Fluctuations In Dressed Beef Price

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Unusual fluctuations in the price of dressed beef occurred during the first six months of this year, says a report of the United States Bureau of Markets. Starting with a top price of $21 for good grade beef in January, sharp and erratic price changes marked trading throughout the period, with the low top price of $17 recorded during the last week in May and the high point, $31.00, made on June 23, an increase of $14 a hundred pounds in 30 days. A series of unavoidable events, most of them resulting from abnormal conditions produced by the war, contributed to the phenomenal price trends, the report says. Among the principal disturbing influences described are periodical releases by the War Department of surplus stocks of beef in an effort to reduce living costs, higher stocker and feeder markets, high priced feeds, frustration of producers' efforts to increase cattle production for war needs and anticipated foreign demands, labor troubles, decreased transportation facilities, embargoes, unsettled foreign credit and exchange conditions, decrease in beef exports, financial credit restrictions, declines in prices of hides, tallow and other animal by-products and decreased or spasmodic consumption of meat.

In fact, the report says, every possible economic factor incidental to a period of reconstruction and capable of disturbing market conditions for these products of the farm and range had free and almost unlimited action. Prices of livestock in the Chicago market and those paid for dressed carcasses as taken from New York quotations from 10 days to two weeks after the live cattle transactions also showed wide fluctuations.

tions, the report asserts. The difference of $2.25 per 100 pounds between prices for good beef steers and the corresponding grade of dressed carcasses in January was widened until it stood at $14.50 during the closing days of June. For the same period the difference between the low price of medium steers on the hoof and in the carcass had advanced from $6.25 to $12.75. A comparison of live cattle prices and prices on relative grades of dressed meats on January 2 and June 30 this year with those of corresponding dates last year shows the top price for good beef steers at the beginning of this year at $18.75 and at the end of June as $16.50 with the opening top price on dressed beef from such steers at $21 and the close at $31. On January 2, 1919, live prices for the same grade were up to $17.75 and at the end of six months the top stood at $14.60, a decline of $3.15. Good dressed beef on January 2, last year registered a top of $27 and on June 30 had declined $8 to a top of $19.
