ROBINSON ASSAILS REPUBLICAN PARTY

Has Vision of G. O. P. Defeat In the Coming November Election.

EULOGIZE PEACE TREATY

Alleged Democrats Have Earned the Confidence of the American Public—Gompers Appeals to the Committee.

(By Associated Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, permanent chairman of the democratic national convention, in his speech today assailed the republican party for its Chicago platform, and made capital out of the disclosures of the large sums of money expended in the pre-convention contests. Particularly did Robinson attack those republican senators who fought ratification of the peace treaty with the league of nations covenant attached. "Tested by every standard which the American voters usually employ," declared Robinson, "the democratic party is entitled to victory in the coming campaign. Comparison of the democratic and republican records, contrast of their political policies and party leadership justifies the belief that the republicans will be driven from power in both branches of congress, and that complete control of the government will be restored to the democratic party in the November election, because this party has earned the public confidence.

Committee In Session.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—At the public session of the platform committee today a delegation headed by Frank P. Walsh was granted a hearing on the proposal to recognize the Irish situation, looking to the securing of favorable action from the convention in the matter. Representatives of the anti-saloon league were also among those who were received by the platform committee. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was granted a hearing on requests of organized labor. Presenting petitions from the membership of the federation, Gompers alleged that his program was designed to aid all the wage earners throughout the country —whether members of the union or not. He told the platform committee that unless the democrats took a progressive attitude they could not hope to compete with the party that has written "reaction across its banners. "The republican party," declared Gompers, "has formulated a goals of progress and safety there should be some avenue in which intelligent unrest among our people can find its expression and enforcement. Already the nemies of labor, enemies of the democratic party, are spreading the insidious propaganda, seeming to assume that we are come here to hold guns at your heads for compelling obedience to our demands, but we do not come in a spirit of compulsion, but as your fellow citizens, asking for an open declaration of progressive human rights.

Kept Open House.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The platform committee of fifty-three kept open house today to hear final suggestions from many sources. Labor, liquor and the Irish problems came up for consideration and debate. It became apparent this morning that the real contest over the platform would come after the subcommittee report is laid before the full committee. Bryan and any of his followers were omitted by administration leaders from participation on the sub-committee, therefore it is believed more than probable that the Commoner will not present his planks on prohibition and the league of nations for the sub-committee's consideration at all.

Will Present Planks.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—An angle of the prohibition fight developed today in the platform committee when the Bryan dry forces were compelled, over their protest, by a vote of 27 to 25, to present their plank first in the committee hearing.

Liquor or Prohibition.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The liquor interests, appearing before the committee on platform by their representatives, presented every argument known in favor of their position. Some of the speakers alleged the wet and dry plank had no place in the platform, because it was not a political issue. Theodore A. Bell, former representative from California, opened the case for the wets. He assailed Bryan's position, reading from the various platforms on which the Commoner had been a candidate. Bryan was present and clashed with Bell when the former asked in what capacity Bell appeared before the committee. Bell stated that he represented a group of California grape growers. Bryan, replying to Bell as to whom he represented, said: "I am speaking for the women and children whom your traffic would destroy."

McAdoo Be Nominated.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The name of William Gibbs McAdoo will formally be placed in nomination at the convention "at the earliest opportunity," his supporters decided in a conference today. The presentation of McAdoo's name will be made by Burris A. Jenkins, a Kansas City, Mo., minister.

Unit Rule Rejected.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The committee on rules today adopted a motion rejecting the unit rule in states where there are laws requiring the election of delegates by districts. This will have the effect of splitting the New York delegation in event the report is adopted by the convention.

New York Divided.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The Empire state delegation came to the convention with its ninety votes bound by such a rule passed at the state convention over the protest of several of its members, who are renewing their fight here against the rule. The question came upon a motion to adopt the rules under which the 1912 convention operated, placing all states under the unit rule excepting those in which there is a mandatory statute providing for nomination and election of delegates in congressional districts. There is such a law in New York, and delegates from several districts contended for the right to act independently of the delegation as a body.

Out for McAdoo.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—The McAdoo supporters come on the convention floor for the first time today with a working organization, including floor leaders and representatives on practically every state delegation. Their problem was to find enough supporters to round up the two-thirds vote.

