

HARDING CALLS FOR COX TO ELUCIDATE

Wants to Know Where Democracy Stands On Campaign Issues.

WILSON IS REAL FORCE

"Splendid Accord," It is Alleged, Means That President Holds the Whip Hand Over Cox—Irish Bomb British Soldiers.

(By Associated Press.)
MARION, O., July 19.—Pressing his fight against the "splendid accord" established yesterday between President Wilson and Governor Cox, democratic nominee for the presidency, Senator Harding, republican nominee for the presidential job, declared in a statement today that the triumph of the democratic ticket this coming November would mean nothing less than a "continuation of the foreign policy which has so grievously disappointed both Europe and America." Harding's statement alleges that "the significance of the announcement of accord will not be missed. There is just one way that one can establish accord between himself and the president—that is by yielding his own opinion at every point to that of the president. When the nominee establishes accord with the president, it means that the latter is in charge of the campaign and will be the real force of the next administration, if it is democratic."

Lt. Ayres Flies Late at Night

Lieutenant Ayres, who is piloting the JN4 plane in this city and making passenger flights, was kept very busy all day yesterday and up to nearly 9 o'clock last night. His ship was buzzing overhead constantly and only one minor accident occurred yesterday afternoon to mar the event. He had taxied his machine to the north end of the field when a gust of wind suddenly caught the wings and threw him into the fence. No damage was done however, and within five minutes he was in the air and was circling the field with Ray Ward in the forward cockpit of the machine. The night flight made last night was a beautiful sight. He left the field just at dusk, and stayed in the air until the lights of the city had been turned on. Lieut. Ayres is contemplating making his headquarters in Roseburg, and it is very possible that his plane will be stationed here permanently. He will probably leave within a short time for Redmond and Gardner, where he will engage in commercial flights for a few days.

Hanks Prune Trees Loaded With Fruit

Lewis Hanks, of Canyonville, was in town this morning, and brought along several samples of Italian and Petite prunes grown on his place near that town. Two clusters of Italians were taken from mature trees, there being nine acres in the old orchard. With the exception of probably a dozen trees in that tract, all of them are loaded with fruit. One cluster from a tree in a six-year-old orchard is good to look at, and demonstrates what a young tree can do if cared for. The cluster of Petites is also a mighty good thing for a man with a grouch to look at, as it shows what can be accomplished in the fruit industry in the Umpqua valley.

ROSEBURG WELL ADVERTISED

On the Blue Book road map, a copy of which has been received by the Hotel Umpqua, Roseburg is given a great deal of favorable publicity. Over 5,000 of these maps have been distributed throughout the northwest and are now being displayed in prominent places. ## Berry Grower Has Fine Place

Mr. A. A. Piper has a reputation of growing fine berries on his place a mile out on the Days Creek road, says the Myrtle Creek Mail. The Mail reporter was out looking over Mr. Piper's farm recently and was quite interested in what he saw growing on the place. Mr. Piper has a large patch of berries which he propagated himself. This berry is a cross between the wild blackberry and the wild black cap berry. It resembles the mammoth blackberry in appearance but has a much finer flavor. He has produced some very fine strawberries from seedlings. One variety is evidently a money-maker, since the writer was informed that from three acres for home use, Mr. Piper picked and sold berries to the value of $2.35. He also has a very fine prune orchard on his place consisting of five year old French prune trees. These trees are set twenty feet apart each way, yet the tips of the overhanging limbs of many of the trees touch one another, and some of the bodies of the trees are more than six inches in diameter, and speaking of prunes Mr. Piper has produced a prune that may become of great commercial value. It is a cross between the Italian and the French, which while showing all the earmarks of an Italian in size and color, has the flavor of the French prune.
