WETS AND DRYS CLASH

Will Take Prohibition Cause Floor of Convention—Moist Plank Appears to be Very Probable

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The democratic national convention assembled at 11:15 this morning to hear the candidates for nomination. Chairman Woodrow Wilson endeavored to get down to business immediately, but the Cox delegation insisted on having a denunciation of the prohibition cause on the floor of the convention. The motion was carried, and the floor was given to the prohibitionists. The debate was a clash between the wets and the drys. The wets argued that prohibition was a failure and that the people should be allowed to drink. The drys argued that prohibition was necessary for the health and safety of the nation. The debate continued until late in the morning.

McAdoo Knows About It

(By Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, June 30.—This news was taken with my entire approval, said Woodrow Wilson, when that "definite and final instruction" had been received at San Francisco that has name was not to be placed before the democratic national convention. Mr. McAdoo's name was not to be placed before the democratic national convention.

Floods of Oratory

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—In order to save time the nomination of presidential candidates was decided upon while the various committees behind closed doors wrestled with the weighty problem of drafting a platform that would be acceptable to all elements of the democratic party. The convention, by a rule approved yesterday, listened to nominating speeches made in advance of the reports from the state committees. Beginning at 10 o'clock before noon floods of oratory were turned loose as the delegates of favorite sons of the democracy were held up to admiring gazes, and this part of the program is expected to continue through most of the afternoon.

Report Not Ready

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The full platform committee assembled at 11 o'clock this morning. Senator Glass reported that the sub-committee was not ready to report so a recess was taken until tonight. The sub-committee went into session with its members divided as to whether it will be able to report at the hour fixed.

Platform Tomorrow

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—The democratic national platform was adopted this morning to still be in embryonic state, but the committee hoped to evolve a lucid and comprehensive document to present to the convention tomorrow. Although the major planks have been decided upon, most of the details and minor problems remained unsettled this forenoon when the sub-committee of nine reconvened to resume their work. The platform of nations and the wet and dry planks are the big barriers to a final agreement that is hoped by the leaders will be so constructed as to satisfy the far-flung wings of the party in the coming election.

Self Control and Respect For Laws

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, June 30.—The republican presidential campaign will be based on "an appeal to restore party government as a constitutional substitute for the personal government." Senator Harding announced today, after a conference with Calvin Coolidge, vice presidential nominee, and national chairman Will Hays. At the same time a statement, declared that there must be a "return of public opinion toward self control by the people toward the great and overmastering desire to observe the law."

SUGAR PRICE SLUMPS

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—All sugar allotments placed on sale here today were quoted at $22.75 per hundredweight, at refiners' price. This is a drop of 25 cents since yesterday.

12 YEAR OLD LAD NEARLY LOSES LIFE

Raymond Hunsaker Son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hunsaker Almost Drowned.

CAUGHT BY CURRENT

Small Girl Makes Desperate Effort to Save Playmate, but is Forced Back—Was Under Water for Ten Minutes.

Raymond Hunsaker, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hunsaker, 612 South Pine street, narrowly escaped death yesterday when he was drawn down by an undercurrent at the swimming hole near the old Alexander bridge, and was resuscitated only after 15 minutes of hard work on the part of his rescuers. He was in wading at the time and stepped into deep water. Being unable to swim, he floundered helplessly in the water, barely able to touch bottom. He strove to return to shallow water but was unable to do so. He was slowly drawn out into the deep hole. Louise Yokum, who was also wading, and who is about the same age, rushed out to his assistance, but was unable to aid him and was forced back, regaining shallow water with a great deal of difficulty. Miss Yokum also suffered severe effects from the experience and will be under the care of a physician for several days. She deserves a great deal of credit for her quickness and attempt to rescue the drowning lad. Mrs. Hunsaker was on the bank and was unable to get out to her boy before he had gone down. She screamed for help, her cries being heard by A. J. Davis and Richard Klemm, residents of Alexander park, who immediately rushed to the river. Frank Hewitt and A. Spaulinger, who were also attracted by the cries, had procured a boat and Mr. Klemm, who is an expert swimmer and diver, went to the bow of the craft. A few strokes brought the boat to the place where the boy was last seen and as the water was perfectly clear his body could be seen lying on the bottom in about seven feet of water. Mr. Klemm dove and brought up the limp form and after getting to the shore immediately applied resuscitation methods. An emergency call was sent in for Drs. Sether and Stewart but before their arrival the boy began showing signs of life. He had been under water for about ten minutes, and had he remained for a minute longer his life would probably have been lost, the doctors state. The promptness of the residents of Umpqua Park addition in responding to Mrs. Hunsaker's call for help and the quickness with which the body was found undoubtedly resulted in the saving of the boy's life. The doctors upon their arrival administered stimulants to restore heart action and today the lad is very weak and ill, but his condition is not in any way serious.

