

ROSEBURG NEWS-REVIEW
Issued Daily Except Sunday.

B. W. BATES, WIMBERLY, BERT C. BATES

SUBSCRIPTION RATES
Daily, per year, by mail $4.00
Daily, six months, by mail 2.00
By Carrier, per month 40

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

Entered as second-class matter May 17, 1926, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Roseburg, Oregon, July 26, 1926.

PLANTS ARE ALL IN FINE SHAPE

J. O. Holt of Oregon Growers Cooperative Association Completes Inspection.

PRUNES LOOK GOOD

Holt Says That Drop is Needed in Order to Increase Size and Quality, So That Growers May Obtain High Prices.

EUGENE, July 26.—Manager J. O. Holt, of the Eugene Fruit Growers association, returned last night from a tour of inspection among all the plants of the Oregon Growers' Cooperative association, of which he is manager. He found them all in good condition. The new plant which has been under construction at Dallas for several months past is now about completed and when ready for operation it will be the largest prune packing plant in the state outside of Portland.

The association now has a string of fourteen plants through the Willamette valley and in southern Oregon, all of them being comparatively new with the exception of the one at Medford. Two of these packing plants have canneries in connection. In addition to this list the association will hold six other plants under lease. This places this organization at the head of all the industries in Oregon in the magnitude of operations, the number of employees and amount of capital involved.

STOP ITCHING ECZEMA

Penetrating, Antiseptic Zemo Will Help You
Never mind how often you have tried and failed, you can stop itching eczema quickly by applying Zemo. Furnished by any druggist for 35c. Extra large bottle, $1.00. Healing begins the moment Zemo is applied. In a short time usually every trace of eczema, tetter, pimples, rash, blackheads and similar skin diseases will be removed.

The E. W. Rose Co., Cleveland, O.

LOVE and MARRIED LIFE

by the noted author
Idah McGlone Gibson

ELIZABETH MORELAND DROPS IN

"Hello, there folks," said an unexpected voice, and we all turned from examining the house to face Elizabeth Moreland.
"We didn't hear you come in," said John rather nervously.
"I stopped to admire your beautiful home, Katherine, or as much of it as I could admire below the stairs. You see, John has never invited me here."
"Now Bess, interrupted John hastily."
"She would not let him go on and saw by this that even as clever a woman as Elizabeth Moreland might make mistakes."
"You see, Katherine," she said "telling me, I knew that John had not brought you here to bring you across the threshold of your new home before he invited any other woman to matter how old and intimate the friendship was between them."
"John's face was purple. I felt very sorry for him, as I knew instinctively that Elizabeth Moreland had banked upon the supposition that John would not tell me that she and John had been here, and she had put the idea in so strong a way that John had no way of showing that she had deliberately lied."
"It was all that I could do to keep from saying that John had explained the last time she was here with him how beautiful my old Colonial dining room set would fit in the downstairs dining room. But I refrained, and in refraining threw a few bouquets myself. I knew that John would tell Elizabeth what she had done in words much stronger than I could better language than I could myself."
"Isn't the whole house beautiful," went on Elizabeth blissfully unconscious of what she had started for herself. "Did you ever notice what an exquisite view one has from this window?"
"What is the matter, Katherine? What has gone wrong?" whispered Alice who is quick to notice if anything goes wrong.
"I looked up to find that Tom and John had followed Elizabeth into the other room."
"Nothing," I answered smiling.

Beautiful Night Flight Is Seen

With his wing tips flashing gold in the mellow moonlight, Lieutenant Ayres treated Roseburg to one of the prettiest exhibitions of night flying ever witnessed in this city upon his return from Salem Saturday. It was dark when he reached the city from Salem, after attending the Elks convention. The moon was shining bright and it was only by its light that the plane could be seen. Lieutenant Ayres carried Vivan Jackson, of the Drager company, with him as a passenger and reached the city at an elevation of over 8000 feet. The roaring of the motor could be plainly heard, but the plane itself was not visible for some time on account of darkness. Then at last he was seen directly above the city, just a mere speck in the night sky. The under part of his plane was painted black, while the upper part was yellow and in the moonlight reflected a beautiful golden color which made so attractive the scene which followed.

