CONTRACT SIGNED FOR STREET DECORATIONS

The Roseburg Carnival committee has been exceedingly fortunate in signing a contract with Jerome and Nicholson, decorating contractors of Portland, who will come to this city and take complete charge of the decoration of the city for the Strawberry Carnival next week. Jerome and Nicholson are handling the decorations of Portland for the Shriner convention, and have a good reputation in their line of work. E. P. Jerome, senior partner of the firm, arrived in this city this morning, and will remain for several days. He said that owing to the short notice they received that it would not be possible to do as much as he would like to do here, but that they could promise Roseburg something novel in the way of decorations. They also take care of any merchants who want their windows and store fronts decorated and furnish all materials and do all the labor. Mr. Jerome will be at the Umpqua hotel while in the city. It is expected that the street decorations will be completed by Tuesday of next week.

Just try one and you will be happy. Churchill Hdw. Co. Winchester flashlights and batteries.

RECITAL LAST EVENING.
A large crowd was present at the high school auditorium last night at the presentation in recital of the baby class of the Heinline-Moore conservatory, assisted by the primary class. The program consisted of violin and piano solos by the tiny tots, as well as games and dances taught them in kindergarten. The rhythm work was exceptionally good, the small pupils showing the result of long and conscientious training. This recital is to be followed by a series the first week in June, when the conservatory will present adult students. Mrs. Heinline Moore have secured the services of Miss Anna Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Dunn, as teacher during the summer months. Miss Dunn is a major in the school music at the University of Oregon and is the honor student, having highest grades there.
From Eugene—Miss Maybelle Miller arrived this city from Eugene last night and will spend the week end visiting her home.