Bryan in Fighting Togs

(By Associated Press.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 30.—Wm. J. Bryan, apparently in a fighting mood, speaking at a breakfast gathering early this morning, expressed his dissatisfaction with the wet and dry situation facing the resolution committee. Bryan stated that he expected to start a fight on the convention floor, and hoped to "gain the distinction of revising the platform. It takes only one man to bring in a minority report," he added, "and there is that one man on the resolutions committee. I came as a delegate from the great state of Nebraska to take this case before the thousands of other delegates assembled here, and let them answer personally. I came here to do what I can for the people, and not to see what I can get the people to do for me. If I can help this world to banish war, and if I can do that, no office, no presidency can offer honors that will be mine." On the roll call of states, Alabama passed, Arizona yielded to Oklahoma, and Senator Owen's name was placed in nomination.

Bandits Make Haul Of Marine Payroll

(By Associated Press.)
AUGUSTA, June 30.—An express car on the Charleston and Western Carolina railroad is reported to have been robbed at a point a few miles from this city early today. Bandits bound and gagged the express messenger and the armed guard accompanying the car, and then made away with $59,000, constituting the payroll for the Marines at the Paris Island, South Carolina, station.

APPEAL HEARING SET

The appeal in the Riddle road case will be heard at Salem on Tuesday, July 6, according to word received in this city today. The case was set for hearing before the briefs were filed, which is a very unusual occurrence. However, the highway commission is endeavoring to hurry the case as rapidly as possible in order that the policy regarding the highway may be decided. Riddle recently enjoined the commission from improving the cut-off route which goes by way of Myrtle Creek and Canyonville, eliminating Riddle. The circuit court decided in favor of Riddle and an appeal was taken to the supreme court.

Delegations to Pass Thru City

Roseburg is to be visited by a number of distinguished personages during the next few days. The entire New York delegation to the democratic national convention will pass through Roseburg as soon as the convention is completed. Other notables will be John D. Rockefeller who will go through the city on July 8th in a special car on train No. 16; Hon. J. E. Davis and party, who will return from the convention on July 3rd on train No. 16; W. E. Kelly and party on train 54 July 3; delegations from Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New Jersey. On number 54 on the night of July 10, the national parks appropriation committee of the house of representatives will arrive in this city. They are making the trip into Crater Lake Park in order to inspect the park and to plan on future preparations.

Newlyweds Forget To Check Trunk

Guy Griffith and Julia Bloomberg, both well known residents of this city, were united in marriage this morning at the parsonage of the Christian church, with Rev. C. H. Hilton reading the service. The simple ring ceremony was used. Only the immediate family of the bride and groom and a few close friends were present. Although they had declared their intention of leaving for their honeymoon on the 9 o'clock train from this city, they gave their friends the slip and motored to Green, catching the train from there. Mr. Griffith being somewhat excited, as all groom are supposed to be, and forgetting to check their trunk, which is now at the depot in this city, while Mr. and Mrs. Griffith are speeding on their way to California. They will return to this city within a few weeks and leave at once for Eugene, where Mr. Griffith, who is employed as fireman by the Southern Pacific, has secured a run, and where they will make their home.

NOMINATIONS MADE THIS AFTERNOON

Senator Owen of Oklahoma Was First Man Placed Before Convention.

DEMONSTRATION NOISY

Nominator Says Oklahoma Man Will Appeal to the Millions of Women Voters in the U. S.—Also Supports Wilson.

By Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29.—Described as a man whose record will appeal to the women voters, the business interests the farmers, the laboring men, and to all lovers of popular government, Senator Robert L. Owen, of Oklahoma, was placed in nomination today before the Democratic National Convention. "We offer you a man," he said, "who in three great campaigns has shown himself capable of attracting the support of progressive men and women who are not affiliated with the democratic party. "We present you a candidate who will appeal with extraordinary power to the eighteen million women voters in the United States. Who when all other candidates were silent, indifferent or opposed to woman suffrage, was their valiant champion and the chosen leader of the woman suffrage forces in his state. We present you a man who has always been for those things which women deeply desire. If there be a man in America who is entitled to the support of the women of America, that man is Senator Owen. "We present you a man that has proven beyond doubt his attachment and fidelity to sound principles of government, and who has for years strenuously and successfully labored to promote the peace, happiness and prosperity of our people by making our government, and all of its agencies, truly responsive to the people's will. "We present you a man who has been a faithful leader and supporter of the great legislative program of democracy. Senator Owen has supported every democratic policy, every progressive act and every war measure. His speeches in support of the peace treaty of our great president, Woodrow Wilson, were unsurpassed in the senate chamber. "We present you a man acceptable to the farmers of our land. The farmers knew he put through the senate the great farm loan act giving the farmers access to money on long time. He worked for the good roads act for the agriculture extension act, for the extension of the parcel post, the rural routes and the postal savings bank. "We present you a well known friend of labor, whom the working men would strongly support. His authorship of the child labor law and active support of all progressive labor legislation shows his intelligent appreciation of the problems of la-

The first annual apple and pear grade and pack conference of Oregon fruit growers was held under the auspices of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association at Salem, June 28, 1920. Fifty delegates, representing the various apple and pear communities of western and southern Oregon, were present. The morning session adjourned, leaving the details to two committees; the apple committee consisting of Messrs. Charles Park, of Salem; Alfred Carpenter, of Medford; B. W. Johnson, of Monroe; O. L. Fish, of Salem; W. S. Brown, of Corvallis, and Kenneth Miller, of Sheridan. The pear committee consisted of Messrs. Howard Hill, of Medford; Fred Mahan, of Roseburg; C. E. Schuster, of Corvallis, and Earl Pearcey, of Forest Grove. The rules finally adopted were very largely those that were recently adopted by the state of Washington, only minor changes being made. A booklet will be issued in the near future, for all apple and pear growers of the association, giving them the rules for packing and grading for this year's crop. The conference passed a resolution in favor of having all apple boxes, in the future, to have the same thickness of materials. A similar resolution was also passed for pear boxes. It was also moved in the future to make every attempt to standardize the markings and labels on the boxes so that the packages of Oregon fruit may make the best appearance possible. Nearly every year some eastern fruit handlers or government officials introduce bills or resolutions in congress favoring a change in dimensions of the western apple box. The packing conference at Salem went on record as opposed to such action. They moved that it was the sense of the conference that the fruit growers are opposed to any changes being made in the dimensions or contents of the apple box, unless such changes have been initiated by western fruit growers. In addition to fifty Oregon apple and pear growers present, Mr. M. L. Dean, commissioner of horticulture of the state of Washington, was present, made a fine address and gave valuable advice to the conference. Mr. W. H. Hamlin, a fruit grower of Underwood, Washington, who has recently toured the east, was present and gave the conference the impression of his recent trip. He urged much greater care upon the part of Oregon fruit growers in the grading and packing of this year's apple crop. Other visitors were Theo. Albert, district horticultural inspector, of Chehalis, Washington, and I. R. Fletcher, district horticultural inspector, of Vancouver, Washington. The committee of the Oregon Growers Cooperative association consisted of Messrs. Paulus, Holt and Lewis, have announced that July 15th will be the closing date for prunes, apples and pears in the Umpqua and Willamette valleys for fruit growers who wish to have this year's crop handled by the association. After that date new members for this year's tonnage cannot be accepted. This action is taken in order that the packing and sales departments may devote the rest of their time in handling the tonnage of members. For a number of months several eastern trade papers have continually referred to a difference in the prices between California and Oregon prunes; this difference amounts to several cents a pound, and has been attributed to the scarcity and high price of sugar. Continual hammering on this point is proving harmful to the Oregon prune industry, and is causing buyers and the consuming public to discriminate against our fruit. The Oregon Growers Cooperative association, through its agents in the east, has taken the matter up with these publications and they are now discontinuing this propaganda.