Old Battleship To Become Target

WASHINGTON, July 26.—The once famous battleship Iowa, which played no small part in the destruction of Cerver's fleet at Santiago and was prepared at a Philadelphia navy yard for what is considered by naval officers to be one of the most important target experiments ever attempted.

"except that Elizabeth has been here not only once, but many times before and has probably helped John to plan the furnishing of this house and has called this afternoon for the express purpose of impressing those plans on me."
"The little hypocrite," said Alice. "I would like to wring her neck."
"I won't do it dear. She is hanging herself, drawing the noose about her throat each day, though just at the present, I think John would be quite pleased to strangle her as would you. Did you notice how he tried to interrupt her when she was lying so plausibly. But she, strong in her belief of her own cleverness and knowledge of men and women would not let him do so."
"I looked at my wrist watch and found that I must go to the hotel immediately to my baby."
"John," I called, "is the chauffeur downstairs? If so, I will go back to Mary for a little while. It is time for feeding."
"I suppose Katherine," said Tom, "that you are bringing her up under the latest scientific rules as do all young mothers now?"
"I am trying to," I answered. "So far, I have not deviated one iota from the regime that Miss Parker has outlined for her and she is thriving wonderfully. And, besides, you see, it gives me more time to myself."
"Yes, we are learning things," said Alice. "The old fashioned mother killed more children than the baby, and kindness and in her blind devotion and the mistaken idea of mother love, she has made more men think that a woman must give up her entire time to the foolish pampering of her childish moods."
"Well, I don't believe that I could be strong enough to deny my baby anything I wanted," said Elizabeth as she raised her eyes plaintively to Tom and John. "A baby is so sweet, so appealing, so helpless, so unable to make its little wants known that I feel that I should always be trying to give it anything that I could find out it wanted."
"Then you would be a bigger fool than I thought you could be. Come on Katherine, Tom and Alice can take Bess home, or else wait until we come back."

"I suppose Katherine," said Tom, "that you are bringing her up under the latest scientific rules as do all young mothers now?"
"I am trying to," I answered. "So far, I have not deviated one iota from the regime that Miss Parker has outlined for her and she is thriving wonderfully. And, besides, you see, it gives me more time to myself."
"Yes, we are learning things," said Alice. "The old fashioned mother killed more children than the baby, and kindness and in her blind devotion and the mistaken idea of mother love, she has made more men think that a woman must give up her entire time to the foolish pampering of her childish moods."
"Well, I don't believe that I could be strong enough to deny my baby anything I wanted," said Elizabeth as she raised her eyes plaintively to Tom and John. "A baby is so sweet, so appealing, so helpless, so unable to make its little wants known that I feel that I should always be trying to give it anything that I could find out it wanted."
"Then you would be a bigger fool than I thought you could be. Come on Katherine, Tom and Alice can take Bess home, or else wait until we come back."

"I suppose Katherine," said Tom, "that you are bringing her up under the latest scientific rules as do all young mothers now?"
"I am trying to," I answered. "So far, I have not deviated one iota from the regime that Miss Parker has outlined for her and she is thriving wonderfully. And, besides, you see, it gives me more time to myself."
"Yes, we are learning things," said Alice. "The old fashioned mother killed more children than the baby, and kindness and in her blind devotion and the mistaken idea of mother love, she has made more men think that a woman must give up her entire time to the foolish pampering of her childish moods."
"Well, I don't believe that I could be strong enough to deny my baby anything I wanted," said Elizabeth as she raised her eyes plaintively to Tom and John. "A baby is so sweet, so appealing, so helpless, so unable to make its little wants known that I feel that I should always be trying to give it anything that I could find out it wanted."
"Then you would be a bigger fool than I thought you could be. Come on Katherine, Tom and Alice can take Bess home, or else wait until we come back."