Doheny for Vice-President.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—A new contender in the person of Edward L. Doheny, a California oil operator, entered the field today for vice-presidential honors.

Railroads Want Raise.

WASHINGTON, June 29—The the pacific submitted a petition to the interstate commission today askng for an advance in freight rates equivalent to those asked by the railroads of the west and south. Western railroads are asking 24 per cent increase.

Galleries Better Filled.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—One o'clock, the hour for the convention to assemble, came and passed, and as usual the session was not ready for business. Delegates were arriving rapidly, however, and the galleries were better filled than yesterday. Most of the leaders and managers were busy in the upper rooms of the building working with committees when the hour struck, and this also aided in the delay.

Nearly Hour Late.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29—It was 1:50 o'clock today when chairman Cummings called the democratic national convention to order and it was only by vigorous pounding on the desk with the gavel that the delegates were called to their seats and the aisles gradually cleared. Cummings was determined to get order quickly and succeeded, and said, "I present greetings to the unterrified democracy of America." The report of the credentials committee affirminy the seating of the Palmer delegates from Georgia and the unseatinv of Senator Reed, of Missouri, was then presented. When the unseating of Senator Reed of ed, without mentioning his name, there was loud applause and cheers from the delegates section of the hall speedily terminating into a demonstration with prolonged shouts.

Four Die in Accident.

BUFFALO, June 29.—Four persons were killed and a considerable number hurt when the walls of the Sutherland hotel and lodging house collapsed.

PLANE IS EVPECTED

A standard airplane carrying Cliff Durant, famous automobile racer, to Tacoma for the races there is expected to arrive in Roseburg tonight. The plane is being piloted by Lieutenant Pickup, and left Oakland on Monday. The plane is owned by the Durant Aircraft Corporation, of Oakland, California. Another plane belanging to a Portland company is also expected, having left Oakland at about the same time. Both machines are scheduled to stop here for gasoline and oil. Mechanics carrying spare parts left Oakland several days ago by auto, and arrived in this city late this afternoon and will remain until the planes arrive. They went out to the field at a late hour to mark it so that there will be no difficulty in locating the landing place.

Mrs. C. S. Henline left this afternoon for Portland where she will spend a week or ten days receiving medical treatments.

Brakeman Hevingham, who was recentlyarrested on a statutory charge, was released from custody today after bonds in the sum of $1000 were furnished.

DELEGATES EACH GET HALF A VOTE

R. R. Turner and J. L. Schuyleman Will Divide the Honors.

READ IS DENIED SEAT

Wilson Followers Tighten Their Grip on the Democratic Convention at San Francisco—McAdoo Headquarters.

By Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Delegate R. R. Turner, from Roseburg, Oregon, whose seat was hotly contested by John L. Schuylman, of Portland, on the ground that the latter had the backing of over ten thousand democrats in the state wide primaries, while Turner had only the state committee, must, according to a decision of the credentials committee's decision this morning, share the honors with Schuylman, and each of the gentlemen will be allowed a half vote in the convention decisions.

In the first round for recognition for his claim, Sshuylman was ruled out of order by the chairman, but refusing to be barred from the convention the Portland man pressed his claim and in the end was rewarded by being given a half vote. Turner being entitled to the other half. One of the main reasons that Schuylman's claim was looked upon with disfavor, it is believed, is that at one time he was affiliated with the socialist party in Oregon, but his claim that he voted for Mr. Wilson apparently proved the winning card, and so Mr. Turner, who is an incumbent of the United States Land Office at Roseburg, and an appointee of the President, was compelled to divide the mantle with the Portland man. Mr. Turner was chosen secretary of the delegation.

The administration supporters had their hold on the national convention considerably strengthened today through a series of victories in the credentials committee, which decided three hotly fought contests. One of these was the denial of a seat in the convention to Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri. Clark and Howell, delegates from Georgia, favorable to Palmer's candidacy, were also seated. The national committee was, however, overruled in the Turner decision, the Roseburg man having been given a seat previously.

Conference Headquarters.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29—Such headquarters as McAdoo will have during the democratic national convention were opened here today. The offices consist of three rooms, which were rented by personal friends of McAdoo, and will be used solely for conferences.

