officials the seriousness of the situation.

Dewey's Home Will be Store

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Admiral Dewey's former home, gift of the American people for his victory at Manila bay, is being remodeled into a store, having given way, as have a number of other historical residences, to the spreading commercial section of the city. The Dewey house at 1747 Rhode Island avenue, just off Connecticut avenue, was disposed of some years before Admiral Dewey's death.

The city's commercial expansion is gradually moving northwestward along Connecticut avenue and has passed beyond the British embassy, which now finds itself amidst a group of fashionable shops. The historic old Corcoran mansion and the wisteria-clad John Slidell house, with their old-fashioned gardens and high brick garden wall, facing Laayette park, opposite the White House at the beginning of Connecticut avenue, soon will be razed for a modern building for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America. Among the historic mansions holding out against the march of commercial expansion are the famous Octagon House, residence of Colonel Taylor, which was occupied a year by President Madison after the White House was fired by the British in 1814.

D. J. STEWART

Republican Primary Candidate for

COUNTY JUDGE OF DOUGLAS COUNTY.

Since my appointment by Governor Olcott to the office of County Judge of Douglas County I have to the best of my ability performed each and every official act of this office in a fair and impartial manner. My entire time has been devoted in giving the tax payers of this County an administration that would redound with perfect satisfaction to every city and hamlet as far as it is possible for a public official to carry out the true intent of the laws.

I have no particular interests to serve, other than the people as a whole, and if nominated at the coming Primary election you can expect and will get an administration of county affairs strictly along business lines.

I have no "thunder" to spread broadcast through a "Primary Nominator" or long columns of figures to juggle, to coerce voters to support my candidacy, but am asking for your support in a business way for a conservative administration by a practical business man.

I will appreciate your support on May 21, at the Primary election and assure you that my efforts will at all times be directed for a greater Douglas County.
