LOVE and MARRIED LIFE by the noted author Idaho McGlone Gibson

ARE MEN GULLIBLE?

For a long while I sat there enveloped in unhappy thoughts. Suddenly I became conscious that the whistle had stopped in the bathroom and I knew that John was shaving. Then came a voice in happier tones than he used before going in to his bath, "Katherine, will you please open my grip and bring me a silk shirt, collar and my brown tie?"

I listened to do this and thrust it in the door. As I did so I caught a glimpse of myself in the rear mirror at the other end of the room. I did look very forlorn. I decided I would try to make myself a little more presentable. In my wardrobe was a new and very good looking black and white maternity gown which I never had worn. I went in to my dressing room and closed the door just as I heard John commence to whistle again.

Before I had finished he came out into the other room and called me. I knew by his voice that he was perfectly happy and at peace with all the world.

Comfortable in Mind. I wonder if other married women have found that husbands have a way of making themselves perfectly comfortable in their minds when they have made their bodies comfortable. John can go to his bath in a very neat frame of mind and does not drop his collar under the chin-fender and is able, immediately to find the tie he wants.

Since I have been married I have been very careful to see that John's clothes are laid away in perfect order in his bureau drawers, and yet when he is where I am he never fails to say to me: "Katherine, where did you put my shirts?" or whatever else he may be wanting to wear. It seems to be easier for him to ask me that question than to use his brain a little and remember where they all always are.

"Katherine, Katherine, where are you?" he called. "I'm in my dressing room for a moment," I answered.

John came rushing to the door. I was very glad I had locked it because I do want privacy when I am dressing, something that John can never understand. I have always believed that a woman never should disclose all her toilet secrets to any one, least of all to her husband.

I have had men remark to me on the glorious color which their wives' complexion always displayed. Knowing that the color was rouge I understood immediately that that man's wife was clever enough to un-rouge all the time and use it secretly. I have had other men call attention to the glorious tints in their wives' hair when to a woman who knew the fine points of beautifying it was rouge instead of nature's bronze. To myself I said, "smart woman," instead of "beautiful hair."

Men Gullible Creatures. Men are the most gullible of creatures when it comes to beauty. They think they admire beauty in a woman, but what they really admire is charm. They never stop to think that if a woman has a beautiful complexion that it might be more or less doctored provided her smile seems sincere and flattering. They will write sonnets to their sweethearts' eyebrows that have cost "sweet-heart" almost as much pain as a surgical operation in shaping them. They will speak of crimson lips and beg for a kiss while the woman fears to grant the request lest she leave the shape of those lips upon the face of her lover.

I expect all these thoughts are what a man calls "catty" and I presume they really are so. I know it was only when I began to look ugly myself that I began to hate them. However, after donning my black and white negligee and tying a broad green ribbon about my naturally red hair I felt as though I were looking better. In fact, I was a little ashamed that I had gone to meet John without paying more attention to my appearance.

"My, but you're good to look at," exclaimed John as I opened the door. "I can return the compliment," I answered with perfect truth, for John was almost ideal as far as physique and face were concerned. He came forward to me and for the first time since I had seen him took me in his arms and kissed me. And then I realized how much he was influenced by physical attraction. I was very glad that I had decided to stay away from him down here in the country until after the baby was born. He seemed to be thinking about the same thing, for he said, "Well, are you going home with me?"

"Better to Stay Here." "No," I answered, "I think it is better for me to stay down here." "Well, I'm sorry, for I will have to go back tonight, girl."

The name "girl" made me very happy, for it was the first time that John had used it to me in many months.

His next question, however, dispelled my happiness and I was sure I was going to have a disagreeable quarrel of an hour.

Government Gets A Large Revenue

NEW YORK, May 26.—The government derives more than $20,000,000 annually in revenue from brokers' licenses and stock transactions in New York, says William H. Edwards, collector of internal revenue for this district. Six thousand stock brokers, he said, pay a license tax of $50 and in addition a special tax of $50 or $150 according to the salable value of their seats on local exchanges.

Of the 4000 commission brokers, those who are members of an exchange where produce or other wares are traded to pay a yearly tax of $50. A 2-cent tax on shares traded in on the stock exchange nets the government several thousand dollars daily. Unlisted corporations having a home office in the United States are subject to the original issue tax of 5 cents a share on all stocks valued at $100 or fraction thereof.

The monthly sale of documentary stamps averages $2,000,000, more than half of which is in stamps of $1000 denomination, or approximately 1500 $1000 stamp sales for stock transactions, Mr. Edwards said. To supply the demand a reserve supply of stamps valued at $10,000,000 always is maintained in the custom house vaults.

Siwashes Marvel At Modern City

By Associated Press. WINNIPEG, Man., May 26.—The Indians who were brought to Winnipeg from the far north to participate in the Hudson's Bay anniversary pageant, some of whom had never been in a large city before, when asked what they thought was the most wonderful thing witnessed here declared it to be the bicycles.

F. G. Lewis, traveling agent for the Southern Pacific company, spent yesterday in this city enroute to southern Oregon. He will stop here on his return and spend a short time attending to business matters. Mr. Lewis has his headquarters in Eugene.

Dry Country Helps Theatres

By Associated Press. CLEVELAND, O., May 26.—The theatrical business has increased 50 per cent since the country went "dry," according to John Cort, of New York, one of the country's leading producers, on a recent visit to Cleveland. He declared the dry era started off a disastrous period for the theatrical world.

Russian Count Wearing Overalls

By Associated Press. TORONTO, Ont., May 26.—Count Constantin Rachtinsky, erstwhile nobleman of the royal court of Russia, has taken up overalls. The count, who lost his fortune in the Bolshevik revolution, is working as a laborer in a Toledo automobile factory "sorting and trucking." Some day Count Rachtinsky plans to return to Russia to sell automobiles.

Ben Franklin's $1000 to be Used

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—A bequest of $1000 by Benjamin Franklin to the City of Philadelphia in 1790 to be used after 100 years "to make living in town more convenient and render it more agreeable to strangers," is to be applied by the board of city trusts to the erection of public-comfort stations. The bequest now amounts to $25,222 which a similar legacy from John Scott of $2000 in 1816 has increased to $14,085. The board decided to apply both funds for the purpose stated upon recommendation of Mayor Moore.

Mr. Baird, a former Ten Mile resident, died at Myrtle Point, Clatsop county, Sunday, May 23. His daughter, Mrs. Elmer Bushnell, had been at his bedside for the last two weeks of his illness. He leaves a wife and several children.

THE BEST ON EARTH

Says Mrs. Staples of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Taunton, Mass.—"I could not eat or sleep for six months, had fainting spells and could not walk without help for three months, caused by female trouble. My cousin, told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me greatly. Then during the Change of Life I used the same remedy. I am now seventy years old now and am able to do my own housework and walk one mile to church every Sunday morning and evening. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends having the same troubles as I had. Your remedy is the best on earth. I cannot find words to express my gratitude to it."—Mrs. SEBASTIAN C. STAPLES, 137 B School St., Taunton, Mass.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female illa, such as displacements, inflammation, and ulceration. Why don't you try it!