"I suppose Katherine," said Tom, "that you are bringing her up under the latest scientific rules as do all young mothers now?"
"I am trying to," I answered. "So far, I have not deviated one iota from the regime that Miss Parker has outlined for her and she is thriving wonderfully. And, besides, you see, it gives me more time to myself."
"Yes, we are learning things," said Alice. "The old fashioned mother killed more children than the baby, and kindness and in her blind devotion and the mistaken idea of mother love, she has made more men think that a woman must give up her entire time to the foolish pampering of her childish moods."
"Well, I don't believe that I could be strong enough to deny my baby anything I wanted," said Elizabeth as she raised her eyes plaintively to Tom and John. "A baby is so sweet, so appealing, so helpless, so unable to make its little wants known that I feel that I should always be trying to give it anything that I could find out it wanted."
"Then you would be a bigger fool than I thought you could be. Come on Katherine, Tom and Alice can take Bess home, or else wait until we come back."

"Good" Old Red Eye Brings $14 a Bottle

SALEM, Ore., July 24.—At the request of the Salem lodge of Elks, a conference of citizens, lodgemen and officers was held in the offices of the governor here today to take action toward thwarting the actions and activities of bootleggers because of the Elks convention.
Sheriff Needham and Chief of Police Welch were at the conference and agreed to go the limit in suppressing the local liquor traffic, and later in the day the sheriff and the chief of police raided a number of concealments.
Because of the large amount of liquor sold here by bootleggers during the convention, the Elks let it be known tonight that plans would be outlined in the near future whereby excessive drinking at the next state convention of the order will be curbed.
Local police officers said tonight that no blame could be attached to the Salem Elks lodge as practically all the liquor was brought here by bootleggers. Prior to the convention Marion county moonshine sold at $8 a quart, but as the demand increased the price advanced to $14 a quart.
Chautauqua lecturers last night abandoned their set subjects and spent their time in flying the officers for alleged laxness in the enforcement of the liquor laws.

LAND IS SURVEYED

Notice is hereby given that the following land has been surveyed, to-wit:
Sections 1 to 4 inclusive, sections 10 to 16 inclusive, sections 29 to 36 inclusive in township 22 south, Range 1 East, Willamette Meridian, and the plat of survey will be filed in the office at 9 o'clock, a. m. on August 25th, 1926, and on after said date applications for unappropriated lands there in may be filed.
As the above described land is in the Siskiyou National Forest, applications cannot be received except from actual settlers who made settlement prior to the creation of the forest reserve, September 28, 1892.
W. H. CANON, Register
R. R. TURNER, Receiver.

WHEN YOU LEAVE TOWN

this summer it's a good move to have the News-Review follow you to your vacation home. Let us mail it to you daily—just phone 135 or write our subscription department and we'll see that it comes to you regularly.

CITY NEWS

Arundel, piano tuner, phone 1891
Fires destroy lives, property and food. Be careful with fire.
We wash and polish cars at Merlen's garage.
Paul Lambert, of Klamath Falls, was a Roseburg visitor today.
Insure against loss—equip your tractors so they won't set fires.
We pay the highest price for Casaca bark. Borgor's Bargain Store.
Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Muller, of Glendale, were among the guests at the Umpqua hotel last night.
WATKINS products, 226 W. Lane, Phone 137-L.
E. L. Bashford is here from Portland looking after his flouring mill interests in this city.
Stop and reflect—great fires from little sparks are spread. Be careful with fires.
Mrs. A. O. Rose, who has been attending a summer school in Eugene, returned here yesterday. She will commence the term this week.

Are You Equipped To Win Success?

Here is your opportunity to insure against misreading errors in spelling, pronunciation and poor choice of words. Know the meaning of puzzling words. Increase your efficiency, which results in power and success.

WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL

DICTIONARY is an all-knowing teacher, a universal question answerer, made to meet your needs. It is in daily use by hundreds of thousands of successful men and women the world over.
499,900 Words, 2700 Pages, 6000 Illustrations, 12,800 Etymological Subjects, 30,000 Geographical Subjects.
GRAND PRIZE (Eligible Award) Pacific-Pacific Exposition.
REGULAR and INDIA-PAPER EDITIONS.
Write for Specimen Pages, or a Free Pocket Map if you issue this paper.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO., Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Ouija Volunteers To Solve Crime

NEW YORK, July 26.—Ouija boards by the score have volunteered to solve the mysterious murder of Joseph Bowen Elwell, turf man card expert and "Don Juan."
Since the body of the gambler was found in his hands me residence here last month, with a bullet thru the forehead, alleged, clues, motives, and revelations of the murder have been gathered from etheral planes by the thousands and dumped upon an admittedly bewildered staff of the District Attorney's office.
All of these occult communications are not discarded. While disclaiming any faith in Ouija's ability as a crime investigator, the District attorney nevertheless admits that he has assigned a man to the special duty of reading occult contributions and to submit to him personally, any conveying apparently useful information. An anonymous communication purporting to be an occult revelation may contain a certain and valuable clue. Mr. Swan believes, his theory being that the criminal might use this method of informing a confederate.
Anonymous communications purporting to reveal prelude, plot and the climax of the crime.
The missing automatic pistol with which Elwell was shot, has been located by Ouija boards or other supernatural means in every part of the Elwell home, from the sitting room in which the murder was committed down to the basement and up to the roof.
Until the murderer is apprehended both the police and District Attorney's staff say that they expect no success from the persistent profanity of occult assistance now being forced upon them.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Sheet Metal Work OF ALL KINDS

J. H. SINNIGER
119 OAK STREET PHONE 428

No Excuse for BARE SPACE

on your walls. Our Sale of FRAMED PICTURES now going on.
Cupids, Madonnas, scenes, old masters, religious, portraits of all kinds, sizes and colors at new going on.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children In Use For Over 30 Years

Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

MRS. F. D. OWEN—Cut Flowers Phone 249, 402 W. Cass.
DR. M. H. PLYLER—Chiropractic Physician, 222 W. Lane St.
DR. R. P. BRADFORD & WIFE—Chiropractors, Phone 40-F4.
DR. CLAIR K. ALLEN—Dentist at 331 Perkins Building, Roseburg, Oregon. Office hours 9 to 12 a. m. 1 to 5 p. m. Phone 61.
Sutherland Sanitarium MEDICAL and SURGICAL Write R. I. HALL, M. D., Supt. Sutherland, Oregon

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

Myrtle Creek Is Pleased With Route

MYRTLE CREEK, Ore., July 24.—There is a general feeling of rejoicing here over the announcement received by the town recorder from the state highway commission stating that the commission has decided to route the Pacific highway through Main street of Myrtle Creek, conditioned upon the paving by the town council of the highway within the corporate limits of the town. This change involves the expenditure of considerable money for paving rights of way and grading on the part of this town, but the citizens will meet the conditions in order to obtain the highway, which they consider of great value and which for a time seemed destined to miss the business section of the town, as the railroad did when built here in 1882.
The route which the highway commission has abandoned for the one leading directly through the business section would have had to pass under the Southern Pacific railroad track at a point where, during extremely high water, it would have been submerged for possibly a day or more at a time. This fact and the strong representations on the part of the Myrtle Creek citizens before the highway commission were the leading factors that led to the new location of this great highway. This change of route will compel the highway commission to build a bridge of considerable length and height over the South Umpqua river, since the structure will have to be high enough to pass over the tracks of the Southern Pacific railroad in order to avoid a grade crossing.
It has been stated that plans have already been drawn for this bridge which, when completed, will show both permanency of workmanship and beauty of design and will be an object worthy of note by the thousands of tourists who will pass through once the Pacific highway is completed.

spread south from the Dillard plant. When this is finished there will be a continuous stretch of paved road from Buckles to Weston, but it is doubtful whether the company will permit travel over this section, as it would interfere with the work at the Buckles paving plant, as the material for the plant comes from the crusher on the opposite side of the river and over the private bridge of the company—Myrtle Creek Mail.

