PREDOMINANCE OF THE SMITHS

Names are a curious study. The Smith family has commonly been said to be the most numerous of any of the family groups in this country. This claim was confirmed by the figures given out by the war risk bureau, showing that of the war risk cards, the enormous number of 54,180 signed the name Smith. The Johnsons came next with 41,580. The Browns were third, with 29,980.

It would be an interesting subject of speculation for the philologist or philosopher, to see if any reason could be determined why the Smiths have risen to this proud numerical superiority. Why are there more Smiths than Thompsons or Robinsons or Joneses? Many surnames originally came from the trade which people followed. In the days of chivalry, horses were the chief means of locomotion and transportation. There must have been a Smith at every cross roads. Primitive custom called him Mister or Master Smith. His son followed the same occupation and took the same title for generations. It would seem possible that the Smiths, following a vigorous and athletic calling, should acquire as a tribe, a powerful physical development. Perhaps then they might be expected to propagate faster and develop a greater population than the ordinary run of people. But the days when the ordinary family of English stock had eight to ten children have long since passed. To get these families now you have to go among the newcomers. Perhaps the directorates of 1970 will show that the Smiths have been pulled down from their proud predominance by the Colarulis or Czolusniaks or other prolific alien stocks, who are even now building up armies of descendants in our towns.

In these times when labor is expensive, some people may be tempted to give up the culture of flowers. But it would seem that in these days of short hours and labor conveniences, the modern family could find time to decorate itself with flowers. The old fashioned home with its lovely garden, was no beauty bought with cash. Usually the busy housewife, already burdened with the imperative cares of a big family, could yet find chinks of time for her beloved hollyhocks and roses. And how they did glorify the simple old home. The modern dwelling may be more tasteful than the old time home was. But if it gives up the old flower garden, its handsome brick or stucco, or shingles are no substitute for the gay loveliness of the flowers. It does not take such a lot of time to develop a beautiful garden, and the results are a glorious compensation for the effort.

An inquirer asks what has become of the pirates who used to sail the seas with a black flag showing skulls and cross bones. O well, they live on the best streets now, and are highly respectable speculators in the necessities of life.

Well, we can now forget that there was ever a primary election held in this county and put our efforts toward making the Strawberry festival a grand and glorious success.

After everything else has been "tapped" now comes the flattering rumor that it is quite possible that some of that John D. Rockefeller "stuff" is about to be unearthed in this county.

The merchant who doesn't believe in advertising and who now finds himself loaded up with high priced stock, must feel very much up against it.

The only revolutions that will be seen in this country, are those of the wheels inside the heads of the people who are trying to promote them.

These strikers who tied up the production of nails and thus held up house construction, will probably strike again soon because rents have advanced.

The time has gone by when a man would hand out a $100 bill for a $75 suit of clothes, and tell the clerk to never mind about the change.

The Germans hang on to their tons with the same firmness with which they protest that they long for peace.

All the men who laugh at the freakishness of feminine styles, always put on their straw hats at just the same day regardless of weather.

Successful candidates only get in running shape at a primary election. The big event comes off in November.

Doll up for the carnival and take your best girl to all the shows—but look out for the fat man.

Nothing the matter with this weather. Just fits in fine for our annual festival.

At last accounts Quine and Starner were still in the race.

Aged Riddle
Resident Here

Thomas O'Connor, better known as "Curly," who has been spending some time in this city receiving medical treatment, left this morning for Riddle, where he resides. Mr. O'Connor, who is 95 years of age, is as youthful looking as many men 20 or 30 years his junior and lives by himself on a small ranch. He has resided in Douglas county for many years and has many friends in Roseburg. Owing to his youthful appearance it was thought by some that he had been mistaken in his age, but recent records received from Ireland where he was born, show his birth certificate of August 1822. Mr. O'Connor fought in the Crimean wars, and was a member of the Light Brigade in its famous charge at Balakava; the charge that has been made immortal by Tennyson. He also fought in our Civil war with Farragut, and has many interesting stories of the early days.
