

Cause Precedes Effect

NOTHING happens without reason. Even the high cost of living can be analyzed and be found to have solid foundation. Thoughtless use of money is one of the big contributing factors in which the public at large has been wholly at fault. An account here at the Umpqua Valley Bank is a solution to even that problem, for it makes one think TWICE before spending or investing blindly.

How About That Lawn, Does It Need Mowing?

Remember we have a few mowers left over from last season, on which price has not been lifted. Then again to save it, you will have to become one "Julius Pluvius", and will need hose and sprinklers. We have been selling a quantity but still have some left. Get one of those eight-foot sprinklers and duplicate a rain shower. Under good Pressure it will cover a space 20 feet wide, or can be reduced to as narrow a strip as you wish.

River Changes Its Course.

There is only one season of the year when one can visit Angkor (in the interior of Cambodia, French Indo-China), owing to a curious phenomenon known nowhere else in the world—the fact that the river Tonle-Sap flows inland part of the year and then turns and flows outward, in the opposite direction, for the remainder of the year. At such times as it flows inland, during and following the rainy season, there is water enough to float steamboats. When it flows outward it completely drains a large lake that forms part of the river bed and leaves the lake dry except for a small trickle down the center.