HERE FROM ROSEBURG.

H. Merten, of Roseburg, one of the biggest auto dealers in southern Oregon is here for a few days' visit on business and pleasure.—Coos Bay Times.

CLASSIFIED COLUMN

All Classified Advertisements inserted new today will be found on last page under "New Today" head.

WANTED—Waitress at Cafeteria. Apply at once.

WANTED TO RENT—House. Phone 438-R.

WANTED—Turkeys, large or small. Boyer Bros. Phone 14-F14.

WANTED—Two prune pickers. J. W. Montgomery, Days Creek, Ore.

WANTED—Girl for housework, Apply W. R. Warner, Cafeteria.

WANTED—To buy small house on paved street. Address Box 956, City.

WANTED—Furnished house or apartments. Address C. L. C., care News.

WANTED—Good heavy work team, must weigh 3600 or over and be priced right for cash. T. A., News-Review office.

WANT TO RENT—Medium-sized one-man farm, with accommodations for family, near Roseburg, C. Gustafson, Rt. 1, Milwaukie, Ore.

FOR RENT—Safety deposit boxes Roseburg National Bank.

FOR RENT—Large furnished room close in. Phone 12-Y.

FOR RENT—Sleeping room, $10 per month. 323 E. Oak St.

FOR RENT—Furnished room with bath. 401 South Main street

ASTURE for rent, cows only. Mrs. P. Sinnott, Kinney Addition. Price $2.00 a month.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SAFETY FIRST—Secure a safety deposit box for your valuable papers at the Roseburg National Bank.

WELL DRILLING—Will be drilled at Brockway Aug. 1. Anyone wishing a well see or write W. F. Kern, Sutherland, Ore.

LOST—A dark blue handbag containing two keys, bank book with name in it, and other articles. Finder please return to Jeanette H. Gibbs, Chamber of Commerce office.

Sheet Metal Work OF ALL KINDS

J. H. SINNIGER
119 OAK STREET PHONE 428

No Excuse for BARE SPACE

on your walls. Our Sale of FRAMED PICTURES now going on.
Cupids, Madonnas, scenes, old masters, religious, portraits of all kinds, sizes and colors at new going on.

ROSEBURG MYRTLE POINT MARSHFIELD AUTO STAGE

Leaves Roseburg, daily at 7:00 A. M. Leaves Myrtle Point, daily at 9:30 A. M. Connections at Myrtle Point to and from Marshfield, Coquille, Bandon and Powers. Fare $6.48, including tax. Reservations at main office, 405 Cass St., near depot, Phone 308, or Umpqua and Grand hotels, Rapp's store.

TAYLOR & CLINTON

WELL DRILLING—R. E. Heinemann, driller, R. 1, Roseburg. Phone 3-F.

LOST—Elk's tooth charm with small diamond setting. Will give liberal reward. R. E. Harman, Roseburg, Ore.

TO EXCHANGE FOR HAY—Three lots in Riverside Addition in block 20, lots 1, 2 and 7. See Walker, the real estate man.

MONEY TO LOAN—20-year rural credit farm loans, low interest rate. $20,000/10000 local money to loan on good real estate. First mortgage. See M. F. Rice of Rice & Co.

LOST—Pocketbook containing two $20 bills, one $5 gold piece, duplicate discharge and pictures and other papers. Finder please return to News-Review office or phone 135.

LOST—Velvet handbag containing money, keepakes, an address book, stamps, fountain pen, colored glasses, Red Cross button, post cards, stationery from St. Francis Hotel, Albany, Ore., etc. Was lost in Roseburg or between Oakland and Roseburg. Finder please return to News-Review office or phone 135. Liberal reward.

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE—First class baled oak hay. Phone 1