STRANGE FLEET IN RIVER AT CHICAGO

Boats Representing Many Wars Assembled in Strange and Dilapidated Fleet.

SUB'S LOOKS CHANGED

Passenger Liner Eastland Transformed to Famous Gunboat Still Bears War Paint and is Greatly Changed.

CHICAGO, June 14.—There is a graveyard of famous fighting ships in the heart of Chicago's manufacturing district. In the Chicago river is assembled one of the strangest fleets ever assembled on the Great Lakes. The submarine, once the U-97 and one of the prides of Admiral Von Tirpitz, has little in its appearance to indicate its war record of seven allied ships sunk by torpedo and gun fire and no one knows how many destroyed by mines, for the U-97 was a mine layer. On deck she still boasts a long range naval rifle, but below is only a shell. Her main engines and all her principal working parts have been stripped out and shipped to Annapolis, where future officers of the navy will receive their education on machinery donated by the late Imperial German government. The U-97 was surrendered at Scapa Flow after the armistice and was one of the five German U-boats allotted to the United States. She toured the Great Lakes during the victory loan drive before coming to her last rest here.

In this strangely assorted fleet is the Essex, whose ancient wooden hull was designed to break up the slave traffic on the African coast. The Yantic was built as a yacht for President Lincoln, then remodeled as a naval cutter. Her most famous exploit was the vain attempt, in company of the Proteus, to rescue Lieutenant Greely's arctic exploration party at Discovery Harbor in 1883.

The Hawk, formerly a yacht, was sold by the late Mark Hanna, of Ohio, to the government at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. She captured the Spanish liner Alfonso XIII off Havana and brought her a prize into port.

The gunboat Wilmette, still in hexray war paint, bears little resemblance to her former self when she was the passenger liner Eastland, which turned over at its dock in 1915, drowning 812 excursionists. Remodeled and armed by the navy department, she is now what her officers claim is the finest gunboat in the service and is in use as a training ship.

Half a dozen submarine chasers stationed here, all of which saw service overseas during the war, are to be sold, if the government can find purchasers. Two have already been disposed of, one bringing $12,000 and the other $20,000. They cost the government about $90,000 each.

Democrat Central Officers Chosen

O. P. Coshov was chosen county chairman of the democratic central committee at a meeting held at the city hall Saturday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by R. R. Turner, acting for Attorney Coshov, who is away on his vacation. The election of officers was the first matter of business and following the selection of the chairman, J. E. McClintock was chosen secretary and treasurer, R. R. Turner state committee man from Douglas county, and Charles Beckley congressional committee man. These four officers will appoint three others and the seven will constitute the executive committee.

WILL INSPECT RIVERS.

Carl D. Shoemaker, executive secretary of the Oregon fish commission, will leave Portland today to inspect the fish supply of eastern Oregon rivers, including the John Day, Deschutes, Umatilla, Snake and other tributaries of the Columbia. It is said that the salmon and trout supply of eastern Oregon streams is being diminished rapidly.

"Dispatches from cities of Washington stating that the fish supply of southern Washington rivers is plentiful, but is being lessened by illegal fishing, is the reason I am going on this trip of inspection," said Mr. Shoemaker. "I understand that the governor of Washington has seen fit to call out state troops to prevent poaching and illegal fishing in general. I do not believe that Oregon will be put to the necessity of taking this course, as it does not appear from reports that illegal angling is being practiced in great measure in streams of the eastern portion of our state."

SEATTLE MAN SAYS HE COULD NOT LEAVE HIS HOUSE IN FOUR MONTHS

"When I began taking Tanlac I had been confined to my home for four months, but I never felt better in my life than now," said William Delaney, well-known employe of the City Street Department and who lives at 427 Fairview Ave., Seattle, Wash.

"I had stomach trouble and indigestion so bad that everything I ate disagreed with me," continued Mr. Delaney. "Gas would form after meals and cause me to have the worst sort of cramping spells. I actually suffered so much I dreaded to eat at all and I never dared touch meat or anything heavy. I also had rheumatism all over my body and it was so bad in my arms and legs I could hardly get about at all; then my nerves went back on me and I could never get a good night's sleep. "I heard so much good about Tanlac that I decided to try it and I just seemed to be made especially for my case, for every one of my troubles left me so quickly it was really amazing, and I am enjoying better health now than I have in years. I have a ravenous appetite, eat anything I want and sleep like a log every night. I have gained a lot in weight, too, and put in a big day's work on the job every day. I feel like a different man in every way and Tanlac deserves all the credit for it."

Tanlac is sold in Roseburg by W. F. Chapman, and by the leading druggist in every town.

DRAIN AND LEONA.

Mr. Lewis and family have moved into the house lately vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Reed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright and daughter Irene went over to Smith river Saturday, returning home Sunday.