PLAY IS POSTPONED.

The old time play, "Among the Breakers," which was to have been repeated by the former members of the Wilbur academy, on July 16th, has been postponed according to word which reached this city today, and the date for its presentation will be set later. The drama was to be repeaed at the request of of the Wilbur school board, the proceeds to be used to purchase seats for the new school building. The postponement was necessary owing to the fact that several of the members of the cast could not be present.

PRICES LOWER

Cattle quotations are unchanged from yesterday. Hogs are firm, prime mixed lots commanding 15 1-2 to 16 cents. Sheep are weaker, lambs bringing only 8 and 9 cents. Butter and eggs are holding up well and steady.

ON FEDERAL GRAND JURY.

Dr. C. H. Bailey, of South Deer Creek, and W. F. Briggs, of Canyonville, have been drawn as members of the federal court jury to meet in Portland on July 6.

New Yorker May Back Chamberlain

PORTLAND, June 29—United States Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, will be put forward at the psychological moment as the democratic presidential candidate, and when his name goes before the democratic national convention this week it will have the almost united support of the New York delegation.

Such is the morsel of "inside" bourbon politics now being brewed at San Francisco, as retailed by John D. Mann, chief deputy United States Marshall, who returned yesterday from New York, where with others and among others, he conferred with Tammany leaders.

"I am violating no confidence when I say that the Tammany leaders, and by that I mean the New York delegation are strong for Senator Chamberlain, and will make a determined effort to bring about his nomination," quoth Mr. Mann.

"Several of the biggest Tammany leaders told me they would vote for Smith on the first few ballots and would then be ready to switch for Chamberlain. They said they would make a determined effort to bring about a coalition having Chamberlain as the presidential candidate and Smith for vice president.

"Senator Chamberlain, I learned, is mighty strong throughout New York state. The people there admire his record as chairman of the senate committee on military affairs, and they believe he would be a logical candidate for the democratic presidential nomination.

"Frankly I would not be at all surprised to hear of a sudden change for Senator Chamberlain, and if the plans of the New York delegation are carried out as outlined to me just before the delegation left for San Francisco, the nomination of the Oregon senator as the democratic standard bearer is not only possible, but highly probable."

BRYAN'S TREATY PLANK.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 28—Ratification of the treaty of Versailles with such reservations as a senate majority approves is proposed in the plank of William Jennings Bryan, dealing with the treaty and the league of nations.

TO TEST AERIAL MAIL ROUTE PLAN

Planes to Leave Portland This Week With Invitations to Attend Buyers Week.

FIELDS ARE PREPARED

Many Cities of State in Anticipation of Mail Service, Are Preparing Landing Fields—Plan is to Be Enlarged.

The first organized attempt to use airplanes in Oregon for the distribution of mail will be inaugurated this week, beginning Saturday, July 3rd, when a fleet of airplanes will leave Portland carrying huge bundles of invitations to the merchants of the state to participate in buyers' week, August 9th to 14th inclusive.

The aviators of the Oregon, Washington & Idaho Airplane company will fly to various cities in the state with packages of mail for delivery to the postmasters of the cities, who will see to it that the letters addressed to the merchants of their section receive prompt delivery.

The plan is expected to be a thorough test of the proposition which has been advanced that a regular mail service from Portland to the cities of the state be inaugurated under governmental auspices. Already several Oregon cities have arranged to prepare suitable landing fields for the mail airplanes. The idea will be enlarged upon from time to time, but the present plan calls for a service from San Francisco, Sacramento and other California cities to the cities of southern Oregon and the Willamette valley to Portland, where the mail will again be distributed for Oregon coast points, eastern and central Oregon, and for the Puget Sound region.

The use of airplanes for the distribution of the invitations to the merchants of the state to participate in buyers' week, simply will be a test of the general plan. Buyers' week, as conducted in Portland, is now a nationally recognized institution. The plan to concentrate the buyers of the Pacific coast in Portland during the week of August 9-14 was begun eight years ago. It has proved to be an economical method of buying for the merchants of the Pacific coast, and each year has grown so that this year it is expected that at least 152 Portland jobbers and manufacturers will act as hosts to their guests.

