SOUTHERN OREGON CON. CAMP MEETING

Sutherland Chosen For Annual Session—City of Tents Draws Attention.

EACH DAY WELL FILLED

Exact Precision Marks Proceedings From Early Rising Bell to Last Service—Prominent Speakers Attend Meeting.

SUTHERLIN, May 25.—(Special to News-Review).—The Adventist campmeeting opens here tonight with a discourse by Eldred G. F. Watson, president of the Montana conference. The big pavilion tent has been pitched near the academy building, and there the services will be held during the ten days of the meeting. In addition the young people's meetings will be held in a smaller tent. The book tent, where are exhibited a large assortment of denominational books, periodicals and tracts, is also a feature of the meeting.

A large number have already come in from various parts of the conference, which comprises Lane, Douglas, Coos, Curry, Josephine, Jackson and Klamath counties, and quite a city of tents, all arranged in perfect order, have sprung up for housing the visitors during the sessions.

This is the first time anything of the nature of a campmeeting of the magnitude of the present meeting has visited Sutherland, and the people throughout the valley and adjacent farming communities are taking considerable interest in the demonstration, and it is believed the attendance will be large, especially during the Saturday and Sunday services.

Everything about the camp is scheduled with clock-like precision. At 6 a. m. the rising bell rings. A prayer service will be held each morning in the big tent at 8:30 a. m. The breakfast hour is from 7:30 to 8:30. At 9 to 10 is devoted to Bible study. A children's meeting is also held in their tent from 9 to 10. Each day a preaching service will be held in the big tent from 10:45 to 11:45.

In the afternoon a daily preaching service will occur at 2:30 to 3:30. Denominational meetings 4 to 5. Children's meetings also from 4 to 5. Young people's meetings at 5 to 6. The evening services daily will begin with a song service in the big tent at 7:45, preaching at 8. The music for the meetings will be under direction of Prof. J. E. Weaver. The children's meetings will be in charge of Mrs. P. A. Hansen, and excellent music will be provided for those occasions.

Among the speakers from outside fields will be some of nation-wide reputation as Bible students and authors, including R. D. Quinn, of Washington, D. C.; O. A. Tait, of Mountain View, California; R. A. Ogden, Walla Walla; C. F. Watson, Bozeman, Montana; G. C. Hoskins, Portland; W. C. Flaiz, Walla Walla; Dr. W. B. Holden, Portland; H. G. Thurston, Salem. In addition to these speakers there will be a number of men from the various parts of the Southern Oregon conference.

FARM DWELLERS ASK FOR BOOKS

Announcement of the "Books for Everybody" Movement Brings Letter Flood.

INFORMATIVE WORKS SOUGHT

Requests for Reading Matter Range From Volume on Drainage to Collins' "Book of the Stars."

The announcement of the entrance of the American Library Association upon the "Books for Everybody" movement and still later news accounts of the activities of the organization along these lines resulted in a widespread appeal from residents of the rural districts of the country for books on farming. Whether the American farmer is simply evidencing his ambition to do a good job better or whether the better crops of his neighbor, who has attended an agricultural college or school, has spurred him on is a matter difficult to determine. But the fact remains the farmer is asking for books. The great majority of American farmers are either without libraries and book service or they are inadequately served.

One of the points which the American Library Association in its "Books for Everybody" movement is strongly urging is the extension of the county library system in states where enabling acts have been passed—some twenty-one in number—and the proper legislation in others which have not yet taken the step. The system, with its central library and radiating lines to stations in the remotest sections of the county, assures good books to every man, woman and child who cares to reach out a hand and grasp one.

Letters Show Need of Service.

The American Library Association is not giving its entire attention to the urban dweller, nor is it neglecting the centers of population for the rural districts and communities. It is, however, unquestionably eager to create a steady flow of informative reading to rural America. That the need for such service exists and that it is anxiously sought is evidenced in every letter of this nature received by state library commissions and by the A. L. A. A few excerpts have been selected because they seem to express most truly the needs of thousands of others.

When Lydia Carlson, whose farm is beyond Mason, Wis., asked for copies of "Productive Farm Crops," "Productive Vegetable Growing" and "Principles of the Practice of Poultry Raising" she echoed the book needs of her neighbors. Then she revealed the fact that her eyes are not always in the furrows by asking for a copy of Collins' "Book of the Stars."

What Others Desired.

There was a pressing need behind the letter from James Dunn, who lives ten miles from Convent, La., the nearest town, which has a population of only 500 people. He asked for a copy of "Practical Farm Drainage." The task of keeping his acres dry was beyond him. Walter Williams of Osseo, Wis., wanted to know if he could make fuel alcohol from frozen potatoes and spoiled fruits, and if he could, where there any books on the subject. The requests run the whole range of farm operations. Some wish to know how to treat scale, others desire facts on hog raising. Books giving information on crop rotation are in demand.

The American Library Association is raising a $2,000,000 fund to finance the "Books for Everybody" movement which during the next three years will be carried on in co-operation with existing libraries and library agencies. The money is not being raised through the medium of an intensive drive but through the individual efforts of the librarians, library trustees and friends of libraries.

Claude Mathews, who was yesterday arrested on a charge of assault and battery on Harley Johnson at Reston, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace I. B. Riddle and held for the grand jury, being released on his own recognizance. Mathews states that the controversy occurred after a boy had been abused by Johnson for driving a team over the bank. Mathews states that he attempted to defend the boy, whereupon Johnson directed vile names and abuse at the interloper, with the result that Mathews knocked him off the grade, breaking his nose and causing other injury. ALICE JOYCE

Of all the reigning favorites of the early motion pictures, Alice Joyce alone shines as a star today. With such notable plays as "The Lion and the Lamb" and "The Third Degree" the famous Ivory Lane melodrama, "The Sporting Duchess" Mrs. Joyce's story, "The Vengeance of Durand," and "Blame of Pride" as her costumes, Miss Joyce has entered an era of steadily increasing popularity. She occupies a place among the colors of the screen.