The gasoline shortage has noticeably reduced the number of autos on the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davis and children, of Sunnydale, were visiting relatives and friends near Leona one day last week.

The heavy rain the first of the week will insure good gardens, although it has spoiled a little hay and "lodged" the vetch badly. The crops were all needing rain, and farmers generally welcomed the copious showers which thoroughly soaked the ground.

Mr. Neely, who was injured some time ago by a limb falling on him while at work in the woods, is doing nicely at present under Dr. Devore's care, and hope is entertained that he will soon be up and about again.

Everett Wright, who recently got his arm broken while cranking his auto, went to Cottage Grove this week and the plaster cast was removed, the wound dressed, and the arm was again placed in a cast.

Dr. Bertha Devore was called to Leona last week to attend George Woolley's two youngest children, who have this "grrippe" that is going the rounds just now.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davis and little daughter Gladys, of Sunnydale, were in Drain last week visiting friends and relatives and attending to business matters.

Mrs. Vanscoy, of Leona, came down in her car last week to Drain, accompanied by Miss Miller.

Mrs. Walton, of Sunnydale, was in Drain the first of the week doing some shopping.

Mr. Bowers, of Smith River, was in Drain one day last week doing some trading. Also Messrs. Fred and Ray Harris and Bert Glaspy were in from Smith river, bringing a load of shingles with an auto truck.

Work on the Pacific highway was temporarily stopped this week by the rains, making the roads too soft in places for the heavy trucks to get over. It is hoped to complete the road between Drain and Leona in about a week more.

Mr. Wolton, of Albany, and Miss Viola Blomberg, of Drain, were quietly married last Thursday and have moved to Albany to reside. The bride had made her home at Drain for a number of years and has a host of friends, who will miss her. The groom is an ex-soldier. We wish them much happiness.

Mrs. Annie Traylor, accompanied by her two little daughters, were in Leona last Saturday visiting at the home of Mrs. George Woolley.

Marion Conner is expected out Friday from Smith river to meet his brother, Paul, who is coming down from Corvallis for a visit. The latter is an ex-soldier and is now taking a course in civil engineering. The wild strawberries have been

Parents and Teachers Meet

Friday evening the Fullerton Parent-Teacher association held its regular monthly business meeting. The following officers were installed: President, Mrs. John Runyan; secretary, Mrs. Foster Buttner; treasurer, Mrs. Horace Campbell. At the close of an informal but interesting address, the president appointed the following committees: Program, Mrs. R. M. Brunfield, C. H. Arundel, Foster Buttner, the new teacher and Prof. L. B. Fancher; park, Mr. Reese, Mrs. Kohlhaugen, Judge Fullerton, Mrs. Buttner; membership, Miss Swinney, Mrs. L. B. Fancher, Mrs. Reese; refreshments, to be appointed from time to time; press committee, Mrs. Arundel.

Miss Bertha Kohlhaugen pleasantly rendered a piano solo and encore. A pleasant surprise was an impromptu speech by Supt. A. G. Smith, in which he commended the association for its community work and active interest in the school.

Miss Cowgill gave an interesting account of her survey of club work in Oregon, with special emphasis on the Jersey calf club of fifteen members at Shedd, Oregon, and the industrial clubs of Fullerton.

Mr. Street proudly told of a Jersey calf club of twenty members on Smith River, in this county, and praised the poultry club of Benson school, as well as the Fullerton clubs.

The park committee was requested to plan a picnic in Fullerton park at an early date, in order that parents and children might help put the park in order for the summer.

The carnival committee reported that the school had won only fourth place in the contest, but hoped to be more successful next year.

The next meeting will be held at the call of the president for some evening when Mr. Street will be able to give his lantern illustrated lecture.

FIND BARREL OF BOOZE.

Another dream of exhilaration was rudely interrupted by Chief of Police Christensen about 9 o'clock last night when he entered a house at Seventeenth and Ferry and located a barrel of prunes, raisins and other ingredients working its way up to the booze stage, says the Eugene Guard. The house was supposed to be vacant, but neighbors had noticed men coming and going about it from time to time, and suspicions were tipped off to the officer. The man who was in charge of the operations promptly denied responsibility for the plant, saying that it was the property of another man in the neighborhood. However, the man was placed under bonds and the barrel of "dope" confiscated by the chief, who took a sample of it to the university for analysis. It was found to have a liberal percentage of alcohol at this stage and if it had been left a while longer would have made a fine brand of "moonshine."

NOTICE

How about your eating place? The Mapleleaf confectionery serves the very best lunches.

Figs for some time and the blackberries will probably be ripe in a week if the weather is warm. The cherries are now just coming on, and there seems to be a fair crop of them. X. X.