Buyers' week is not entirely a business proposition. The buyers and the jobbers meet on social grounds. They become personally acquainted; the problems of manufacturing and marketing are discussed to the mutual advantage of the seller and the merchant, and as a result many of the problems of building up a bigger and a better Pacific coast are nearing solution.

During buyers' week many forms of entertainment are provided. This year there will be a "high jinks" for the men, theater parties for the ladies, lunches, excursions to various sections of the city, sightseeing trips to points of interest about Portland, the entertainment program concluding with a banquet in honor of the visitors.

"TEN-SHUN LEGION MEN

A special call has been issued by the officers of Umpqua post of the American Legion for a rip-rousing meeting to be held tonight in the G. A. R. rooms of the armory. A big attendance is desired owing to the fact that a great deal of important business is to be attendede to. Every Legion member should be there tonight, in fact, must be there. The all absorbing question to be discussed is whether or not Roseburg is ever going to have any form of athletics. Come out and voice your opinion and help Umpqua post instill a little more pep into the lifeless activities in this "neck of the woods."

S. C. Bartrum Leaves For Big Convention

S. C. Bartrum, of the American Central Life Insurance Company, accompanied by Mrs. Bartrum, leave tonight for the east. They expect to spend a week in Chicago, which is the old home of Mr. Bartrum, they then will go on to Indianapolis to attend the big life insurance convention of which Mr. Bartrum is a member.

Since associating himself with the American Life Insurance Co. Mr. Bartrum has made a remarkable record. He first won membership in the 1920 $100,000 club by writing $159,000 insurance between Feb. 15 and April 30, and he has won membership in the 1921 $100,000 club since May 1. Mr. Bartrum will probably be the only one in attendance at this convention who has already won the 1921 club.

In appreciation of the efforts of Mr. Bartrum the Portland headquarters of the insurance company which he represents has presented him with a beautiful gold watch to be worn to the convention, and in commenting on the matter the Portland office remarks that "there is not likely to be another 1921 watch in the entire club of something like a hundred star producers, which is some record in any man's game."

While in Chicago Mr. Bartrum expects to take in the Elks' convention which is held in that city this year. They expect to be gone a month.

CLEMENCY FOR PRISONER SOUGHT

Extenuating Circumstances to Be Pleaded In Unique Criminal Case.

AUTOMOBILE IS STOLEN

Father Steals Car at Redding In Order Take Daughter to Place Where He Can Provide For Her Properly.

On fake armistice day, 1918, Sheriff George Quine and W. A. Glover, of the U. S. secret service, were on their way to Roseburg from Sutherlin when they met a man and a girl on the highway walking into the city. Both seemed tired and the sheriff stopped his car and gave them a ride to Roseburg. As soon as they reached here the hikers did not stop but started out on foot again. Their action in failing to halt for a rest and their apparent innocence of any crime caused considerable discussion among the officers who became quiite interested in the case.

Today Sheriff Quine received a letter asking him if he remembered the incident. It appears that the man was the father of the girl and with practically no means they left for the southern part of California where the man had relatives. Reaching Redding they were footsore, almost exhausted and penniless. Distraught and worried the man finally stole an automobile in which to take his daughter to the plaice he could find relief for her. He reached his destination and after almost a year he was placed under arrest for stealing the auto and was given a long sentence to San Quentin.

His good behavior during the few months he has been in prison. The circumstances surrounding the crime and the conduct of the man after reaching the home of his relatives, and the prosecuting officers of Shasta county to intercede in his behalf, and they are now gathering evidence to show the dire necessity of the father and daughter and the partially extenuating circumstances incident with the commission of the crime.

Sheriff Quine has been asked to give particulars concerning his finding them on the road and their condition at tha time. The case is well remembered because of the discussion it brought forth at that time.

The man and girl when in Roseburg evidenced great fatigue, and were plainly not of a criminal class. They made no statement to the officers and were at a loss to explain their hurry. Sheriff Quine will immediately give the California officials such information as he is able to provide, and when all of the evidence has been obtained, clemency for the prisoner will be requested, according to the letter received by the local sheriff
